1 (註：由於主席單仲偕議員因事未能出席是次會議，因此是次
2 會議由副主席吳靄儀議員暫代主席一職。)

3
4 主席：

5
6 我們現在開會。由於單仲偕議員一早已通知我們不能出席今次會
7 議，所以我會替他主持今次的會議。

8
9 請各位注意，今天的會議有兩個議程項目，我們會在議程項目I討
10 論條例草案第V部。至於議程項目II，法律顧問在上次會議席上告訴我
11 們，當局採用了一種新方法草擬條例草案的中文本，也就是說，條例
12 草案的中英文本並非完全對照，但當局指兩個文本所傳達的訊息是相
13 同，他們對這做法非常關注。

14
15 我們會在下午12時10分討論議程項目II時，聽取法律草擬科的政府
16 官員向我們解釋有關情況。然後我們會決定如何處理這問題，但未必
17 能夠把問題解決。

18
19 請各位注意，如果我們今天未能把整個第V部討論完畢的話，可以
20 安排另一時間再作討論。今次會議共有4份文件，第一份文件是胡經昌
21 議員致委員會的信件，當中提到對條例草案第V部的意見。第二及第
22 三份文件是委員會剛收到分別由Linklaters及Hong Kong Stockbrokers
23 Association提交的意見書。由於政府當局及委員會未有時間閱覽該兩
24 份意見書的內容，我建議不要強行討論有關問題，應安排另一時間繼
25 續討論有關第V部這些仍未處理的問題。第四份文件是政府當局的回
26 覆，以回應法律顧問就條例草案中文本的草擬方式提出的問題。

27
28 各位同事對我們今次會議的安排有沒有意見？如果各位大致接受
29 的話，我們現請政府進入會議室，向我們簡介條例草案第V部。秘書
30 剛剛提醒我，下次會議其實亦會討論條例草案第V部，所以如果我們

1 今天未有時間閱覽一些意見書，或沒有時間就某些意見書所提出的意
2 見作出回應，我們下星期仍然有機會繼續討論這部分。不過，關於草
3 擬方面的問題，我們必須第一時間瞭解有關情況，所以今天的會議共
4 有兩個議程項目。

5

6 我們歡迎政府當局的代表出席這次會議。由於到了這個階段，彼
7 此也相當熟悉，因此我不再逐一介紹。Welcome everybody and thank
8 you for attending this morning's meeting。副局長，關於政府當局就條
9 例草案第V部提交的文件，請問由哪位同事向我們介紹呢？

11 財經事務局副局長區璟智女士：

12

13 多謝，主席。讓我首先概括簡介這部分，然後請證監會及金管局
14 的同事與各位重點討論今天的課題，即證券期貨市場中介人的規管制
15 度。

16

17 主席：

18

19 法案委員會認為其中一個頗具爭議性的問題是：應由一個規管機
20 構抑或兩個機構進行監察工作？政府當局在附表中作出詳細比較，說
21 明有關情況在日後的處理方法。請你稍後作出介紹時，也講述附表的
22 內容。由於該附表十分詳細列出各項處理方法，與其逐一討論各個項
23 目，請你告訴我們，在哪些情況下對兩者採取不大相同或完全不同的
24 處理方法？這對我們會有莫大的幫助。現請你先行向我們作出簡介。

25

26 財經事務局副局長區璟智女士：

27

28 多謝，主席。新的規管制度主要有數項大原則：第一，我們建議
29 採用單一牌照，以取代現有的多重註冊制度，這做法可以精簡現時的
30 審批程序。中介人再也不必要為他們不同的業務設立不同的法團來申

Bills Committee on

《證券及期貨條例草案》及
《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1 請註冊，我們相信這可以減輕中介人的規管負擔。此外，證監會亦可
2 以為他們提供“一站式”的申請服務。

3
4 第二，在面對市場全球化及資訊科技急速發展的情況下，我們需
5 要不斷提升中介人的服務水平，使其符合國際標準。根據條例草案的
6 規定，中介人需要通過一些持續培訓的要求，並在風險管理及內部監
7 控方面作出適當的安排，目的是希望為投資者提供更優質的服務，藉
8 此吸引更多人士在本港市場進行買賣。這對於推動香港作為國際金融
9 中心及集資中心會有幫助。

10

11 另一個主要大原則是，在新的規管制度下，無論是銀行的證券部
12 或證券行的證券業務，最重要的一點是符合資格的申請者必須有一個
13 公平的機會參與市場。他們本身需要符合“適當人選”的要求，即符合
14 “fit and proper requirements”。

15

16 此外，在諮詢過程及草擬條例草案的過程中，為加深現有的中介
17 人對擬議制度的瞭解，以及為使日後可順利過渡至新制度，證監會與
18 業界已成立多個工作坊，政府及證監會亦會繼續與市場人士保持溝
19 通。我們亦在條例草案中建議訂定一個為期兩年的過渡期，以便有關
20 人士可以熟習新的制度。

21

22 政府亦希望在新的發牌制度中納入一些靈活性的安排，其中包括
23 在第139條中增設一個通過附屬法例的渠道，以便日後市場推出新產品
24 或新服務時，可透過附屬法例將該等產品或服務納入現時建議的規管
25 範疇內。

26

27 正如主席剛才也提到，市場人士十分關注在新的規管制度下，銀
28 行證券部所受到的規管，與證券行所受到的規管日後的安排會如何
29 呢？規管方式與現時的有何分別？由證監會或金管局進行規管，兩者
30 有甚麼不同或相同的地方？簡單來說，關於銀行證券業務的規管，金

1 管局將來會採用證監會的規管標準來執行前線規管者的工作。我們一
2 直強調，其實“豁免”只是一個標籤，銀行如果有意從事證券業務，必
3 須向證監會申請豁免。證監會在考慮銀行提出的申請時，一如考慮其
4 他證券行申請牌照的情況，證監會有權列明銀行在申請獲批准後必須
5 遵守的一些條件。一般來說，該等條件會訂明，證監會為證券行而制
6 訂的規則及守則，將會同樣適用於獲豁免銀行的證券部。這就是我們
7 所指“統一標準，分別監管”的安排。該項安排其實有以下數個主要目
8 標：首先，在不影響投資者所獲得保障的大前提下，避免不必要的規
9 管重疊；此外，為證券業提供一個公平競爭的環境；與此同時，我們
10 希望保留一定程度的靈活性，讓業界可選擇以不同方式經營證券業
11 務。這做法對投資者來說，也是為他們提供一項選擇。

12

13 條例草案第V部訂明，證監會可以倚賴金管局對銀行進行監管。第
14 173條訂明，將證監會日常監管證券行的權力，同時賦予金管局，以便
15 金管局作為一個前線的規管機構，可以對銀行證券部的日常運作進行
16 有效監管。條例草案第124條亦將“負責人員”這概念，由證券行伸延至
17 銀行的證券部。

18

19 關於我剛才所說“統一標準，分別監管”的大原則，其實《2000年
20 銀行業(修訂)條例草案》亦有訂明這項原則。現時，證監會與金管局
21 正草擬一份新的諒解備忘錄，藉此落實我剛才所說的新規管機制。

22

23 我會在稍後邀請我的同事，包括博學德先生和簡達恆先生向各位
24 更詳細講解在單一牌照制度下的受規管範圍、“負責人員”的概念、有
25 關的過渡安排，以及日後證監會和金管局會如何合作。此外，簡達恆
26 先生亦會重點介紹現時銀行從事證券業務所受到的規管，以及在條例
27 草案通過成為法例後，日後對該等銀行的規管安排。

28

29 在出席是次會議前，我們剛剛收到立法會秘書處的傳真文件，這
30 是胡議員提交的意見書。我們的同事在稍後講解條例草案時，會盡可

2 或有需要在會後才作出書面回應，以作補充。

3

4 主席：

5

6 區女士，其實我們今天另外收到由 Linklaters 和 Hong Kong
7 Stockbrokers Association 提交的兩份意見書。委員仍未有時間閱覽該兩
8 份意見書的內容，而我們會在下次會議繼續討論條例草案第 V 部，所
9 以政府無需急於在是次會議席上作出回應，可以留待下次會議再作回
10 應。

11

12 財經事務局副局長區璟智女士：

13

14 好的。

15

16 CHAIRMAN:

17

18 Before I call on Mr PROCTOR and Mr CARSE, I notice that Mr Gilbert MO is 19 there. I think that this has to do with item 2 of our agenda this morning, and we are 20 looking forward to that item at 12:10 pm. I am afraid you will be kept waiting for 21 sometime. I will call upon Mr PROCTOR.

23 Mr Andrew PROCTOR, Executive Director of Intermediaries and Investment
24 Products, Securities and Futures Commission:

25

26 It may be convenient if I take Members to the overview paper in respect of Part V,
27 and directly to paragraph 6, the paragraph headed "The Nine Regulated Activities",
28 and Members will also need to have regard to what is Schedule 6 of the legislation. It
29 is in volume 2 on page C2447. That is the schedule that sets out those activities
30 which are regulated. Those activities for which a licence or a grant of exempt status

Bills Committee on

《證券及期貨條例草案》及

1 is needed before they can be carried on as a business in Hong Kong. There are nine
2 of them. Essentially they are the same activities for which a licence or exempt status
3 would be necessary under the existing law, but with these changes and additions: first
4 of all, there is a new category of providing automated trading services; that is type 7,
5 and that is a category about which Members have heard a good deal in the context of 6 Part III.

8 There is also a breaking-out of the existing category of advising on securities, to 9 recognize that there are different ways in which advice might be given, different types
10 of advice that might call for different types of skill. So, as paragraph 7 of the 11 overview paper describes it, we thought it prudent to break that category of advising on 12 securities out into three sub-categories. They are type 4 in Schedule 6, type 6, which 13 is advising on corporate finance, and type 9, which is asset management. We 14 recognize that those three types of advisory services did call for quite separate and 15 distinct skill, and that in licensing and approving those people who provided those 16 services, we ought to be looking at different requirements in terms of their education
17 and experience qualifications.

19 Otherwise the definitions are, I think it is fair to say, not materially different from 20 those under the existing law, although there is an important change in respect of the 21 definition of collective investment schemes, and this is discussed at the bottom of 22 paragraph 7 of the overview paper. The effect of that change is that any interest in a
23 collective investment scheme would be regarded as a security. At the moment under 24 the existing law, that is true for units in unit trusts and for shares in mutual funds. It
25 is not as clear for other types of interests in other types of collective interest schemes.
26 So what the proposed amendment does is to make that clear, that any interest in a 27 collective investment scheme would be regarded as a security, and it follows in the 28 context of licensing that anyone who advises on those interests or deals in those 29 interests would need to be licensed either as an adviser or a dealer in securities, as the 30 case may be.

《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1
2 Paragraph 8 of the overview paper recites the retention of certain exemptions to
3 the licensing requirement, and I note in particular that it is intended that there be a 4 continuation of the exclusion in respect of incidental advice given by accountants and
5 solicitors, but that should now be extended to counsel at the Bar; and really that 6 recognizes that in their ordinary day-to-day work accountants, solicitors and barristers,
7 for that matter, might give advice which could technically be regarded as advising on 8 securities, but that there is no regulatory benefit to be had from requiring them to be 9 licensed, so long as it remains an incidental part of their business. As to what is 10 incidental, that is a subject upon which the Commission has recently issued some 11 updated guidelines.

13 In broad terms they are the activities for which a licence or exemption would be 14 required. Paragraph 9 then describes the way in which applicants for licence or 15 exemption would be considered. One significant change in respect of the proposals is 16 that for licences, only corporations would be entitled to a licence. At the moment you 17 might be a corporation, you might be a partnership or you might be an individual, and 18 apply for a licence as the principal carrying on one of the regulated activities under the 19 Securities Ordinance or the various other ordinances that have been consolidated; but 20 in future it is intended that only corporations would be eligible.

22 I would note for Members' information that, for example, at the moment there are 23 presently two partnerships in Hong Kong that are licensed. There are a larger number
24 of individuals, but it was particularly in respect of individuals where we saw problems
25 with intestate estates and with difficulties in cases of insolvency, and that caused us to 26 think that it was appropriate for investor protection that in future we would limit
27 licensees to corporations.

28
29 Clauses 115 and 116 of the Bill, which we might come to more detail shortly, set 30 out the tests for licence, and in essence it is a continuing test, but it is continued from

Securities and Futures Bill and Banking (Amendment) Bill 2000
《證券及期貨條例草案》及
《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1 the current law, as to whether the applicant is fit and proper to carry on the regulated
2 activity for which they seek a licence.

3
4 Clause 118, though, in respect of exempt persons, is significantly different and
5 new. It completely changes the test for when a person is entitled to be granted
6 exempt status, and in effect aligns it with the test for when a person is entitled to be 7 licensed. So the same requirement applies: is the applicant fit and proper to carry on 8 the activities for which exempt status is sought? Members will also be familiar with 9 the other significant change in respect of the exempt person category, and that is that 10 only authorized institutions in future would be entitled to exempt status.

12 At the moment there are some insurance companies, there are some trustee
13 company, some custodians, and a miscellany of other corporations that enjoy exempt 14 status; but on reflection we thought there was an investor protection issue in respect of 15 those other categories, because they were not, generally speaking, subject to a level of 16 regulation that we regarded as acceptable. In the case of authorized institutions with 17 a monetary authority available and willing to perform the role as regulator, it was 18 acceptable to continue some form of exempt status for authorized institutions, albeit 19 subject to a significantly different threshold test.

21 Clauses 119, 120 and clause 4 of the proposed amendment to the Banking
22 Ordinance again carry through the test of whether or not an individual who is to 23 provide services for a principle licence holder is fit and proper to provide the services
24 for which they seek authorization. In summary, the threshold test for entry into the 25 marketplace, to provide any one of those seven services, is “Is the applicant fit and 26 proper?”.

28 Paragraph 10 of the overview papers refers to one of the differences that is picked 29 up subsequently in the schedule to the paper, between the arrangements in respect of 30 SFC licensees and exempt persons who would be subject to frontline regulation by the

Securities and Futures Bill and Banking (Amendment) Bill 2000
《證券及期貨條例草案》及
《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1 monetary authority; and that is that we would, in the case of the SFC, license those
2 individuals, and in the case of the Monetary Authority, they would expect employees
3 in the relevant areas of an authorized institution to be included on a register. It is a
4 register with a statutory base, and I will leave it to Mr CARSE to describe in more
5 detail how that register would work in practice.

7 In our introductory remarks Miss AU referred to a single licence concept and a
8 single declaration of exemption, and that is discussed at paragraph 11 of the paper.
9 The difference is essentially a difference between having a number of licences to carry 10 on the full range of financial services that a complex group might want to provide; and 11 having a single licence with endorsements on it, in the way that people would be 12 familiar with, in respect of, say, a driver's licence. So in future there would be a 13 single licence that would endorse upon the areas within the nine possible areas of 14 activity for which the person was licensed or exempt, and therefore permitted, to carry 15 on business in Hong Kong. It would also include the conditions that attach to that 16 licence or exempt status. It might not seem a significant difference, but it has a 17 number of practical consequences just in terms of the regulatory requirements in 18 servicing the expectations under the legislation, the number of returns that need to be 19 filed, and so on and so forth. We think it should result in significant savings to 20 licensees, particularly those who hold a number of licences at present, without any 21 reduction in investor protection.

23 Miss AU also referred to the executive officer concept. In fact in the Securities
24 and Futures Bill the terminology is "responsible officer", and in the amendments to the 25 Banking Ordinance "executive officer". It amounts to much the same thing, that 26 those who have direct responsibility for the management of the operation which is 27 licensed or exempt should themselves be subject to direct approval, and should 28 themselves be held directly responsible by the regulator for the systems and controls
29 and the performance of the principle licence holder or exempt person. So there is a
30 specific requirement in both sets of legislation for approval of, in the one case,

Bills Committee on
Securities and Futures Bill and Banking (Amendment) Bill 2000
《證券及期貨條例草案》及
《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1 “responsible officer”, and in the other case, “executive officers”.

2
3 As part of an effort to facilitate the carrying-on of business in Hong Kong, there
4 are two new types of licence that are being introduced under the Bill. The first is the 5 provisional licence, and the second is the temporary licence. The provisional licence
6 recognizes that in practice it is often the case that we are able to determine that 7 someone is fit and proper to be licensed, but that there is outstanding some relatively 8 minor aspect of the approval process – typically the vetting process, and typically a
9 reply from an overseas regulator. In some cases unfortunately the replies never come,
10 and in some cases they take several years to come; and clearly it is unfair to have 11 people sitting, waiting in the wings, before they can provide services. Where we do
12 not have any particular concern and there is a remote possibility that we may hear 13 something one day from a regulator in another jurisdiction, on that basis we think it is 14 appropriate to grant provisional licences where people are otherwise fit and proper, but 15 where the process is not entirely complete.

17 The second new type of licence is the temporary licence. As an international 18 financial centre, it is often the case that people are flown in at short notice from other 19 places, to provide specialized services in respect of some financial transaction; and 20 often, with very little notice, we are asked at present to license someone so that they 21 can provide those services in Hong Kong. We think it appropriate to directly 22 recognize that as the reality, and to provide for the possibility of temporary licences.
23 In effect we are recognizing that someone is adequately regulated and is approved to 24 provide certain types of services in another jurisdiction; that other jurisdiction has a
25 quality and level of regulation comparable to that in Hong Kong; that there are in place
26 arrangements between ourselves and the regulators in those other jurisdictions that will 27 allow for investor protection issues to be addressed if there is a problem in Hong Kong;
28 and that we are satisfied on the information that we had about the applicant that they 29 are fit and proper to provide the short term services that are proposed.

30

Bills Committee on
Securities and Futures Bill and Banking (Amendment) Bill 2000
《證券及期貨條例草案》及
《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1 Typically also we are talking about services that do not involve risks to investors.
2 Typically they are services to corporate clients; and so where someone seeks such a
3 short term temporary licence for no more than 3 months, and for no more than 6
4 months in a two-year period, it would be possible for us to grant that form of licence.

5
6 The next part of the overview paper, paragraphs 15 and so on, refer to the sharing
7 of responsibility between the HKMA and the SFC, and Miss AU has touched on that.
8 I just add that in respect of clause 137 of the Bill, which is not referred to in the 9 overview paper, there are some detailed procedural requirements set out, especially 10 going to procedural fairness. So each of the approval processes to which I have 11 referred are compendiously picked up in clause 137 and made the subject of express
12 procedural fairness requirements.

14 When it comes to movement from the existing regime to the proposed regime,
15 there are transitional provisions that are set out in what is Schedule 9. The effect of 16 the transitional provisions is generous. It provides for a two-year transitional period.
17 The practical consequence is that with some minor exceptions, people will be 18 permitted to go on doing what they can do now; that is, they will be permitted to go on 19 providing the services they can provide now. They will be deemed to be licensed or 20 exempt under the new legislation, and therefore they will find themselves subject to the 21 requirements of the new legislation. There are some exemptions to that. They are 22 rather technical and, in the context of the discussion, perhaps not particularly important;
23 but some of them are referred to in paragraph 17 of the paper. I am happy to come
24 back to those if Members have particular concerns about the transitional provisions.
25 The general effect and the overwhelming effect of the transitional provisions is that
26 you have 2 years to seek a licence or to seek exempt status under the new arrangements, 27 and in the meantime you are permitted to go on doing those things for which you are 28 already licensed under the existing regime.

29
30 There are a number of market comments received in response to the White Bill,

Bills Committee on
Securities and Futures Bill and Banking (Amendment) Bill 2000
《證券及期貨條例草案》及
《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1 and they are discussed at paragraphs 19 and following. Perhaps to just pick out the
2 most important of those, one that was a concern in the White Bill proposal was that we
3 expected someone to be in Hong Kong at all times, and available to supervise a
4 licensed entity. That has been ameliorated somewhat, and now it is a requirement that 5 there is someone available at all times to supervise, but that they need not physically be 6 present in Hong Kong to carry out those supervisory responsibilities.

7
8 There was a concern also in respect of the White Bill requirements that would 9 have imposed upon executive officers an obligation to report certain misconduct or 10 breaches to the SFC, and that clause has been deleted. There was a concern about 11 some of the time limits, and as we have discussed in respect of other Parts, generally
12 the time limits have been extended. In the particular case of one of the time limits
13 under Part V, relating to those who become substantial shareholders of a licensed entity,
14 there is only a minor extension from 2 to 3 days; but that conforms with Part XV of the 15 legislation, which is the disclosure of interest requirement.

17 As paragraph 23 of the paper describes, there has been a general review of the 18 penalty provisions in respect of the provisions of Part V. For the most part the 19 penalties have been reduced, and in one or two cases described in sub-paragraph (c) of 20 paragraph 23, there has been an increase.

22 The paper has a brief section on international comparison. The reason that the 23 comparison is not more extensive, particularly in respect of the way in which the 24 securities operations of banks are dealt with in those other jurisdictions, is simply that 25 it is so complicated. If we had set out, for example, a description of what the US does 26 in its regulation of the securities operations of banks and banks' subsidiaries, it would 27 have, even on a modest description, tripled the length of the paper.

28
29 Let me try and summarize it as briefly as I think I can fairly do. In the case of 30 UK of course there is a single regulator, and so the UK regime under the new Financial

1 Services and Markets Act sets out a series of activities for which authorization is
2 required. The activities are not expressed in quite the same way as the nine activities
3 in Schedule 6 of this Bill, but the coverage, at least in the securities sector, is co-
4 extensive. It does not matter for the purposes of the UK regulation who it is that is
5 carrying out the activity. It does not matter whether it is a securities house or a bank
6 or a subsidiary of a bank; they are all regulated, they are all approved, and they are all
7 given authorization to carry out those activities by the same financial services authority.
8 So there is no concept of exempt status in the way it has been discussed here, nor in the 9 way that it exists under the existing Hong Kong legislation.

10
11 In Australia there is a very limited concept of exempt status for banking
12 subsidiaries, but generally speaking, banks would be required to be licensed in respect
13 of their securities dealing, by the Australian Securities Investments Commission. The 14 picture in Australia is complicated further by the fact that there is a prudential regulator
15 who would have responsibility for prudential supervision of banking operations,
16 including risks associated with their securities operations. In that context
17 “prudential” means things like regulatory capital requirements – in fact it means 18 particularly things like regulatory capital requirements – and so there is a sharing of 19 regulatory responsibility in respect of the securities operations of banks between, on 20 the one hand prudential requirements and on the other hand conduct requirements
21 between those two regulatory authorities.

23 In the US the position is so complicated that I would not even presume to begin to 24 describe it, except to say that it changed about 13 months ago, when new legislation
25 was passed by the US Congress. I think, Madame Chair, that the most sensible thing
26 to do in respect of the US, would be to respond to any requests from Members of the 27 Committee to provide a much more detailed paper; but it really is a very complex
28 situation. It is not, as I said in answer to a question several committee meetings ago,
29 a structure that we would put forward in any way as an acceptable model for Hong 30 Kong in respect of the way the securities operations of banks or the subsidiaries are

Bills Committee on

《證券及期貨條例草案》及

1 regulated in the US. It is just too much the product of history, too much the product
2 of turf battles between not two but four or five sets of regulators, and too much the 3 product of a series of legislative compromises, as even the reform legislation was 4 passed through Congress.

5

6 That I think takes me to the table to which you, Madame Chair, referred at the 7 outset. I will try very briefly to highlight some of the differences, but I should say 8 that in respect of the full picture of regulatory responsibilities and the division of those 9 responsibilities between the SFC and the HKMA in respect of our licensees and 10 exempt authorized institutions that carry on securities dealing, Part V is only the 11 beginning of the story. It will be necessary to look in more detail at Parts VI to IX, to 12 understand the full picture and the full way in which the responsibilities are to be 13 divided.

14

15 I suggest to anticipate a little, Parts VI and VII, which deal with the imposition of 16 conduct requirements and the making of rules in respect of conduct, and which we will 17 discuss in subsequent weeks, generally speaking have rule-making powers that give the 18 SFC power to make rules in respect of conduct that will apply both to our licensees and 19 to exempt persons. There are one or two exceptions to that, but the exceptions are 20 very much of a reflection of the fact that there is in place an existing set of 21 requirements that would apply to authorized institutions. Parts VI and VII provisions 22 that allow for those rules to have such a broad coverage also have a requirement in 23 respect of consultation between the two regulators, where there is to be coverage that 24 includes exempt persons.

26 Part VIII is the part that deals with inspections and investigations powers, and 27 again there is a division of responsibility in respect of the day-to-day supervision or 28 inspection to ensure compliance with, for example, the rules passed under Parts VI or 29 VII, a division between the SFC and the HKMA; but in the second part of Part VIII the 30 investigative powers very much fall to the SFC. So one can easily imagine a situation

Bills Committee on
Securities and Futures Bill and Banking (Amendment) Bill 2000
《證券及期貨條例草案》及
《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1 in which the HKMA finds matters of concern that affect an exempt person, but where
2 the investigation, because the particular powers given to the SFC and the SFC alone
3 would have to be carried out by the SFC. Then Part IX is in respect of discipline and
4 includes powers to sanction, the full range from reprimand to revocation. There also 5 in respect of exempt persons, the power to revoke or suspend exempt status is given to 6 the SFC. Again it is a power that is subject to consultation with the HKMA in respect
7 of exempt persons, but the power itself is given to the SFC. Typically, I would 8 imagine, the situation would be one in which the HKMA had a concern about the 9 activities of an exempt authorized institution in its securities operations; it had sought
10 to address those concerns through its extensive powers under the Banking Ordinance, 11 but it nonetheless concluded that that was not possible or practical, and that therefore 12 exempt status should be revoked. It is only when you look at Part V in the light of 13 those later parts that we will come to discuss that you get the full picture of 14 responsibility.

15

16 Having said that, let me go to the table then, and Part V. There is a little code to 17 this table that members may have discerned already. Basically it sets out the primary 18 provision in the left-hand column, and two columns in from the right there is a symbol.
19 It is either a tick or a circle. Where it is a tick, that means the provisions as they 20 apply to SFC licensees and to exempt authorized institutions carrying on one of the 21 nine regulated activities, are entirely co-extensive; that is, there is no material
22 difference. Where there is a circle it means that they are broadly similar, but that the 23 source of power is probably slightly different. In most cases it will mean that the 24 source of power is the Banking Ordinance, and in some cases it will mean that there is 25 a slight distinction to be drawn in the way in which the powers are to be exercised.
26 That is the key to the table.

28 CHAIRMAN:

29

30 There are a great many circles, Mr PROCTOR. Probably you will have to

Bills Committee on

1 exercise some selectivity.

2

3 Mr Andrew PROCTOR, Executive Director of Intermediaries and Investment
4 Products, Securities and Futures Commission:

5

6 Yes. I am going to do that as much as I can. I have already said that in respect
7 of sections 115 to 118 the threshold test is the same, but that we rely upon the HKMA
8 to tell us whether someone is fit and proper to be given exempt status. 115, 117 and 9 118 are worth noting, even though they are ticked, because they anticipate one of the 10 points that is made in the paper that was tabled this morning from Mr MO. That 11 relates to conditions. Although the way in which the approval of exempt status is 12 worded appears to be an absolute one, and so the SFC does not have a discretion to 13 refuse a recommendation that someone is fit and proper to be granted exempt status,
14 the process is this: there is a consultation between the SFC and the HKMA in respect
15 of the applicant. The HKMA then makes its judgment about fitness and properness,
16 gives that advice to the SFC, and the SFC, on that advice, either does or does not grant
17 exempt status. The very next set of provisions allows the SFC to attach a set of 18 conditions to the exempt status, and that is important because those conditions will 19 reflect judgments that the SFC make, based upon the information it has been given by 20 the HKMA, and based upon the SFC's own knowledge of the applicant.

22 For example, if you took an exempt person who wanted to be granted exempt
23 status in respect of corporate finance advice, we would take the HKMA's judgment
24 about whether they were fit and proper to give advice, but we would also consult 25 within the SFC as the regulator that deals with corporate finance matters, under the 26 Takeovers Code and so on, to see whether the exempt person actually had relevant
27 experience in the area. If we thought he did not, then our discussion with the HKMA
28 would be that there had to be particular conditions that attached to the grant of exempt
29 status. So although the primary decision appears to be one in which the SFC simply 30 relies upon the HKMA's judgment call, it is a much more dynamic process than that.

1
2 I do not want to spend too much time going through this table. I think
3 paragraphs 119, 121 and 122 are good examples of where there is a significant
4 difference in the structure of the regulatory arrangements. It is the difference I
5 referred to, where on the one hand the SFC licenses to the level of the individual. On 6 the other hand the HKMA will require that the exempt authorized institution make a 7 judgment about the fitness and properness of an applicant, and on that basis they would
8 be included upon a register. The structure looks different, but the threshold
9 requirements are exactly the same. The test, on the one hand for licence and on the 10 other hand for inclusion on the register, is exactly the same test of fitness and 11 properness as explained in codes and guidelines that the HKMA and the SFC would 12 consult upon and promulgate for the guidance of industry.

14 Again, it looks like a structural and significant difference, but in practical terms
15 those who are permitted to carry on the activity would be subject to the same
16 requirements. The same is also true in respect of 125. Again you see that there is a
17 responsible officer concept and an executive officer concept that looks different 18 structurally – and certainly the approving body is different – but the prerequisites are 19 exactly the same. So the practical content of what it is that has to be demonstrated is 20 the same, and those that are approved in either case should have, broadly speaking, the 21 same sets of skills.

23 129, Suitability of Premises, again looks different, but in fact in practical terms is 24 the same. There is a requirement in both regimes for approval in respect of branch
25 offices, and in respect of the SFC licensees we also have a particular requirement in 26 respect of where records are kept. On the HKMA side – and Mr CARSE will perhaps 27 come to this – there is a requirement that the authorized institution be able to produce
28 records as and when required; and a requirement in respect of approval of branch
29 offices. So there is not in practical terms a really material and important distinction,
30 even though a circle appears. Likewise in respect of substantial shareholding, a

Bills Committee on
Securities and Futures Bill and Banking (Amendment) Bill 2000
《證券及期貨條例草案》及
《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1 different regulator approves but in practical terms there is a requirement that all
2 substantial shareholders be approved in both regimes.

4 In the following sections, again nothing of material difference occurs, although 5 there is a different approval process. Going through, though, to what is a subject of 6 some discussion, and that is section 141 – these are the capital requirements – there is 7 no question that the capital requirements in respect of the banking sector are quite 8 different to the financial resources rule requirements in respect of the securities sector.
9 They are quite different now. They may be slightly less different in future, as the 10 banking sector introduces the new Basel Accord which is a much more sophisticated
11 cutting-up of risk against which capital has to be held; but they will remain different
12 nonetheless. What I think is perhaps lost in some of the discussion of the differences, 13 though, is that it is by no means clear which is the tougher and which is the easier.
14 Certainly in the case of the banking sector, for example, a very much larger amount of 15 start-up or of issued capital is required than is the case on the securities side. So
16 banks have to have a much larger issued capital than on the securities side. On the 17 securities side, though, the way in which assets have to be held in some cases can mean 18 a slightly tougher regime in respect of the liquidity of those assets; but it depends very 19 much on the type of risk, and I do not think one could say in the abstract that one 20 regime was easier than the other, except in absolute terms in respect of authorized or 21 paid-up capital – and there it is clear that on the banking side the regime is 22 significantly tougher than it is on the securities side. So it is true that banks in respect
23 of their securities operations, if they are carried out within the exempt authorized
24 institutions, do not have to comply with the Financial Resources Rules, but it does not 25 follow that they in some way get a significant benefit from that.

26
27 Clause 145, in respect of client money, is a difference that reflects differences in 28 the way in which banks carry on business, and the nature of their business in respect of 29 client money. I think it is a difference that speaks for itself, and I do not stay with it
30 here. Over in what is Division 5, clauses 149 and following, the differences there are

Bills Committee on
Securities and Futures Bill and Banking (Amendment) Bill 2000
《證券及期貨條例草案》及
《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1 good examples of where there is a circle because the Banking Ordinance and the
2 requirements of the Monetary Authority are not exactly the same as the requirements
3 of the SFC under the proposed legislation, but they are so similar and they reach such
4 substantially similar ends, and they achieve the same level of investor protection, there
5 is no regulatory benefit to be gained from requiring the authorized institutions that are
6 exempt to comply with both sets of requirements. That is true in respect of general
7 requirements for audited returns, the appointment of auditors and so on and so forth.
8 That in fact takes us through to what is page 11, in respect of business conduct. I
9 have said – and you can see on the face of the document – that there the requirements
10 basically get ticks; and the requirements will basically be that the same sets of rules,
11 the same sets of business conduct codes, will apply across the industry, unless we can 12 be satisfied that there is in place some arrangement on the banking side, and satisfied
13 on the basis of our consultation with the Monetary Authority that there is some 14 arrangement on the banking side that will provide an equivalent level of investor
15 protection. There is one example of that now, which may be useful to refer to, and 16 that is in respect of some aspects of leveraged foreign exchange trading and cold-17 calling requirements, where the banks have in place regulatory requirements which 18 mean that there would be no point in doubling up and making them subject to 19 requirements imposed by the SFC on our registrants.

21 CHAIRMAN:

22

23 Thank you very much, Mr PROCTOR. I appreciate very much the spirit in 24 which you prepared the table and have taken us through the significant parts. I will 25 ask now Mr CARSE to go on with the banking side.

26

27 Mr David CARSE, Deputy Chief Executive, Hong Kong Monetary Authority:

28

29 Thank you, Madame Chair. As Andrew PROCTOR has already set out, in some 30 detail, some of the detailed arrangements involving the sharing of responsibility

Bills Committee on
Securities and Futures Bill and Banking (Amendment) Bill 2000
《證券及期貨條例草案》及
《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1 between the HKMA and the SFC, I do not propose to repeat those, although obviously
2 I will respond to any questions that Members may have. Just let me stress that the
3 role of the HKMA, as I see it, is to monitor and enforce on a day-to-day basis
4 regulatory standards that will be established by the SFC, in a number of cases in 5 consultation with the HKMA.

6
7 The question has been raised as to why you do not separate the two
8 responsibilities and allow supervision purely on a functional basis, with the HKMA
9 looking after banking business and the SFC looking after securities business. The 10 problem really is that in the real world the division between the two is not as clearcut
11 as that. There is an obvious overlap between banking and securities business, and in 12 any case, even if the SFC were to take on the responsibility for supervising the banks'
13 securities business, we would have to do it as well, because we are responsible for the 14 whole of the business of authorized institutions. Just as an indicator of that, under the 15 new Basel Capital Accord which Andrew mentioned, which will greatly elaborate the 16 capital requirements that apply to banks, in looking at the consolidated capital position
17 of a banking group in the future, we will have to consolidate securities companies
18 which are held by banks. I think that is recognition that the banking regulator has to 19 take account of the whole of the business of the bank or the banking group, rather than 20 just the purely banking business within that.

22 The other advantage of this arrangement from the banks' point of view is that they
23 will only have to deal with one regulator. I think that will achieve compliance 24 savings, compared with an arrangement whereby you have to deal with two regulators.

26 As Andrew mentioned, the ultimate authority rests with the SFC. I mean, they 27 are the people who approve exempt authorized institutions that will be done on the 28 same fitness and properness criteria as applied to brokers. They can mount their own
29 investigations, if necessary, and they can also revoke exempt status after consultation
30 with the HKMA. We believe this is a cost effective means of regulating the bank

Bills Committee on
Securities and Futures Bill and Banking (Amendment) Bill 2000
《證券及期貨條例草案》及
《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1 securities business, which will deliver consistency of approach between the banks and
2 the brokers. It is also continuation of the existing arrangements, so it is evolutionary.
3 It is what we are actually doing in practice. Since 1995 we have told the banks that
4 we expect them to comply with the SFC's code of conduct in relation to their securities
5 business. We are already carrying out examinations of the banks' securities business.

7 What would be different under the new Bill is that these arrangements will be
8 formalized and will be strengthened. Instead of asking them to comply with the code
9 of conduct on a voluntary basis, the code of conduct will apply directly on a statutory 10 basis to banks and other exempt authorized institutions. As Andrew mentioned, we 11 will also maintain a register of these authorized institutions that are carrying out
12 securities business on their behalf. There is a difference in that we will not directly 13 approve the fitness and properness of those individuals.

15 To be honest, that would be quite a mammoth task. We are talking about 16 potentially thousands of employees, going right the way down in a bank to a very 17 junior level. We do not, for example, at the moment approve bank counter staff who 18 are carrying out banking business on behalf of customers. We are trying to have a 19 compromise which achieves an equivalence of treatment between the way in which we 20 treat bank staff at the moment, which will also mirror the sort of requirements that the 21 SFC is imposing upon brokers.

23 So it will be up to the individual institutions to ensure that their employees will be 24 fit and proper. We will issue guidelines setting out the fitness and properness criteria,
25 which will be based on those of the SFC. The same standards will be applied. If it
26 turns out that an employee is not fit and proper by virtue of misconduct or 27 incompetence, then we would certainly require the authorized institution to remove 28 that employee from the register; and once that is done, by virtue of the Bill they are no
29 longer in a position to conduct securities business on behalf of the authorized 30 institution.

Securities and Futures Bill and Banking (Amendment) Bill 2000
《證券及期貨條例草案》及
《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1
2 Let me just explain briefly how we actually go about supervising the banks'
3 securities business. This is based partly on on-site examination and partly on off-site
4 analysis. As part of the preparation for the coming into effect of the new Bill and to 5 reflect the fact that we are already actually supervising the banks' securities business,
6 we have set up three specialist examination teams which comprise nine examiners who 7 have received training from the SFC. Those examiners are part of a division, which 8 is headed by Arthur YUEN, who has appeared before this committee. He was 9 originally with the SFC.

11 A number of our employees have actually gone to work for the SFC, so there is 12 actually quite a bit of cross-fertilization between the HKMA and the SFC at the 13 moment. In addition to those specialist nine banking examiners, of course we have 14 got a larger number of banking examiners, and if necessary we would call upon those 15 resources as well, to do securities examinations. Our examinations take several 16 weeks each. They are quite intensive. They are carried out on a frequency which is 17 agreed with the SFC, and we also talk to the SFC each year about the kind of risk areas
18 that we should be looking at. We use the examination checklist and guidelines that 19 are based on those of the SFC

21 Now, in addition to that on-site examination, which is actually going in and 22 looking at the systems and controls in place with individual banks, we also conduct 23 off-site reviews, and we do that on the basis of a new securities-related return which 24 the banks submit to us every six months. We have just received the first return for the 25 period covering the second half of the year 2000 and we are analyzing those figures at 26 the moment. The figures are still preliminary, but I could give you a few basic 27 numbers which would help to put this into perspective. The number of exempt
28 authorized institutions – that is bank, DTCs and RLBs is 110, but only 79 of those are 29 actually doing any securities business at the moment. Out of that 79 there are 53
30 exempt authorized institutions which are engaged in securities-dealing business on a

Securities and Futures Bill and Banking (Amendment) Bill 2000
《證券及期貨條例草案》及
《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1 retail basis.

2

3 We have not got a precise definition of “retail”. We have defined “retail” as 4 being securities dealing other than for private banking clients. So it will probably 5 include some retail customers, but also some corporate customers. The income which 6 those exempt authorized institutions derived from their retail securities business in the 7 second half of the year amounted to about $HK1 billion; and that amounted to about 2
8 per cent of the total income of the various exempt authorized institutions. You can
9 see that for authorized institutions in general, the securities-dealing activities accounts
10 for a very small proportion of their total income, so it is still incidental to their total
11 income, despite the fact that some institutions have been stepping up their involvement 12 in this business recently.

14 Apart from retail, the return also covers private banking; it covers underwriting, 15 issuing and placing of securities and corporate finance activities. If you add on the 16 income derived from those other activities besides retail securities business, then the 17 percentage of income from securities business goes up a bit to about three and a half 18 per cent of total income; so it is still relatively small.

19

20 As regards the relationship between the SFC and the HKMA, if we came across 21 material concern arising from our on-site examinations or our off-site reviews, we 22 would bring that to the attention of the SFC. We would either do that through our 23 regular monthly meetings which are going on at the moment, or if it was a very serious
24 matter, or even just a serious matter, we would probably bring it to the SFC’s attention
25 immediately.

26

27 There is an important provision in the Banking (Amendment) Bill, which is the 28 companion to this Securities and Futures Bill, because that has removed all the secrecy
29 constraints between ourselves and the SFC as far as the disclosure of information
30 related to securities business is concerned. So there is no barrier on us disclosing

1 information to the SFC about the securities-related business of banks. There should
2 be a seamless passage of information between the two of us, and we hope that that will
3 achieve some of the advantages of a single regulator without having the disadvantages
4 of putting in place a whole new structure.

5

6 I hope that this will show that the HKMA is determined to ensure that the 7 securities business of the banks is properly supervised by the HKMA in line with the 8 same standards as will be applied by the SFC, and that we are putting the necessary
9 resources in place to achieve this. Thank you very much.

23

24 很多人會以為我們業界與銀行界合不來，經常發生爭拗，但事實
25 上並非如此。我相信在座各位，無論所代表的業界或自己本人也好，
26 與銀行均有千絲萬縷的關係，所以其實大家的目標也是一致的。

27

28 很多時我們業界與銀行界可能受到其他方面影響，我不敢說是挑
29 撥離間，但總之是受到影響，以致我們業界與銀行界的關係看似十分
30 惡劣，但其實並非如此。這條綜合條例草案由現有多條法例組成，其

1 Mr CARSE, I think you want to respond to part of the first question.

2
3 MR David CARSE, Deputy Chief Executive, Hong Kong Monetary Authority:

4
5 Yes, Madame Chair, it is really just to clarify the numbers. There are 110
6 exempt authorized institutions, but only 79 of those are actually doing business of 7 various kinds. Out of that 79, there are 53 who are engaged in securities dealing
8 business on a retail basis. So I think probably from the point of view of the concern
9 of the broking industry, it is that 53 that is probably the most relevant number.

11 CHAIRMAN:

12
13 Mr CARSE, I think the question is rather “What is wrong with the present system?
14 Why do they have to be exempted? Why don’t they get regulated by the same body?”
15 Is that right?

17 MR David CARSE, Deputy Chief Executive, Hong Kong Monetary Authority:

18
19 Yes, Madame Chair. If I could perhaps respond to that, first of all, if you are 20 talking about the present system, the present system is basically one in which 21 authorized institutions have an exemption, and we have a more informal arrangement
22 for sharing responsibility. As I mentioned, we are already applying the SFC
23 standards and we are monitoring and enforcing those standards on a day-to-day basis,
24 but in a rather more informal way than is envisaged under the Bill. So actually the 25 present practice is akin to what is proposed in the Bill, and the Bill formalizes and 26 strengthens the current arrangement.

27
28 The question is: could you find some other way to do it? Of course, the answer
29 is “Yes, you could find some other way to do it.” There are various options, as 30 Mr PROCTOR has mentioned. Some of those options are actually more complicated

Bills Committee on
Securities and Futures Bill and Banking (Amendment) Bill 2000
《證券及期貨條例草案》及
《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1 than the one that is proposed in the Bill. If you take the American system, for
2 example, that is vastly more complicated than what we are proposing here, and I do not
3 think anybody would suggest that we go down that route.

4
5 You could also go down the route of having a single regulator, as a number of 6 other jurisdictions have done, but if you go down that route then you are going to 7 spend several years building a new single regulatory authority; and that would involve
8 a lot more work and administrative effort, and a lot more upheaval for the industry, I
9 might add. So what we are proposing is an evolutionary development of the current 10 system. The point I was making was that yes, you could decide that you were going 11 to separate off the responsibility for regulating banking business, which would be the 12 responsibility of the HKMA, and the responsibility for regulating securities business,
13 which would be the responsibility of the SFC. That would apply to the securities
14 business done by banks, so the banks would be regulated in respect of their securities
15 business by the SFC.

17 Now, that, you could say, is a reasonably logical approach, but the two points I
18 would make are: first of all, from the banks' point of view they do not like it, because 19 it would mean they would be dealing with two regulators. There would be an element
20 of duplication of regulation. They would have to deal with us in respect of their 21 banking business, and the SFC in respect of their securities business. We would still 22 have regard, as banking regulator, to their securities business. We cannot disregard 23 the fact that the bank was doing securities business, so an element of regulation of that 24 securities business would have to be done by us anyway. As I mentioned, from the 25 point of view of capital adequacy, under the new Basel Capital Accord we will be 26 duty-bound to consolidate the securities business of banks in calculating the adequacy 27 of group capital.

28
29 So I think that what we have ended up with is one of a possible range of options.
30 We think it is actually quite a streamlined option. It seems to be a fairly logical

1 division of responsibilities, the SFC having a general standard-setting role, and us
2 carrying out the day-to-day supervision and monitoring of those standards, which is 3 something we would probably do in any case, and which is implied by our 4 responsibility for consolidated supervision of the banks.

7
8 副局長希望作出補充，對嗎？

9
10 財經事務局副局長區環智女士：

11
12 對。胡議員剛才還提到一點，就是據他觀察所得，現時某些銀行
13 開設附屬公司，以從事零售證券業務，而這類附屬公司獲證監會發出
14 牌照。

15
16 據我所理解，現時的運作是，一些銀行希望成為香港交易所的市
17 場參與者。根據有關條例的規定，交易所參與者必須領有證監會發出
18 的牌照。銀行其實亦利用所享有獲豁免的地位，透過其分行從事零售
19 證券業務。不過，把這些零售業務集合一起時，該等銀行可選擇自行
20 在交易所進行買賣，無需透過另一交易商，這就是胡議員剛才提到目
21 前的現象。

22
23 胡議員的問題可能是：為何不強行把銀行各分行所進行的零售業
24 務全部抽出來

25
26 由附屬公司處理？這其實是銀行經營業務的其中一種方式，亦是
27 投資者的其中一個選擇，讓他們可透過銀行的分行買賣股票。

28
29 剛才Mr CARSE向各位解釋，即使銀行透過分行進行零售證券業
30 務，無論在所受到的監管及所需符合的要求方面，政府務求採取一致

5 請等一等。由於胡經昌議員表示我們誤會了他的意思，與其再利用更多時間解答這問題，我們先讓胡議員澄清他的問題。胡議員，請簡潔地提出你的問題，無需作出那麼多的解釋，使他們可以立即知道你所提出的問題。

9

10 胡經昌議員：

11

12 正如副局長剛才也提到，現時一些銀行開設附屬公司，作為市場參與者，從事證券買賣。這類公司的情況與我們經紀的情況一樣，我們開設公司進行證券買賣。

15

17

18 也就是說，銀行已開設附屬公司……

19

20 胡經昌議員：

21

22 對。我希望提出的問題是，既然這類附屬公司現時受證監會監管，為何當局還需要批給豁免呢……

24

25 主席：

26

27 ……繼續讓證監會監管便可以了……

1 對，繼續讓證監會監管便可以了。除非當局認為，現時由證監會
2 監管從事證券買賣的附屬公司存在問題，否則無需訂明任何豁免，因
3 為這是現時的運作方式。

4
5 主席：

6
7 明白。Yes, this is the question. Mr PROCTOR.

8
9 MR Andrew PROCTOR, Executive Director of Intermediaries and Investment
10 Products, Securities and Futures Commission:

11
12 I think, Madame Chair, a much simpler question. Those subsidiaries that are 13 currently licensed with the SFC would go on, presumably, being licensed by the SFC.
14 It is a matter of choice as to how the bank structures its operations, how it manages its 15 risk within the group, and a number of banking groups at the moment choose to set up
16 subsidiaries that are licensed by the SFC, and no doubt the same reasons will mean that 17 in the future a number of banking groups continue to choose to set up subsidiaries
18 licensed by the SFC. So they provide differentiated services; in fact, some banking 19 groups compete against each other within the group as a way of managing risk within 20 the operations.

22 So it is not a question of exempting those bank subsidiaries in the future. They 23 would not be entitled to exemption, in fact, because they would not be the authorized 24 institution. They would have to be licensed to carry on securities operations.

胡經昌議員：

為何給予銀行這項選擇？為何銀行可以選擇成立附屬公司或以獲豁免身份進行證券買賣？這是沒有必要的。如果法例訂明銀行不可以成立附屬公司進行證券買賣，給予銀行獲豁免身份是合理的做法，但現時銀行可以開設附屬公司，進行證券買賣。這是目前的運作模式。為何銀行可享有特殊地位？難道其他公司是次等的？我相信情況應該不是這樣，如果情況是這樣的話，我便無話可說了。

CHAIRMAN:

Mr. PROCTOR, I think it is probably your question.

MR Andrew PROCTOR, Executive Director of Intermediaries and Investment Products, Securities and Futures Commission:

Yes. First, let us be very clear. The very thrust of this legislative reform package is to remove any sense of there being classes of regulated entities. The thrust of it is to ensure that everyone is regulated to the same level against the same set of standards. I think the reason why banks are differentiated in this way is a matter of history. It is the practical fact of the matter that banks are performing these services; they are providing these services to the public. So the question is, in fact, "Why should we, as an administration, or why should the regulators require banks to set up a subsidiary? Why should banks, for example, as a group be subject, as a matter of compulsion, to two regulators, to two regulatory environments, to two sets of costs?"

The history is that they are providing these services. To move to a different

Bills Committee on
Securities and Futures Bill and Banking (Amendment) Bill 2000
《證券及期貨條例草案》及
《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1 model and to require them to do certain things that will involve additional regulatory
2 cost, there has to be a clear regulatory benefit. So the question is: “What is the
3 regulatory benefit of requiring a change that would force banks to only carry out
4 securities trading through a subsidiary?” It is very difficult, I think, to see any 5 regulatory benefit in terms of investor protection or market risk or systemic risk, that 6 would be achieved by requiring banks to set up a subsidiary, by requiring banks to be 7 subject to two regulators or two sets of regulatory costs. That, I think, is the 8 difficulty.

9

10 If we were to start now with a blank sheet, if we were a market being established
11 in a new country where there was not the fact of history that banks were providing 12 services through the bank that were in the nature of the securities business, then you
13 would not have that question of justification. You would not need to explain why a 14 certain structure was to be imposed. But that is not the reality.

17

18 你是否希望再跟進？

19

20 胡經昌議員：

21

22 我一定要作出跟進。其實文件第8段亦清楚提到，日後 certain
23 groups of persons will be excluded from licensing requirements。給予豁
24 免的最主要原因，是由於有關業務屬於“ incidental advice given by 25 accountants and solicitors”，即執業時附帶的工作……

26

27 主席：

28

29 這只不過是指其中一種……

1 胡經昌議員：

2
3 對，我知道。現時銀行及其他專業人士享有 exempt status，是因為
4 以前銀行並沒有進行證券買賣。由於這只是附帶的工作，所以給予銀
5 行 exempt status，情況與專業人士如律師、會計師等一樣。由於這並
6 非銀行的主要業務，所以銀行享有 exempt status。因此，政府指這是
7 歷史遺留下來的問題，這說法是不對的。問題的關鍵在於現時如果銀
8 行進行證券買賣，便應循正確的程序行事，為何需要給予銀行豁免？
9 讓我在此再次指出一點，這條綜合條例草案的目的是精簡監管安排。
10 如果會計師亦希望進行證券買賣，那又應該怎辦呢？

11
12 CHAIRMAN:

13
14 I shall ask Mr. PROCTOR then Mr CARSE.

15
16 Mr Andrew PROCTOR, Executive Director of Intermediaries and Investment
17 Products, Securities and Futures Commission:

19 Perhaps for the benefit of Members I should go back and deal with Mr WU's
20 observations about the history of exempt status. I think, broadly speaking, he is right,
21 that when exempt status was first established not only for banks but for insurance 22 companies, trustees and custodians, those parts of their business which would 23 otherwise have required a licence, those parts of their business that might have been 24 called "securities dealing" were very minor, very incidental. It was thought that there
25 was no regulatory benefit in particular to be gained by requiring them to be licensed.

26
27 In that sense, that old historic position, when the category was established, is 28 analogous to the current position of accountants and solicitors. They basically do a 29 little bit that might just cross the line, but there is no regulatory benefit to be gained 30 from licensing them. But since exempt status was first established for those banks,

Bills Committee on
Securities and Futures Bill and Banking (Amendment) Bill 2000
《證券及期貨條例草案》及
《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1 trustees and insurance companies, the position has changed significantly. As a matter
2 of percentage of their balance sheet, as Mr CARSE has said, it remains quite a small
3 percentage, but as a matter of market share, it is a much larger share than it was when 4 exempt status was first established. So it is now a matter of regulatory concern; it is
5 now clearly a matter where banks have a share of the securities market which is large 6 enough to make it a matter of regulatory concern and investor protection, that they be 7 properly and adequately regulated.

8
9 The question is: how do you do that? That is the historic position in which we
10 find ourselves now. They have a large share of the market, and so the only question
11 is: which of the available choices do you make? That takes us back to the exchange
12 we had a few minutes ago.

14 CHAIRMAN:

15
16 Yes. I understand, because you have addressed that second point. Mr CARSE.

17
18 財經事務局副局長區璟智女士：

19
20 主席，我也希望作出回應。胡議員剛才多次提到今次立法的目標
21 是精簡現有的架構，其實這與監管銀行的制度是一致。如果政府硬性
22 規定銀行必須成立分公司，規定銀行必須受兩間監管機構所規管，便
23 會出現規管重疊的情況。這與我們剛才所說的原意相違背。

24
25 此外，各位也要明白到，政府希望業界可作出彈性安排，以不同的
26 形式經營證券業務。同時，投資者亦可選擇各類公司為他們買賣股
27 票。最重要的一點是，兩者對保障投資者權益方面必須一致。讓我交
28 給Mr CARSE再作補充。

29
30 CHAIRMAN:

Bills Committee on
Securities and Futures Bill and Banking (Amendment) Bill 2000

《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1

2 Mr CARSE.

3

4 Mr David CARSE, Deputy Chief Executive, Hong Kong Monetary Authority:

5

6 Just to reinforce what Mr PROCTOR said, Madame Chair, the question is not 7 whether the regulation of securities business by banks should be formalized and 8 strengthened. We accept that fully. This business is becoming more important for 9 banks. It does need to be properly regulated, and that is what the arrangements set
10 out in the Bill are intended to achieve.

11

12 Part of the problem is that the whole discussion of this is bedeviled by the use of 13 the term "Exempt AI". As we have mentioned on a number of occasions previously, 14 exempt AI status does not mean exempt from regulation.

16 CHAIRMAN:

17

18 Yes. I think, Mr CARSE, we have moved on from there, because I think at this
19 stage Members are clear that "they are exempted" does not mean they are not regulated;
20 but Members' concern is really: why should they be regulated by two bodies, two 21 institutions, and if you have two different institutions, would it result in a different sort
22 of standards, whether in terms of implementation or in terms of structure? I think
23 that is where we are at, so please do not worry about the implication of exemption.

24

25 Mr David CARSE, Deputy Chief Executive, Hong Kong Monetary Authority:

26

27 The point I was making in my introductory remarks is that the standards are 28 supposed to be the same. I mean, the standards will emanate from the SFC. They 29 may have to be adapted in some respects in relation to banks, to fit in with the way in 30 which they do business, and that is why there has to be consultation between the SFC

Bills Committee on
Securities and Futures Bill and Banking (Amendment) Bill 2000
《證券及期貨條例草案》及
《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1 and the HKMA, but they are basically the SFC standards.

2

3 Now, our job is then to enforce those standards, and we will do that through 4 liaison with the SFC. There will be a formal MOU, which will set out the respective
5 responsibilities of the two parties. There will be cross-fertilisation between ourselves
6 and the SFC in terms of training, examination check lists, etc. There may even be 7 secondment of staff between the two organizations. I think that this achieves some of 8 the advantages of a single regulator, without some of the disadvantages in terms of the 9 administrative overhead of having to set one up.

11 CHAIRMAN:

12

13 Thank you. 胡經昌議員，你想不想再跟進？

24

25 胡經昌議員：

26

27 Mr CARSE剛才提到，證券買賣漸漸成為銀行業務重要的一環。但
28 他在會議剛開始時提到，就從事證券業務的銀行而言，從證券業務所
29 得的收入，佔該等銀行的總收入百分之二。

30

Bills Committee on

1 主席：

2

3 兩者並無抵觸，雖然所進行的證券買賣越來越多，不過所佔的比
4 例仍然很小。

5

6 胡經昌議員：

7

8 我的問題是，政府是否認為由於銀行從證券業務所得的收入，佔
9 其總收入百分之二，因此便需要金管局調配人力資源進行監管？說到
10 底，如果銀行希望從事證券業務，便向證監會申請牌照，銀行現時亦
11 是這樣做。為何需要訂定豁免呢？主席，你剛才說得對，批給豁免並
12 不表示銀行不受監管。不過，這豁免銀行無須受證監會監管，而是由
13 金管局監管……

14

16

17 胡經昌議員，你已多次問及這問題，而他們亦已多次作出回覆。
18 我們或者留待日後再作討論。他們的解釋是，由於以前證券買賣屬於
19 附帶服務，因此不用進行規管，但目前的情況已有所不同。即使現時
20 銀行所進行的證券買賣數目只輕微增加，所得收入亦佔銀行一定的營
21 業額，所以需要進行監管。你所提出的問題是，既然需要進行監管，
22 為何政府選擇由兩個不同的機構進行監管，而不是由同一個機構進行
23 監管？這就是問題的關鍵。

24

25 政府已多次作出回覆，顯然你認為仍有問題存在，或者其他同事
26 亦認為政府的答覆未能令人完全接受。讓我先請其他同事發問問題。

1 多謝主席。主席，讓我先行申報利益。我是獨立的證券商，亦是
2 獲豁免的AI，由於擁有多重身份，因此我首先要申報所有利益。我認
3 為胡議員剛才提出的問題或多或少是從他們業界的角度來看，由於另
4 外兩位Banker已離開，因此他們未能作出回應。他們所屬的銀行規模
5 較龐大。

6
7 我有一個問題想問Mr CARSE的。胡議員剛才提到一點，既然條例
8 草案的目的是精簡監管安排，為何仍然由兩個規管機構進行監管？其
9 實現時的確由兩個規管機構進行監管。我想知道的是，假如銀行把資
10 金投資在一間附屬公司，該附屬公司的運作受SFC監管，那麼HKMA
11 會否基於該附屬公司屬於銀行的投資，亦同時對該附屬公司進行監管
12 呢？我希望Mr CARSE澄清這一點。如果日後HKMA繼續監管銀行，並
13 會基於有關附屬公司屬於銀行的投資為理由，繼續對該等附屬公司進
14 行監管，而SFC又同時監管該等附屬公司的運作，這與制定條例草案
15 之前的做法沒有太大分別。我希望政府澄清這一點，有關答覆或能夠
16 解答胡議員提出的問題。

17

18 CHAIRMAN:

19

20 Mr CARSE.

21

22 Mr David CARSE, Deputy Chief Executive, Hong Kong Monetary Authority:

23

24 The bank sets up a separate subsidiary to conduct securities business, which a 25 number of them do at the moment – they already have broking subsidiaries – then that 26 broking subsidiary is subject to the direct supervision of the SFC, which is responsible
27 for supervising its conduct of business. We, I think, as part of our consolidated 28 supervision, will still want to have an awareness of the business that was being done in 29 that subsidiary. We will in future, as I mentioned, have to consolidate it for capital
30 adequacy purposes, but in those cases, because the business is not actually being done

12 主席：

15

16 何俊仁議員：

17

18 主席，其實我所提出的問題與兩位同事剛才提出的有關，我只是
19 從另一角度提出有關問題。

20

21 副局長剛才提到，雖然兩個規管機構分別進行監管，但所採用的
22 標準及要求會盡量一致。我質疑這做法是否可行。雖然我明白為何銀
23 行不希望受到雙重監管，但如果由兩個機構分別進行監管時，可能會
24 出現問題，因為金管局着重監管銀行的整體運作。即使金管局對銀行
25 的證券業務進行監管時，亦只會將該項業務視作銀行運作的一部分。
26 我所關心的是銀行的穩定性及整個銀行體系的風險問題。

27

28 另一方面，證監會着重監管證券商直接的業務，即使是銀行的附
29 屬財務公司，證監會亦是着重監管該等公司的證券業務，確保股市的
30 整體運作不受影響。兩者的監管目標會否有所不同？事實上，該兩個

1 機構採用不同的工具進行監管，我希望Mr PROCTER稍後向我們講解
2 這方面的情況。當兩個規管機構採用不同的規則進行監管時，例如在
3 監管證券業務時採用Financial Resources Rules，但在監管銀行時採用
4 資本負債比率等工具，在這種情況下，能否做到監管一致？有意見或
5 會認為，如果銀行大致上是穩健的，即使其他業務，例如證券業務出
6 現問題，銀行亦可以完全承擔有關風險，這是另一回事。究竟兩者能
7 否做到採用一致的監管方式及標準？我對此有所懷疑。政府可否解釋
8 這方面的情況？

9

10 CHAIRMAN:

11

12 Mr. CARSE. Has it been fully interpreted?

13

14 Mr David CARSE, Deputy Chief Executive, Hong Kong Monetary Authority:

15

16 Yes. I mean, all I can say is that we are already applying this approach at the 17 moment. I do not think we have had any problems in making sure that the way in 18 which we apply these standards is the same over the last few years when we have been 19 doing this. So I do not really anticipate problems in the future. In fact the situation 20 should be eased in the future, because there is a certain element of ambiguity at the 21 moment. The SFC issues a code of conduct; we say that that should apply to banks,
22 but there is no statutory backing for that, so there is this grey area, I suppose you can 23 say, at the moment, which will be resolved under the Bill. The point of the matter is 24 that it is not a question of us saying to the banks "You should voluntarily abide by this 25 code of conduct". They will be subject to it on a statutory basis, directly under the 26 legislation. It is not a question of us having discretion as to whether certain bits of the 27 code apply to them or not. It will apply to them directly, and because of the close
28 liaison between ourselves and the SFC, which will be enhanced by the removal of any
29 constraints on secrecy, I do not see a practical problem in actually being able to apply
30 the standards on a consistent basis.

1
2 As regards the question of the tools being different, yes, they are different, and the 3 capital ratio requirements are different. But I would say that the requirements that
4 apply to banks are extremely rigorous. I mean, you have the requirement, first of all,
5 in relation to the absolute amount of capital. You are talking about $HK150 million
6 minimum for banks, and for most banks the figure would be much, much bigger than.
7 You have the capital ratio requirement which is an international standard established
8 by the Basel Committee, which applies not simply to credit risk but also to market risk,
9 which will be substantially expanded over the next few years, with the new revision to 10 the Accord.

11
12 In addition to that you have a liquidity ratio requirement which makes sure that
13 the banks have sufficient liquid resources to meet their obligations both to depositors
14 and to investors. So I would say that that is the least of your worries. The issue here
15 is not in relation to the Financial Resources Rules. The issue is in relation to 16 conduct of business, because I think that given the scale of the securities business of 17 most banks, as I said, for most banks you are talking about 2 per cent or probably in 18 most cases less than 2 per cent of total income derived from retail securities business.

20 The financial resources available to the banks are more than enough to support
21 that, so I do not think that is an issue on which the committee should be worrying too
22 much. The main issue that you have really got to focus on is the conduct of business
23 issue, and that is the one I talked about earlier in terms of applying the standards. I
24 think in practice it will be possible for us to apply these standards on a consistent basis.
25 I mean, Andrew might want to give his own view on that.

26
27 Mr Andrew PROCTOR, Executive Director of Intermediaries and Investment
28 Products, Securities and Futures Commission:

29
30 I think, Madame Chair, that Mr HO's question raises a very interesting aspect of

Bills Committee on
Securities and Futures Bill and Banking (Amendment) Bill 2000
《證券及期貨條例草案》及
《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1 regulatory philosophy. He is right, I think, to identify that traditionally there has been
2 a different regulatory philosophy underpinning regulation in the banking and securities
3 sector. Traditionally that has given rise to two particular distinctions in the way in 4 which the sectors are regulated. One is as to capital, and as to that, in fact it has 5 meant that because the survival of the institution on the banking side, because of the 6 systemic issues, is so emphasized, the capital requirements are much larger; so actually 7 the banks get a bigger hit in terms of regulatory capital.

8

9 The other great distinction is in respect of the penalties, the disciplinary action
10 that might be taken in the event of a breach. Traditionally on the banking side there is 11 a concern about publicity, because publicity may cause a loss of confidence in the 12 banking institution. So it is important actually to note that in this case there is an 13 alignment of the penalties now in a way that did not occur before. I think you are 14 right to identify a difference in regulatory philosophy. I think the two practical
15 consequences traditionally have been capital and penalties. Capital hits the banking
16 side harder. There is now to be an alignment of those penalties, and as Mr CARSE
17 has said, and has been repeated several times today, the penalties are to be imposed
18 against a common set of standards. I think that leaves just one outstanding area, and 19 again something touched on in your question. That is whether in interpreting the 20 common set of standards, the regulators, for reasons of regulatory philosophy or just 21 because of the uncertainty in the requirement for interpretation, impose a different
22 standard by reason of a different interpretation.

24 Actually that is true within a regulator anyway; it is difficult enough within a
25 regulator. But in fact the practical experience has been that that has not been an issue.
26 We actually have a body of practical experience built up over several years that 27 demonstrates that we are able to discuss and agree upon a proper interpretation. So I
28 think that leaves you with this risk of a differing interpretation, and you have got to 29 weigh that against the negative impact in terms of regulatory cost which would arise if 30 you were to try and eliminate that risk by forcing the regulator together, or requiring all

15 多謝，主席。我們剛才曾討論銀行應否進行證券業務，以及應由
16 哪個機構監管銀行及證券商進行的證券業務。從市民的角度來看，其
17 實他們最擔心的是，銀行提供買賣證券服務時，銀行所具備的
18 qualification及對產品的認識，是否與證券商一樣？市民或會擔心前往
19 一間銀行的分行買賣證券時，該分行的職員根本不熟悉有關證券。我
20 相信市民較關心這方面的事宜。他們關注到，究竟兩者提供的服務是
21 否一致？服務水準是否相同？銀行現時在這方面並沒有正式的規定。
22 請副局長告訴我們，在條例草案通過成為法例後，兩者所提供的服務
23 水平會否相近，甚至是一樣呢？

7

8 請副局長先行回答有關問題，如果其他與會代表希望作出補充，
9 可於稍後提出。

10

11 財經事務局副局長區璟智女士：

12

13 讓我先回答陳議員提出的問題，胡議員提出的問題會交由簡達恆
14 先生回答。陳議員剛才提出的問題，正是政府所關心的問題。政府所
15 建議的制度，究竟對投資者有沒有影響呢？我剛才已提到，最重要
16 的一點是，投資者享有同樣的保障，兩者均無損投資者所享有的保障。

17

18 簡達恆先生剛才已經清楚解釋，雖然該守則的適用範圍應該延伸
19 至銀行的證券部，但現行法例並沒有明文作出這項規定。這可能會存
20 在一些灰色地帶，或會引起一些問題。在條例草案通過成為法例後，
21 連同對《銀行業條例》作出的修訂，屆時會明文訂定有關要求，包括
22 陳議員剛才所說的，也就是說，銀行及證券公司負責處理證券業務的
23 僱員，均須符合同樣的標準，例如“適當人選”的要求。屆時，法例會
24 訂明有關人士需接受的培訓安排、有關的考試制度，以及需具備的經
25 驗及資歷。該名人士無論在哪間機構工作，只要該人進行有關的受規
26 管活動，便要遵守同樣的規定。此外，其他監管商業操守的守則，亦
27 同樣適用。這是我對第一個問題的回覆，現交由簡達恆先生回答第二
28 個問題。

2 Mr CARSE.

4 Mr David CARSE, Deputy Chief Executive, Hong Kong Monetary Authority:

5

6 I think in relation to the first question that we accept the basic principle that bank
7 staff who are doing securities business should be subject to the same fit and proper
8 criteria as broker staff doing the same business, and should be properly qualified.
9 That will go right down to the branch level. First of all, it is a question of “fit and 10 properness”. Obviously the requirements relating to counter staff who are only taking 11 orders would be different from those who are giving investment advice; so the 12 standards may differ, depending on the type of activity you are involved in. But the 13 basic principle is that you should be subject to fit and proper criteria, and that is what 14 we will aim to try to achieve.

15

16 In relation to insurance business, banks do get involved in insurance business in a
17 number of capacities. Some of them have separate insurance companies, which is the 18 norm. It is not usual for a bank to underwrite insurance business within the bank
19 itself. Normally the underwriting arm would be separate, and I think that is the norm
20 on a worldwide basis. You also have banks who act as agents for insurers and act as 21 brokers for customers, in terms of obtaining insurance business.

22

23 At the moment all agents and brokers have to be registered, but that registration is 24 done on a voluntary basis; it is basically a self-regulatory operation at the moment.
25 So both the agents; i.e. the institution itself, has to be registered, and the employees
26 who are engaged in business on behalf of the institution have to be registered with the 27 appropriate industry body. I think the system we are talking about for bank staff is 28 very similar. The institution will have to be approved as an exempt authorized
29 institution, and its individual staff will have to be registered with the HKMA; and the 30 institution will have to ensure that those staff are fit and proper.

2 So I think for both insurance business and MPF business the regimes will be

22 專員毛錫強先生出席委員會今次的會議，向我們解釋此事。副局長，
23 如果你沒有其他補充的話，我便請毛先生向委員會解釋此事。

24

25 副法律草擬專員毛錫強先生：

26

27 主席，各位議員，我今天以雙重身份出席是次會議。第一，我是
28 這條例草案中文本的總負責人員。第二，我負責掌管律政司法律草擬
29 科所有法例中文本的草擬工作。據我所理解，部分委員十分關注條例
30 草案中英文本似乎出現差異的情況……

Bills Committee on
Securities and Futures Bill and Banking (Amendment) Bill 2000
《證券及期貨條例草案》及
《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1

2 主席：

3

4 對不起，毛先生。請你詳細解釋有關情況，因為問題不只是條例
5 草案中英文本的某些部分出現差異，而是政府所採用的草擬方式，也
6 就是說，中英文本並非逐字對照，所以請你首先解釋這種新的草擬方
7 式，然後才解釋中英文本在某些地方出現差異的問題。

8

9 副法律草擬專員毛錫強先生：

10

11 主席，各位議員，其實這並非一種新的草擬方式。我們並沒有將
12 這麼重要的條例草案做實驗，藉此試行一些新方法。事實上，這條例
13 草案中文本的草擬風格、體裁及行文，與我們近年在草擬其他法例的
14 中文本時所採取的做法相若。此外，在這條例草案中，97%至98%的
15 條文無論在行文、體裁或鋪排方面，中英文本並沒有任何不同。至於
16 若干條文在行文或語句鋪陳方面可能有出入，讓我解釋出現這種情況
17 的原因。

18

19 在解釋個別條文前，讓我首先概述政府在草擬法例時所依循的一
20 些原則，希望先行取得委員的共識，綱舉目章，然後才討論細節。根
21 據《釋義及通則條例》(第1章)的規定，任何條例的中文本及英文本均
22 具有同等的效力，即屬同等真確。換言之，自該條例制定後，並不會
23 出現某條例的中文本凌駕英文本，或條例的英文本凌駕中文本的情
24 況。中英文本均屬法例的正本，並不是另一文本的譯本。也就是說，
25 中文本無需忠於英文本的條文，反之亦然。當然，我們力求使中文本
26 把有關政策、意念或規定傳達給中文讀者時，與英文本向英語讀者傳
27 達的訊息完全相同。我們希望，當中文讀者參閱法例的中文本時，他
28 們對該條例的內容及所訂政策的理解，與英語讀者參閱法例的英文本
29 時所理解到的完全相同。

30

Bills Committee on
Securities and Futures Bill and Banking (Amendment) Bill 2000
《證券及期貨條例草案》及
《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1 在這前提下，我們亦要顧及中文本作為有關法例的獨立文本，必
2 須清晰表達該法例的政策，使讀者無需再參照英文本，因為部分中文
3 讀者根本看不懂法例的英文本。在這兩項原則下(即中英文本的地位同
4 等，以及由於法例的中文本作為獨立文本，因此必須同樣有效地傳達
5 有關政策的意念)，當我們草擬法例時，若發現中文本在語句鋪陳或行
6 文方面一旦採用與英文本近似的表達方式，會導致中文本不夠簡潔，
7 未能清晰表達有關涵義的話，我們或會採用跟英文本不同的處理方法
8 來草擬法例的中文本。就中文而言，句子越簡潔，便越容易理解。各
9 位以往在參閱某些條例的中文本時，如果當中的句子冗長或結構複
10 雜，便難以掌握有關條文的意思，所以我們的做法是盡量簡潔。

11

12 此外，就香港的特殊情況而言，據我觀察所得，如果一名讀者只
13 能夠看得懂法例的中文本，而由於不懂英文的原因，故未能同時翻閱
14 法例的英文本作參考，一般來說，這類讀者所接受的教育水平較低。
15 我這樣說或會令部分人感到不高興，但我相信這是事實。在這種情況
16 下，該等讀者無法像精通中英文的讀者般，同時參照有關法例的中英
17 文本，以理解有關條文的規定。故此，我們必需留意這一特點，以照
18 顧中文讀者的需要。當我們草擬法例時，在行文方面需要盡可能清晰
19 表達有關概念。再者，由於中英文是兩種截然不同的語言，在文法上
20 各有不同的要求。在一些情況下，為顧及中文的文法，我們可能會採
21 用跟英文本不同的處理方法。

22

23 昨天我已代表政府致函高級助理法律顧問李先生，概述政府現時
24 在草擬法例中文本方面的語文政策。該函件亦列舉一些例子，說明我
25 們近年來所採用的方法，使法例的中文本更簡潔易明，在傳遞政策意
26 念方面更具成效。不過，這做法可能會使中文本在表達方式上，與英
27 文本有所不同，我在文中列舉了一些例子。

1 毛先生，在討論該等例子前，請你告訴我們，現時的草擬政策是
2 否與過往的草擬政策有點不同？

3
4 副法律草擬專員毛錫強先生：

5
6 是。

7
8 主席：

9
10 政府在推行這項新的草擬政策時，有否諮詢司法及法律事務委員
11 會、香港律師會及香港大律師公會的意見呢？為何我們似乎完不知
12 情？

13
14 副法律草擬專員毛錫強先生：

15
16 這項政策轉變其實並不是突然採納的，事實上自政府在1989年開
17 始採用雙語立法以來，草擬方式逐漸轉化，逐漸演變及轉型。也就是
18 說，我們的草擬政策不斷演變，直至現時的情況。由於這是一個漸進
19 的過程，我們也說不出這項轉變在何時發生。

20
21 主席：

22
23 毛先生，我記得在採用雙語立法時，政府在所發出的文件中亦提
24 到，當時很多人對中英文本逐字對照有強烈的意見，認為這做法會令
25 人難以理解有關條文的規定。你剛才說現時採用一種草擬方式，令條
26 文的意思比較清晰，而且兼顧到中文讀者與英語讀者的水平可能有所
27 不同的情況。也就是說，政府採用了兩種不同的做法。那麼政府有否
28 向立法會及專業團體解釋這項轉變呢？政府有否採取這步驟？我只想
29 知道這一點。

6

7 主席：

8

9 在甚麼場合呢？

10

11 副法律草擬專員毛錫強先生：

12

13 舉例來說，我和兩位同事去年曾到立法會，與法律顧問馬先生、
14 李先生及多位助理法律顧問非正式地談論過這方面的問題。

15

16 主席：

17

18 這是不足夠的，我們稍後再商量應如何處理有關問題。我現時只
19 想知道這方面的實際情況。各位同事，你們希望在現階段提出問題，
20 還是希望先行聽取政府代表講解有關的例子呢？劉漢銓議員。

21

22 劉漢銓議員：

23

24 主席，由於我因事或有需要早點離開，我希望先行提出一些意見。
25 我們現在討論草擬法例的方式，由於這是相當技術性的問題，我認為
26 很難在這委員會討論。

27

28 雙語法例諮詢委員會在1987年成立，我和主席也是該委員會的成
29 員，曾花了很多年的時間討論雙語立法的問題。該委員會最初研究怎
30 樣雙語立法時，曾利用超過1年的時間來討論採用甚麼方式，我們亦曾

Bills Committee on
Securities and Futures Bill and Banking (Amendment) Bill 2000
《證券及期貨條例草案》及
《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1 討論主席剛才提到的問題，即逐字對照所遇到的問題。我相信很難在
2 這委員會討論有關問題。我建議由法律顧問先行與政府有關官員開會
3 進行討論，探討有甚麼不能解決的問題，然後再交由我們討論，這樣
4 或會得出成果。否則，即使我們利用很長時間討論這方面的問題，亦
5 未必能夠得出任何結論。

6
7 據我記憶所及，在某一階段，在雙語法例諮詢委員會成立一段時
8 間後，當時立法會的法律顧問亦有參與我們雙語法例諮詢委員會所舉
9 行的會議，所以他們亦相當清楚有關雙語立法的方式、形式或格式等。
10 這是我希望提出的意見。我認為這委員會很難決定誰是誰非，以及應
11 採用甚麼形式進行雙語立法，否則便會變成討論應採用甚麼形式把雙
12 語立法的工作做好。這是我的意見，主席。

13

14 主席：

15

16 我們不是進行價值審判，只是確定這方面出現轉變。其他同事有
17 甚麼意見？梁劉柔芬議員。

18

19 梁劉柔芬議員：

20

21 主席，我十分同意劉漢銓議員的意見，亦認為不應在這委員會討
22 論這問題。不過，作為layman，毛先生剛才所說的令我有點擔心。據
23 我所理解，法律首要的原則是忠於立法原意及意思清晰，其次才是讓
24 讀者看得明白。如果政府為了讓讀者能夠看得懂有關條文而不顧第一
25 項原則，這令我有點擔心。

26

27 至於毛先生剛才提到，只懂中文的人，其學識水平可能較懂英文
28 的人為低，我完全不同意這說法，亦希望政府不要以此作為理據。即
29 使中文程度或英文程度很高的人，到底該人是否最好的法律詮釋者？
30 答案是不一定的。法律是一門專業的學問，所以最重要的是忠於立法

Bills Committee on

《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1 原意，有關條文必須很清晰，即使需要使用一般人未必可以理解的字
2 句，我亦希望有關條文能夠忠於立法原意。我只想表達上述的意見，
3 但我們今天不會在此討論這問題。

4

5 主席：

6

7 毛先生，你希望現在作出回應，還是先行聽取其他委員的意見？

8

9 副法律草擬專員毛錫強先生：

10

11 我希望首先就梁劉柔芬議員提出的意見作出回應。如果我剛才的
12 發言，使梁議員認為我不尊重中文使用者的話，我想澄清我絕對沒有
13 這意思，這只是一個觀察。我絕對同意不能夠單從某人懂多少種語言，
14 來衡量該人對法例的理解能力。我剛才所說的，是指可能出現的一個
15 普遍現象。

16

17 此外，我亦希望重申一點，政府絕對不會為求條文簡潔，使法例
18 未能如實反映政策意念。我們必須很準確地表達有關的法律意念，在
19 符合這要求的前提下，盡量使用最簡潔的語句表達文意，但不會妥協
20 或犧牲第一項原則，以換取行文簡潔。

21

22 再者，我們務求令中英文本的涵意絕對一致，也就是說，無論中
23 英文本在行文方面是否相同，中英文本必須達致完全相同的效果。我
24 們絕對不希望出現以下的情況：某些事物或情況只在某一個文本的條
25 文中出現，而另一個文本並沒有包括這些事物或情況。中英本必須意
26 義相同，在這前提下，政府才使用簡潔的語句表達有關的意念。

27

28 梁劉柔芬議員：

29

30 主席，我希望跟進一點，即使這是指普遍現象，我亦希望法律草

2

3 主席：

4

5 由於時間所限，而且今次會議的目的並非要把問題解決，而是決
6 定怎樣處理此事，所以我在現階段不會請政府作出詳細回應。余若薇
7 議員及胡經昌議員均舉手表示希望提出意見，讓我們先聽取兩位發表
8 意見。Audrey。

9

10 余若薇議員：

11

12 多謝主席。主席，我也同意劉漢銓議員剛才所說的，我們很難在
13 這委員會深入研究此項目。其中一個原因是，這條例草案本身已是十
14 分繁複及艱深的工作。根據法律顧問就這條例草案列舉的例子，最顯
15 著的差異是，在英文本中某些條文提及上述的條款，但中文本的條文
16 並無提及有關條款，而是把與該條款相若的意思寫在條文中。在一些
17 情況下，我們可以理解為何政府這樣做。舉例而言，請各位參閱第210

2 余若薇議員：

3

4 第C1965頁，第210條。該條文關乎證券及期貨事務上訴審裁處委
5 任法官的情況。以第210(7)條為例，該條文的英文本列明是“section
6 209”，但中文本並沒有這樣做，中文本並無列明是第209條中“法官”
7 一詞第(a)段的定義，中文本把第209(a)條的意思寫下來。在一些情況
8 下，我們可以理解政府為何這樣做。然而，以第210(7)(c)條為例，英
9 文本是“the terms and conditions to which the person is subject as a
10 holder of that office”，中文本是“他擔任原訟法庭法官或暫委法官須遵
11 守的條款”，兩者其實有頗大的分別。在英文本中，條例草案使用“terms
12 and conditions”兩個字，但中文本只採用“條款”一詞。政府在草擬條例
13 草案時，可能認為“terms and conditions”解作“條款”。不過，當我們參
14 閱條例草案時，發覺在英文本中採用了兩個字，而中文本只使用一個
15 詞語，我們不知道條例草案的中文本究竟是漏了一個詞語，抑或中文
16 本的“條款”一詞，已經涵蓋“terms and conditions”的意思？我相信很多
17 條例亦載有“terms and conditions”的字眼，在該等條例中，當英文本提
18 到“terms and conditions”時，中文本採用“條款”一詞，還是使用了兩個
19 詞語呢？政府是否只在這條例草案的中文本中，把“terms and 20 conditions”簡略為一個詞語？

21

22 雖然我同意劉漢銓議員提出的意見，我們不應在此討論政府草擬
23 法律的政策，但政府或律政司應就這條例草案向我們提供一個列表，
24 清楚說明中英文本的不同之處，以及為何兩個文本有所不同，否則我
25 們在審議條例草案時，會很難進行有關工作。

26

27 主席：

28

29 其實政府為委員會帶來一個很大的難題，因為政府同時進行立
30 法，平衡立法，也就是說，問題的關鍵是，中英文本並非逐字對照。

《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1 根據毛先生剛才所說，政府務求使中英文本達致同樣效果。然而，兩
2 個文本是否達致同樣效果，並非由法律草擬科決定，而是由立法會決
3 定。以往的做法是，立法會在審議條例草案時，會首先審議條例草案
4 的其中一個文本，很多時是英文本，因為會較為方便。委員會在研究
5 條例草案的英文本後，會把將兩個文本的對照工作交給法律顧問處
6 理，由他們完成這項艱巨的工作。如果法律顧問在進行對照工作時發
7 現有問題，會告知委員會，否則委員會把兩個文本視作等同。

8

9 然而，政府現時的做法是使中英文本達致同樣效果，我不知道法
10 律顧問是否認為能夠負起這責任，確實指出即使中英文本在行文方面
11 有所不同，但兩個文本的法律效果是相同的。如果法律顧問認為這做
12 法並不穩妥，我本人亦認為此舉並不穩妥，那麼就這條例草案而言，
13 我們所需要做的，並不是平衡立法，而是雙重立法，也就是說，委員
14 會在研究整條條例草案的英文本後，需要重新研究條例草案的中文
15 本，以確定中英文本達致同樣效果。如果條例草案的篇幅很短，委員
16 會即使這樣做，在時間方面不會有很大分別。然而，在研究篇幅浩繁
17 的條例草案時，在時間方面便會有分別。如果條例草案的篇幅很短，
18 我們很快便能夠確定中英文本是否達致同樣效果。不過，如果條例草
19 案的篇幅浩繁，而且條文又互相呼應，委員會可能需要利用一段時間，
20 才可確定兩個文本是否達致同樣效果。由於這是委員會的責任所在，
21 委員會當然應該這樣做。我同意劉漢銓議員剛才所說，政府草擬法例
22 的原則和方向應該交由另一個事務委員會詳細討論，甚至邀請法律界
23 表達意見。至於如何處理這條例草案，必須由本法案委員會決定。

24

25 因此，余若薇議員剛才建議政府向委員會提供一個對照表，這做
26 法並不一定能夠把問題解決。這只是我個人的意見，還須視乎各位同
27 事的眼光。我認為委員會很可能需要分兩次研究條例草案，即研究英
28 文本後，再研究中文本。胡經昌議員。

1

2 主席，我的看法與你的相若。雖然我代表金融服務界，但其實銀
3 行業將來如要面對這問題時，亦會遇到同樣的情況。假如我們業界以
4 條例草案的中文本作為參考，而中文本的規定並不像英文本的那麼詳
5 細的話，我們可能會對條例草案的規定有不同的理解。一般人翻閱條
6 例草案時，通常只查閱某部分的規定，不會像我們的做法，逐頁翻閱
7 條例草案。當他們查閱條例草案某部分時，可能不知道需要參閱其他
8 部分的規定，結果以為法例容許他們作出某作為，但其後又發現英文
9 本有較詳細的規定。

10

11 我並不是法律界的人士，據我所理解，以往條例草案的中英文本
12 是逐字對照，無論我參照哪個版本，亦沒有問題。如果現時已不再採
13 取這做法，我所擔心的是，如果layman只參照中文本，而沒有查閱英
14 文本，他們可能到法庭應訊時，才發覺自己錯誤理解有關條文。我擔
15 心會出現這種情況。

16

18

19 這問題關乎應否以該種形式立法，也就是說，是一個 general
20 question，但在應用方面.....

21

22 胡經昌議員：

23

24 但我們審議這條例草案時需要考慮這問題。

25

26 主席：

27

28 研究怎樣處理這條例草案。李家祥議員亦舉手表示希望提出
29 意見，待李家祥議員發言後，我請法律顧問向委員會概述他們經研究
30 後對此事的意見，然後我們便決定怎樣做，因為會議時間已差不多了。

3 李家祥議員：

4

5 主席，我想提出個人的看法。我並非反對劉漢銓議員的意見，但
6 詳情需要再作研究。我的看法是，如果一方面希望把法例寫得淺白，
7 但同時又希望中英文本一致，這可能是互相矛盾的。作為一項政策而
8 言，哪一項是主要原則，也就是說，哪一項是exception？哪一項是
9 rule？這是一項很重要的決定。

10

11 根據這條例草案在行文方面所採用的方式，將法例寫得簡易明白
12 似乎成為主要的原則。立法會如要假設草擬法例者完全明白整條法例
13 的精神及內容，尤其是有關財經方面的運作，然後在草擬中英文本時，
14 使兩者所表達的意思完全一樣，作出這樣的假設需要承受相當高的風
15 險。正如主席所說，委員會可能真的需要在分別研究中英文本後，才
16 可確定兩者是否相同。

17

18 如果需要協助讀者理解中文法例，我認為應該採取其他方法，不
19 一定需要在草擬法例時顧及這一點。我認為首先要做到中英文本在用
20 語方面一致。如果中文本某些部分的寫法實在很難令人明白，政府才
21 採取例外的做法。立法會在審議有關條例草案時，可集中研究該等部
22 分。法律顧問及法案委員會便可以較容易處理有關情況。

23

24 以這條例草案為例，由於內容是那麼複雜，即使採用較淺白的中
25 文草擬，很多人可能亦未能理解箇中的規定。如果政府希望所有人均
26 能夠理解有關的規定，有關的政策局或其他方面是否應該另行擬備小
27 冊子，以淺白的文字簡單介紹有關法律，而不是在立法時採用兩種不
28 同的表達方式？我認為這是較實際的做法。如果政府在立法時強行符
29 合上述兩個目標，我認為所需承受的風險相當高，立法會亦很難承擔
30 這風險。

3

4 我希望提出兩項建議。第一，委員會將政府草擬法例的政策及所
5 依循的基本原則等問題，交由司法及法律事務委員會進行詳細討論。
6 至於這條例草案的處理方法，委員會請法律顧問與法律草擬科的官員
7 舉行會議，詳細討論有關問題，以便委員會可更清楚知道問題的嚴重
8 程度。法律顧問與法律草擬科經商議後，就如何審議及通過這條例草
9 案的中英文本，向委員會提出實質的意見。

10

11 我希望聽取各位對這兩項建議的意見，並會在稍後請各位表示是
12 否同意這樣做。現首先請法律顧問提出意見，然後由毛先生作最後總
13 結。法律顧問。

14

15 法律顧問顧建華先生：

16

17 多謝主席。這條例草案的中英文本在很多地方的寫法並不一致。
18 我們認為，中英文本基本上希望達致相同的目的，就是表達相同的政
19 策意念。然而，條例草案的中文本很多時會較為簡短，我們的顧慮是，
20 在草擬法例時，英文本所採用的格式及措辭，與我們日常所採用的用
21 語可能有所不同。如果要令一般人也可以理解條例草案的中文本，在
22 草擬法例時可能需要採取不同的方向。

23

24 我們亦認為，如果中文本採用較簡單淺白的寫法，其實英文本亦
25 可以採用較簡單淺白的方法來草擬。我們所關注的是，為何中英文本
26 採用不同的表達方式？問題並非在於哪個文本的草擬方式較好，而是
27 中英文本採用不同的表達方式，我們擔心日後法庭詮釋有關法例時，
28 又或讀者在理解法例時，可能對法例有不同的理解。

29

30 即使我們認為，就這條例草案的內容而言，中英文本大致相同。

Bills Committee on
Securities and Futures Bill and Banking (Amendment) Bill 2000
《證券及期貨條例草案》及
《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1 然而，日後法庭會否對這條例草案的中英文本有不同的看法，這是很
2 難說的。即使我們認為中英文本所傳達的訊息是完全一樣，但日後法
3 庭是否持相同的看法，我們未能確定這一點。

4

5 法律事務部可以與法律草擬科商討這問題，並向他們指出在行文
6 方面，我們認為中英文本哪些條文有所不同，以及商討應如何處理有
7 關問題。至於主席建議把有關事項交由另一事務委員會處理，兩者可
8 以同時進行。

9

10 主席：

11

12 毛先生，請你作出回應。

13

14 副法律草擬專員毛錫強先生：

15

16 主席，我希望就此事的處理方法提出一項建議。這條例草案的立
17 法時間表十分緊迫，而且篇幅浩繁，議員的時間亦很寶貴，我同意議
18 員應關注條例草案的政策內容，但條例草案的修辭行文，其實屬於技
19 術上的問題。我建議由法律草擬科與法律事務部商討這方面的問題，
20 當雙方認為無法解決有關問題時，又或雙方無法同意有關條文的意思
21 是否有出入時，才把有關問題交回委員會考慮。如果經解釋後法律事
22 務部認為沒有問題，又或經商討後雙方認為作出修改是較適當的做
23 法，政府便提出修正案，不論修改哪一個文本也好。

24

25 主席：

26

27 問題是在採用不同的文字時，究竟是屬於不同的表達方式，抑或
28 會有不同的效果？當中英文本並非對照時，究竟這只不過是不同的表
29 達形式，抑或實際上會有不同的效果？我不知道法律顧問認為本身可
30 否就這一點作決定。當然雙方需要一起商討此事。我相信委員的意向

Bills Committee on
Securities and Futures Bill and Banking (Amendment) Bill 2000
《證券及期貨條例草案》及
《2000年銀行業(修訂)條例草案》委員會

1 是，除非很明顯只是表達方式上的不同，否則也要交回委員會處理，
2 因為最終由委員會負責。關於我所提出的兩項建議，第一項是把有關
3 政府草擬法例的原則及政策等問題，交由司法及法律事務委員會處
4 理。我相信同事對這一點應該沒有異議。第二項建議是，就這條例草
5 案在草擬方式上出現差異的問題，委員會請法律顧問及法律草擬科的
6 官員商討有關問題，然後擬備一份報告，或在適當時候盡早與委員會
7 匯報情況。各位是否同意這項建議？余若薇議員，你對這項建議有意
8 見？

9

10 余若薇議員：

11

12 不。由於劉漢銓議員因事需要提早離開，他請我向你表達他的意
13 見，他表示十分贊同你的建議。我亦十分贊同你的建議，亦同意你剛
14 才提出的一點，就是即使法律顧問與法律草擬科經討論後明白到問題
15 所在，又或解決大部分的問題，但最終本法案委員會負責審議這條例
16 草案。我仍然認為政府應提供一個列表，清楚告訴我們兩者在何處有
17 分別。

18

19 副法律草擬專員毛錫強先生：

20

21 請容許我就李家祥議員提出的關注作出回應。我們並無嘗試在互
22 相矛盾的原則之間取得平衡，我們的政策十分清晰。在草擬法例時，
23 最重要的原則是清晰、有效及準確表達有關的政策意念。在這前提下，
24 我們務求令行文簡潔。如果兩者有衝突，我們一定不會為求行文簡潔
25 而犧牲準確表達政策意念。其實這並不只適用於中文法例的情況，我
26 們在草擬英文法例時，現行的政策也是採用淺白的文體。

27

28 主席：

29

30 這可能是你們的主觀願望，但我們必須客觀地研究中英文本在法
