Question : What are the plans of the Secretary for Constitutional Affairs to facilitate continual development of the electoral systems according to the blueprint laid down in the Basic Law and the needs of the community in 2002-03? Please provide information on the details of his plans and their respective expenditures.

Asked by : Hon. HO Sau-lan, Cyd

Reply : As part of our overall efforts to further the constitutional development of Hong Kong, we will, in 2002-03, make preparations for the 2004 Legislative Council elections. We will ensure that the electoral arrangements so formulated will be in compliance with the democratic blueprint as laid down in the Basic Law and be generally acceptable to the community at large. The preparatory work is being handled within existing resources available within the Bureau.

We will also prepare for the 2003 District Council (DC) elections. For example, we will organise a voter registration campaign in early 2003 to encourage eligible persons to sign up as electors so that they can take part in the 2003 DC elections and subsequent elections. Their involvement in the political process will be conducive to the continual development of our electoral system. The Registration and Electoral Office has set aside $19.49 million for the voter registration exercise and $20.8 million for the preparatory work in 2002-03 for the 2003 DC elections.

Question :

In respect of further enhancement of our working relationship with the Hong Kong and Macao Affairs Office (HKMAO) of the State Council and the Office of the Commissioner of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in HKSAR (MFA Office), how many official exchanges between CAB and HKMAO and MFA Office were organized in 2000 and 2001 respectively? What is the topic of discussion of the respective exchanges?

Asked by : Hon. HO Sau-lan, Cyd

Reply :

CAB works closely with HKMAO to cultivate and maintain a constructive working relationship between the HKSAR Government and the Central People's Government (CPG) and other Mainland authorities. These official exchanges are in the form of telephone discussions, correspondence and meetings. In 2000 and 2001, in addition to exchanges by correspondence or telephone, we had six meetings with HKMAO. Subjects discussed include the following broad areas -

- (a) the working relationship between the HKSAR Government and the CPG;
- (b) liaison channels between policy bureaux and departments of the HKSARG and their counterparts on the Mainland;

- (c) matters relating to the interface between the CE election and the appointment of the CE by the CPG;
- (d) the mechanism for amending the Basic Law;
- (e) matters relating to “Home Visit Permits”; and
- (f) visits to the HKSAR by the CPG and provincial/municipal officials.

2. CAB maintains frequent contact with the MFA Office regarding HKSAR’s external affairs and foreign affairs relating to the HKSAR. Such contacts take the form of written correspondence, telephone discussions and meetings. No detailed statistics are kept on such contacts. Matters discussed include -

- (a) the negotiation and conclusion of international agreements between the HKSAR Government and foreign governments;
- (b) the implementation of the PRC’s international obligations applicable to the HKSAR;
- (c) the HKSAR’s participation in international organisations and conferences; and
- (d) the establishment of consular missions and other consular matters.

Question: The promotion of the Basic Law has been listed in the section "Matters Requiring Special Attention" in the past three years. Please advise this Council –

- (a) are there any assessments on the effectiveness of the promotional efforts in the past three years? If yes, what are the details? Does public understanding of the Basic Law increase progressively with years?
- (b) apart from launching a TV-based publicity campaign in the coming year, are there other programmes intended for the purpose of enhancing public understanding and awareness of the provisions of the Basic Law? What are the details of these programmes and their respective expenditures?

Asked by: Hon. IP Kwok-him

Reply:

- (a) CAB conducted an opinion survey in 1999 and in 2000 to assess public awareness of the Basic Law, the sources from which the public obtained information about the Basic Law, the effectiveness of past promotional efforts, and to find out how best to promote the Basic Law.

The 1999 survey showed that about 78% of the general public were aware of the Basic Law. As for the specific target groups of students, teachers and civil servants, the percentages were 88%, 100% and 97% respectively. The 2000 survey revealed that 79% of the general public were aware of the Basic Law. The percentages regarding the three specific target groups were 80%, 100% and 100% respectively. The two surveys showed that there was a slight increase in the level of awareness among the general public, i.e. from 78% to 79%, from 1999 to 2000, and that almost all the teachers and civil servants who had responded indicated that they were aware of the Basic Law. There was however a drop in the student segment, from 88% to 80%. Action has been taken to give students a better understanding of the Basic Law by incorporating suitable materials in the curriculum and producing educational TV programmes, etc.

CAB intends to conduct another survey in the second half of 2002. The objectives of this survey will be the same as those of the previous two surveys and will evaluate, in particular, the effectiveness of the Basic Law publicity campaign undertaken by CAB.

- (b) The Basic Law publicity campaign undertaken by CAB is a one-off exercise to supplement the on-going efforts of various government bureaux and departments, as well as non-government organizations, to promote the Basic Law in the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region. Such efforts include the organization of seminars, symposiums, debates, workshops, exhibitions, carnivals, competitions such as webpage and computer screensaver design, game set design and singing competitions, and the production of publicity items, e.g. posters, souvenirs, pamphlets, etc. As the bureaux and departments concerned are still working out promotional plans for 2002-03, the relevant expenditure estimates are not yet available.

- (a) on the work programme for 2002-03 and the detailed breakdown of expenditure involved;
- (b) will the government conduct public consultation on the implementation of (a) above?
- (c) if the answer for (b) is yes, please provide information on the timetable and the detailed breakdown of expenditure;
- (d) if no, why?

Asked by: Hon. Ip Kwok-him

Reply: In 2002-03, we will continue to study the operational and legal problems associated with automatic voter registration. The study is being handled within existing resources available within the Bureau.

After we have worked out the detailed proposals, we will consult the Legislative Council Panel on Constitutional Affairs.

Question: According to the section on "Matters Requiring Special Attention in 2002-03", the Bureau will provide support in working out the detailed arrangement under the proposed accountability system. Please advise this Council –

- (a) on the details of the work programme;
- (b) on the detailed breakdown of expenditure;
- (c) will the Bureau monitor the implementation of the system to ensure that it conforms to the Basic Law? If yes, what are the details? If no, what are the reasons?

Asked by: Hon. IP Kwok-him

- Reply:
- (a) As we expect to implement the accountability system on 1 July 2002, the preparatory work remaining to be completed includes preparing the employment contract, working out the remuneration package, employment conditions and the code of practice.
  - (b) The expenditure involved in providing support in working out the detailed arrangements under the accountability system involves the salaries of a Deputy Secretary, a Principal Assistant Secretary, an Assistant Secretary and other non-directorate supporting staff, some of whom are working on this in parallel with other duties.
  - (c) In working out details relating to the accountability system, we have closely consulted the Department of Justice to ensure that the new arrangements are consistent with the Basic Law.

Question :

Please advise this Council –

- (a) on the breakdown of items on which this Bureau has advised other policy bureaux and departments regarding the implementation of the Basic Law in the past two years; and
- (b) on the financial provision and work programme for 2002-03 in relation to (a).

Asked by : Hon. IP Kwok-him

Reply :

- (a) The HKSAR Government has the responsibility to ensure the full and faithful implementation of the Basic Law. One of the main responsibilities of CAB is to advise other policy bureaux and departments on the implementation of the Basic Law. Since reunification, we have played a co-ordinating and advisory role in matters relating to the implementation of the Basic Law. We have to ensure that various Basic Law requirements are fully met. In 2000 and 2001, we have given advice to other policy bureaux and departments in the following areas -
  - (i) the Basic Law requirements relating to the relations between the Central authorities and the HKSAR;

- (ii) the application of national laws to the HKSAR;
  - (iii) the negotiation and conclusion of international agreements between the HKSAR Government and foreign governments in accordance with the Basic Law;
  - (iv) the implementation of the PRC's international obligations applicable to the HKSAR;
  - (v) the HKSAR's participation in international organisations and conferences under the Basic Law;
  - (vi) the establishment of consular missions and other consular matters in accordance with the Basic Law;
  - (vii) matters relating to the new constitutional order of the HKSAR provided for in the Basic Law; and
  - (viii) the promotion of the Basic Law locally and overseas.
- (b) These responsibilities will be discharged within the financial provision available to the Bureau for 2002-03.

Question: Provision for 2002-03 is 7.8% lower than the revised estimate of the previous year. Why does the staff establishment remain unchanged instead of making a corresponding reduction?

Asked by: Hon. LAU Hon-chuen, Ambrose

Reply:

The financial provision for 2002-03 is 7.8% lower than the revised estimate for the previous year. This is mainly due to an anticipated decrease in capital expenditure. Staffing resources of this Bureau are already stringent and we cannot make any reduction in 2002-03.

What are the details of the work and expenditure involved?

Asked by: Hon. LAU Hon-chuen, Ambrose

Reply:

In 2002-03, we will further enhance our working relationship with the HKMAO and the MFA Office in the HKSAR. For example, we will arrange for officials of the HKMAO and the MFA in Beijing to visit the HKSAR to obtain first-hand information about the economic, political and social developments in Hong Kong and to exchange views on matters of mutual interest. For newly arrived officials of the MFA Office in the HKSAR, we will give them briefings to apprise them of developments in Hong Kong and arrange district visits for them to see the daily life of the man in the street and how various social services are provided at district level. These activities will be carried out within the financial provision available to the Bureau for 2002-03. The estimated expenditure of the visits of the HKMAO and MFA officials is about $170,000.

Question: It is said in the section "Matters Requiring Special Attention in 2002-03" that the bureau will implement measures to use more technology to improve the electoral arrangements. What are the savings in manpower and expenses thus achieved?

Asked by: Hon. LAU Hon-chuen, Ambrose

Reply: As part of our efforts to improve the electoral arrangements through the use of more technology, Registration and Electoral Office (REO) will develop a new computer system to replace its existing Electoral and Registration System in 2002-03. This project was approved by the Finance Committee (FC) of the Legislative Council in January 2002.

The new system, scheduled for completion in end 2003, will be used for preparing the 2004 Legislative Council elections. It will bring about considerable service and efficiency improvements that include higher capacity to handle the growth in the electorate size, automating the delineation of constituency boundaries, and enabling bilingual storage and processing of electors' records.

Question: As regards the Non-recurrent of the Constitutional Affairs Bureau, why is it that the expenditure in the revised estimate for 2001-02 is much higher than that of the approved estimate of the same year and the estimate for 2002-03? What items of work are involved?

Asked by: Hon. TIEN Pei-chun, James

Reply:

As regards the General other non-recurrent items of the Constitutional Affairs Bureau, the expenditure in the revised estimate for 2001-02 is much higher than that of the approved estimate of the same year. This is mainly due to the creation of a capital account item for Consultancy study on remuneration package for principal officials appointed under the new accountability system in mid-2001. The expenditure in the estimate for 2002-03 is much lower than the revised estimate 2001-02 because of the reduction in cash flow requirement for the following items of work :

- (i) Promotion of Basic Law;
- (ii) Basic Law publicity campaign; and
- (iii) Consultancy study on remuneration package for principal officials appointed under the new accountability system.

Asked by: Hon. TIEN Pei-chun, James

Reply:

The $10m under item 001 “Promotion of the Basic Law” was a one-off allocation. The Basic Law Promotion Steering Committee (BLPSC) was responsible for allocating the money to various government bureaux and departments and local community organizations to organize activities to promote the Basic Law.

Item 004 “Basic Law publicity campaign” is a campaign undertaken by CAB in 2001/02 and 2002/03 to introduce various provisions of the Basic Law to the local community, mainly by producing television clips. This campaign is carried out by CAB staff who are responsible for, amongst other things, overseeing the promotion of the Basic Law and providing secretariat support to the BLPSC.

- (a) When will the remuneration study for the principal officials under the proposed accountability system be completed? Has the government earmarked financial provisions for appointment of principal officials under the proposed accountability system?
- (b) After the launching of the proposed accountability system, what will be the change of the existing establishment of the senior government officials? How much of the estimated expenditure can be reduced or increased in 2002-03?

Asked by: Hon. Margaret NG

Reply: (a) The consultancy study on the remuneration package for principal officials appointed under the new accountability system is about to be completed. We will inform Members of the findings of the study as we brief Members on the detailed arrangements relating to the new accountability system.

We have not earmarked any financial provisions for appointment of principal officials under the proposed accountability system under Head 144. We will deploy funds under Head 106: Miscellaneous Services, Subhead 251: Additional commitments to meet the necessary costs.

- (b) How the existing establishment of senior government officials will change and whether the estimated expenditure in 2002-03 will be reduced or increased would depend on the detailed arrangements relating to the accountability system. As explained in (a) above, the new accountability system is about to be completed. - (a) For the preparation of the 2003 District Council elections, a total of $40.29 million has been included in the 2002-03 draft Estimates, of which $10.33 million is for the creation of 19 temporary posts and $29.96 million for other expenses related to the preparatory work. The latter amount covers the costs of hiring non-civil service contract staff, publicity, printing, postage and other operating expenses.
- (b) The estimated non-recurrent cost of $62.5 million has been approved under Head 710 Subhead A007ZV for the development of a New Electoral and Registration System, by the Finance Committee of the Legislative Council on 11 January 2002. In addition, $3.92 million has also been approved for the creation of two time-limited posts from 2002-03 to 2003-04 for coordinating user requirements and supporting system development.

As the new system is scheduled for completion in end 2003, it would not be able to support the 2003 District Council elections. It will be used for preparing the 2004 Legislative Council elections. The new system will bring about considerable service and efficiency improvements that include higher capacity to handle the growth in electorate size, automating the delineation of constituency boundaries, and enabling bilingual storage and processing of electors' records.

- (c) The Electoral Affairs Commission plans to consult the public on its proposed constituency boundaries for the 2003 District Council elections in early September 2002. The consultation period will last 30 days. About $4.22 million has been set aside for the purpose.
