Chief Executive Election Bill

Provisions of the Bill not prescribed under the Basic Law

At the Bills Committee meeting held on 28 March 2001, a member requested the Legal Service Division to prepare a paper to highlight those provisions of the Bill which are not prescribed under the Basic Law ("BL").

2. The enclosure shows the Articles of BL on the election of Chief Executive ("CE"), which correspond textually to certain provisions of the Bill.

3. By elimination, the other provisions of the Bill are not strictly prescribed under BL. Having said that there may be provisions of the Bill which do not correspond textually to certain Articles of BL but are included to reflect or implement the guiding principles under certain Articles of BL. In this respect, members may wish to seek confirmation from the Administration as to those provisions of the Bill.

4. Further, certain relevant Articles of BL are so worded that a degree of flexibility is given to the local legislature to enact electoral law on CE election. For example, paragraph 2 of BL45 provides that "[t]he method for selecting the CE shall be specified in the light of the actual situation in the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region ("HKSAR") and in accordance with the principle of gradual and orderly progress." and paragraph 3 of Annex I to BL provides that "[t]he delimitation of the various sectors, the organizations in each sector eligible to return Election Committee members and the number of such members returned by each of these organizations shall be prescribed by an electoral law enacted by the HKSAR in accordance with the principles of democracy and openness."
