

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL BRIEF

Land Registration Ordinance
(Chapter 128)

LAND REGISTRATION (AMENDMENT) BILL 2000

INTRODUCTION

At the meeting of the Executive Council on 12 December 2000 the Council ADVISED and the Chief Executive ORDERED that the Land Registration (Amendment) Bill 2000 (the Bill), at Annex A, should be introduced into the Legislative Council to increase the efficiency and to improve the services of the Land Registry.

BACKGROUND AND ARGUMENT

General Background

2. As part of the Land Registry's effort to increase its efficiency and to improve its services to its customers, the Land Registry proposed a Strategic Change Plan (SCP) in March 1998. The strategy recommended in the SCP requires substantial changes to the Land Registry's organization, business procedures and information technology (IT) system. Legislative amendments are necessary to provide for a Central Registration System (CRS), which is a key component of the SCP, and a new service of colour imaging of plans. After an overall review of the Land Registration Ordinance and its Regulations, we also propose some amendments to improve the procedures for land registration.

The Proposals

(A) Central Registration System

3. The Land Registry was established under the Land Registration Ordinance to provide land registration services in Hong Kong. At present, the Land Registry maintains registration offices in nine districts: Urban, Islands, Tsuen Wan, Tuen Mun, Yuen Long, North, Tai Po, Shatin and Sai Kung. Each registration office is independent and self-contained and each maintains a separate set of records for its own registration district. Each also provides services for registration and search of land records and for processing of applications for the incorporation of owners under the Building Management Ordinance (Cap. 344). Conveyancing solicitors are required to deliver documents to the respective registration offices for registration. As nearly 96% of all law firms doing conveyancing work are located in the urban area, this arrangement is inconvenient, time-consuming and unnecessarily expensive for law firms and their customers.

4. Under the proposed CRS, all documents for registration would be lodged at a central registration office in the urban area at the Queensway Government Offices. There would be one set of consolidated registration records to determine the priority of each registered instrument. To satisfy local customers' needs, the New Territories offices would be retained to provide cross-district search services and owners' incorporation services. However, registration services would no longer be available in the New Territories offices.

5. A Consultation Paper on the proposed CRS was issued to customer representatives and interested parties in 1998. The proposal was supported by the consulted parties. The Legislative Council Panel on Planning, Lands and Works was also briefed on 12 November 1998 about the proposal.

6. In May 1999, the Land Registry commissioned a firm of consultants to recommend an Information Systems Strategy to support the IT aspects of the CRS. The core strategy recommended is to develop an Integrated Registration Information System (IRIS) to replace the existing fragmented computer systems. The new integrated computer system would be developed in two phases. The Land Registry proposes to implement the CRS after the development of Phase I of the IRIS. Phase II of IRIS would only become necessary if approval is obtained later to change the land registration system to a land titles system.

7. We propose the following changes to the registration process and procedures to facilitate the implementation of centralized registration -

(a) Property Reference Number

A unique identification number would be allocated to each land register as an identifier key to facilitate speedy retrieval of data from the land register.

(b) Memorial

Registration of an instrument in the Land Registry is effected by the delivery of the instrument together with the memorial to the Land Registry. The memorial, which contains the essential information on a property transaction, is a form for entering the particulars of the instrument according to the provisions of the Land Registration Ordinance. On the implementation of the CRS –

- (i) all memorial forms would be standardized and bar-coded. To maintain system integrity, the forms would be printed by the Land Registry;
- (ii) new particulars would be entered in the memorial, including –
  - Property Reference Number;
  - number of undivided shares in the land;

- district code identifiers, which would be added before memorial numbers to identify districts (this is necessary because currently each of the nine Land Registries has its own set of memorial numbers and there is duplication of such memorial numbers) ; and
- Chinese names of parties and Chinese property address (if known).

(c) Memorial Day Book

The particulars of the memorial are currently kept in the Memorial Day Book in hard copy form. To facilitate land searches, the Memorial Day Book would be kept in and accessed via the computer terminals in the Land Registry on the implementation of the CRS.

(B) Colour Imaging System

8. At present, the Land Registry records a coloured plan attached to an instrument in black and white image and will colour such plan manually upon the request of the searchers. To improve its services, the Land Registry is now procuring a colour imaging service in which the coloured plans attached to, or endorsed on, an instrument will be imaged in colour. In future, coloured plans will be produced directly from the colour images and manual colouring will no longer be necessary. Copies of existing plans kept in the Land Registry will also be imaged in colour.

(C) Overall Review of Land Registration Ordinance and Land Registration Regulations

9. As a result of an overall review of the Land Registration Ordinance and Land Registration Regulations, we have identified a number of amendments to improve registration and search services and to regulate the existing practices.

10. We propose the following amendments to the existing procedures –

(a) Temporary withdrawal of instruments

The Land Registry currently allows withdrawal of instruments by the lodging party for correction of errors if registration is not yet completed or if the instrument is not withheld from registration due to non-compliance with the Land Registration Ordinance. We propose that temporary withdrawal should be formally governed by a new regulation and the same disincentive fee for instruments withheld from registration, i.e. $200 for each period of 28 days, should be charged.

(b) Removal of entry of instruments withheld or temporarily withdrawn from registration

At present, there is no provision under the Land Registration Ordinance and Regulations to remove from the land register a deed withheld from registration due to a mistake or other issue. These deeds, known as “stopped” deeds, are now entered on the “Deeds Pending Registration” portion of the computer land register. There are more than 2 000 deeds which have been “stopped” for more than one year. This causes inconvenience to the searchers because copies of these deeds are not available for search as their registration has not been completed. We propose that power be given to the Land Registrar to remove the entries of these “stopped” deeds and the instruments temporarily withdrawn by the lodging parties from the land register after one year from the date of delivery. We further propose that the lodging party and other affected persons be notified of the proposed removal of such an entry and be given a period of 28 days for them to make written submissions to the Land Registrar for a decision on the matter. After a decision is made by the Land Registrar, any aggrieved party could apply to the appropriate court against the Registrar’s decision.

(c) Certified copy instruments

It is a requirement under the Land Registration Ordinance and Regulations that the original instruments (not copies), should be registered. However, the Land Registry will, in practice, accept copies of documents issued and certified by Government departments and copies of certain documents certified by solicitors where the originals are not recoverable. We propose to amend the Land Registration Regulations to provide for registration of certain types of copy documents which are certified in a manner satisfactory to the Land Registrar. The Land Registry would issue a Circular Memorandum from time to time notifying legal practitioners and interested bodies of the types of documents where certified copies are acceptable for registration and the necessary certification manner.

(d) Identification of signing parties in the instruments

To provide for identification of companies and individuals signing the instruments, we propose that the instrument delivered for registration should contain where practicable –

- (i) in case of an individual, the identity card number or the number of valid travel document; or
- (ii) in case of a company, the incorporation number of the company.

(e) Names in the Memorial Day Book

To avoid the setting up of a names index by the users of the Memorial Day Book [which is in breach of the Personal Data (Privacy) Ordinance (Cap. 486)], we propose that the names of the parties or other relevant persons should not be entered in the Memorial Day Book. As data obtained from the Memorial Day

Book are mostly used for research purposes and the full particulars including names of the parties will continue to be recorded in the relevant land registers, we believe this proposal would not have any effect on the customers.

(f) New Territories Register Cards

We propose to send the New Territories register cards, which serve no further purpose after the computerization of the New Territories land registers in 1994, to the Public Records Office for preservation and research purposes.

Benefits

11. The proposed amendments in the Bill for the introduction of a CRS, the colour imaging system and other new procedures will bring substantial benefits to the Land Registry's customers, including -

- (a) simplified registration procedures;
- (b) reduced transaction times;
- (c) a clear customer contact point in the Urban Office;
- (d) easier tracking of the registration process;
- (e) lower operating costs for both law firms and the Land Registry; and
- (f) better customer service.

Timetable

12. We propose that the changes should come into effect at different times. The proposed stages are -

- (a) To implement the CRS, the Land Registry would develop a new and integrated computer system. Some changes in procedures and forms would be necessary. We envisage that the related changes for the CRS would come into operation when the new integrated computer system is ready by the end of 2002.
- (b) To implement the colour imaging system, the Land Registry is now procuring the colour imaging service. We expect that the colour imaging system will be fully operative upon the implementation of the CRS and that the related changes for the colour imaging system will come into operation by the end of 2002.
- (c) The changes proposed as a result of the overall review of the Land Registration Ordinance and Land Registration Regulations would come into operation upon the enactment of the Bill.

THE BILL

13. To give effect to the CRS and to delete references to the terms “New Territories Land Registry” and “District Land Registry” –

- (a) clauses 2 and 3 repeal section 30 of the Land Registration Ordinance and the First and Second Schedules;
- (b) section 53 of the Schedule repeals sections 10 and 11 of the New Territories Ordinance (Cap. 97) in relation to the interpretation of the term “Land Registry” and registration of memorials at such places other than the New Territories Land Registries; and
- (c) sections 1 to 52, 54 to 57, 58(a) and (c), 69,73, 75 and 78 to 105 of the Schedule make consequential amendments to a number of Ordinances and subsidiary legislation.

14. The Schedule amends the Land Registration Regulations to –

- (a) require further particulars to be contained in a memorial submitted for registration (section 60);
- (b) clarify that the verification of a memorial under regulation 7(c) only applies where the memorial has been prepared in the Land Registry for a department of the Government (section 61);
- (c) simplify the requirements applicable to plans attached to instruments delivered for registration once the Land Registry has introduced a new service of colour imaging of plans (section 62);
- (d) require instruments delivered for registration, where practicable, to contain better or alternative particulars of the persons signing the instruments (section 63);
- (e) amend the procedures to be carried out when an instrument and memorial are delivered for registration, in particular to take account of unique Property Reference Numbers which will be assigned to properties to assist searches (section 64). [see, also, the definition of “Property Reference Number” in section 58(c)];
- (f) repeal regulation 15 and replace it with new regulations 15 and 15A which, inter alia –
  - (i) enables an instrument to be withheld from registration at the request of the person who delivered it for registration;
  - (ii) introduces procedures to permit the Land Registrar to remove particulars concerning any instrument which has been withheld from registration for more than 12 months (section 67); and
  - (iii) provide for an appeal by an aggrieved party to the appropriate court against the decision of the Land Registrar on the removal of such particulars (section 67); and
- (g) introduce a new regulation 18A to extend the Land Registry’s colour imaging service to coloured plans mentioned in and attached to or endorsed on instruments registered before the commencement of the new regulation (section 70).

----- The existing provisions which are being amended are at Annex B.

PUBLIC CONSULTATION

----- 15. In August 2000, a Consultation Paper on the Bill was issued to the Law Society, the Heung Yee Kuk and the members of the Public and Private Sectors of the Land Registry Customer Liaison Group. Their comments and the Administration's response are summarized at Annex C. A paper on the Bill was issued to the Legislative Council Panel on Planning, Lands and Works in October 2000 and discussed on 4 December 2000.

BASIC LAW IMPLICATIONS

16. The Department of Justice advises that the Bill does not conflict with those provisions of the Basic Law carrying no human rights implications.

HUMAN RIGHTS IMPLICATIONS

17. The Department of Justice advises that the Bill has no human rights implications.

BINDING EFFECT OF THE LEGISLATION

18. The amendments will not affect the current binding effect of the Ordinance.

FINANCIAL AND STAFFING IMPLICATIONS

19. The IRIS will be funded by the retained earnings of the Land Registry Trading Fund. The annual operation costs of the system will be offset by savings through managing an integrated system, in particular through staff, accommodation and stationery costs. The annual staff cost saving after deletion of all the posts is estimated to be $32.7 million (at 2000-01 price level). The number of posts involved will be 19 for the Land Registration Officers grade and 67 for the clerical and secretarial grade. This estimated staff saving is expected to be achieved over a period of four years from the implementation of CRS. Professional staff will be redeployed within the Land Registry and clerical grade staff will be redeployed within the civil service. We do not anticipate that fees will need to be increased.

ECONOMIC IMPLICATIONS

20. The proposals in the Bill will improve the efficiency of the registration of property transactions and provide better quality service to the Land Registry customers.

PRODUCTIVITY

21. The proposals will enhance the productivity of the Land Registry in its core business of -

- (a) registration of instruments – a re-engineered business process with shorter processing times, perhaps reduced to six days for straight forward cases from the present average time of 20 days;
- (b) search for land records – better and easier search facility via a Chinese facility added to the land search and a colour imaging facility which produces high quality copy of plans; and
- (c) remote land search – extended service hours to 16 hours a day; seven days a week.

22. A key objective of the IRIS is to enable the Land Registry to obtain a significantly higher level of productivity, such that the Land Registry will be able to handle the workload and improve the service delivery with significantly less human resources, as identified in the Information System Strategy Study of the Land Registry completed in 1999. A substantial staff saving of 10% is expected over a period of four years upon the implementation of the CRS.

1. Property Reference Number Other than using the Property Reference Number as an alternative retrieval key of the land register, the current search system by which the properties may be searched by address or lot number must be maintained.	The Law Society	The current search system by way of address and lot number will be maintained.
2. Bar-coded Memorial Form It will be more time and cost efficient if lawyers are allowed to use their own computer printout memorial form.	The Law Society	Each memorial form has a unique bar code to secure the priority of the instruments lodged. The bar-coded memorial is also an essential means to enhance the security and the imaging quality of the new system.
3. Removal of entry of instruments withheld or temporarily withdrawn from registration (i) The Land Registry should consider to provide copies of the withheld or stopped deeds to interested parties.	(i) The Law Society	(i) As the registration of stopped deeds or deeds pending registration have not yet been completed, the stopped deeds are not public documents and the Land Registry does not have the statutory authority to make copies of the instruments or to provide copies of the instruments to the interested parties.

3. (ii) The Law Society suggested that the proposed period for the stopped deed to be pending for at least one year before the Land Registrar may remove the entry that be shortened. Heung Yee Kuk suggested that the period be reduced to 6 months and that this period may be extended on application with reasons satisfactory to the Land Registrar. (iii) The Land Registrar should have the power to vacate an entry if the deed is maliciously or mistakenly registered. (iv) The Land Registrar should provide notice to the owners and interested parties of the intended removal of the stopped deed before the Land Registrar exercises his power to remove the stopped deed.	(ii) (a) The Law Society (b) Heung Yee Kuk (iii) The Law Society (iv) The representative of the Hong Kong Society of Accountants and the representative of the Hong Kong Institute of Surveyors of the Land Registry Private Sector Customer Liaison Group	(ii) The lodging solicitors may not have sufficient time to deal with the outstanding issues or arrange for the rectification of mistakes by the parties within the shorter period or six months. One year is a reasonable period so that the lodging solicitors will have sufficient time to deal with the outstanding issues stated in the stopped deed note. (iii) The Land Registry is only a registration authority. Its staff do not have the judicial capacity to adjudicate on whether a deed is maliciously registered. If a deed is maliciously registered, the owner may apply to the Court for a Court Order to vacate the entry. (iv) This is acceptable. The Land Registry agrees to provide notice of the proposed removal of the deed to the lodging party and other affected persons.

4. Registration of Certified Copy Instruments (i) The Amendment Bill should contain provisions providing clearly what kind of certified documents are registrable and what manner of certification are satisfactory to the Land Registrar.	(i)(a) The Law Society (b) Heung Yee Kuk (c) The representative of the Hong Kong Institute of Surveyors of the Land Registry Private Sector Customer Liaison Group	(i) The Land Registry will issue a Land Registry Circular Memorandum from time to time notifying the legal practitioners and the interested bodies of the types of registrable certified copy documents and the manner of certification.

5. Identification of signing parties in the instruments The new requirement to provide the identification of the parties in the instruments may present difficulties to the parties in certain cases.	The Law Society	The Amendment Bill only provides that the identification number be provided in the instruments where practicable. If there is difficulty, the solicitors may elect not to provide the identification. It is not compulsory.
6. Deletion of names particulars in the Memorial Day Book (i) The deletion of names of parties from the Memorial Day Book may hinder the owner in searching the name of the new purchaser and instituting speedy court proceedings to protect his title under the proposed title registration system. (ii) The names of parties may provide an idea to the searcher on the nature of the instrument and should not be deleted from the Memorial Day Book	(i) Heung Yee Kuk (ii) The Law Society	(i) The Memorial Day Book is a record mainly for research and statistical purposes showing all the instruments lodged for registration on a particular day. 7. New Territories Register Cards As there may be errors in the conversion of the register cards to the computerised records, the register cards or their copies should not be destroyed and should be made available for searchers in the New Territories Land Registries.	Heung Yee Kuk	The register cards will not be destroyed and arrangements may be made to search them at the Public Records Office. Further, as all the information in the register cards has been converted and transferred to the computer register, it is unlikely that the public will have to refer to the actual register card. Moreover, the information in the register cards may be retrieved from the registered documents which have been imaged and stored in the Land Registry's computer system.
8. Lodgement of instruments in New Territories Land Registries As some of the law firms have offices in the New Territories, it is suggested that the New Territories offices of the Land Registry would also accept lodgement of instruments for registration.	The representative of the Law Society of the Land Registry Private Sector Customer Liaison Group	As the new Central Registration System will have a single queue receiving counter to guarantee priority for the lodgement of instruments, the Queensway Government Office will be the only office to accept lodgement of instruments. The New Territories law firms may still send documents by post or by courier to the Queensway Government Offices.
