Legislative Proposals to Implement the Convention on the Safety of United Nations and Associated Personnel

Purpose

This paper sets out the legislative proposals to implement the Convention on the Safety of United Nations and Associated Personnel (the Convention).

Background

2. The Convention was adopted by the United Nations General Assembly on 9 December 1994 at its 49th session and entered into force on 15 January 1999. Its objective is to ensure the safety and security of United Nations and associated personnel by requiring State Parties to take all necessary measures to protect United Nations and associated personnel by establishing criminal offences punishable by appropriate penalties, and by cooperating in the prevention of such crimes and in providing assistance to one another in connection with criminal proceedings. A copy of the Convention is attached at the Annex.

3. As of September 2005, 79 countries have ratified/accepted/acceded to the Convention. In accordance with Article 27 of the Convention, the Convention entered into force for China, including Hong Kong, on 22 October 2004.

4. Hong Kong's existing administrative measures and legislation can already comply with the majority of the requirements of the Convention. However, the provision on the privileges and immunities to be accorded to the United Nations and associated personnel (Article 8 of the Convention); the requirement on each State Party to establish extra-territorial jurisdiction over the crimes proscribed by the Convention when the alleged offender is a national of that State (Article 10(1)(b) of the Convention); and the extradition-related provisions (Articles 13(1) and 15 of the Convention) would need to be implemented by new legislative measures.

The Proposals

Article 8 of the Convention

5. Article 8 of the Convention specifically provides that if United Nations and associated personnel are captured or detained in the course of the performance of their duties, they shall not be subjected to interrogation and they shall be promptly released and returned to the United Nations or other appropriate authorities. A new legislative provision will be required to give effect to the requirement under this Article. We therefore propose to make an Order under section 3 of the International Organizations (Privileges and Immunities) Ordinance (Cap. 558), to provide that Article 8 of the Convention shall have the force of law in Hong Kong.

Article 10(1)(b) of the Convention

6. Article 10(1)(b) of the Convention requires each State Party to take such measures as may be necessary to establish its jurisdiction over the following crimes specified in Article 9(1) when the alleged offender is a national of that State –

“The intentional commission of:

- (a) A murder, kidnapping or other attack upon the person or liberty of any United Nations or associated personnel;
- (b) A violent attack upon the official premises, the private accommodation or the means of transportation of any United Nations or associated personnel likely to endanger his or her person or liberty;
- (c) A threat to commit any such attack with the objective of compelling a physical or juridical person to do or to refrain from doing any act;
- (d) An attempt to commit any such attack; and
- (e) An act constituting participation as an accomplice in any such attack, or in an attempt to commit such attack, or in organizing or ordering others to commit such attack.”

7. Currently, the general criminal offences stipulated under the Crimes Ordinance (Cap. 200), the Offences against the Person Ordinance (Cap. 212) and the Criminal Procedure Ordinance (Cap. 221) as well as common law can already deal with the above crimes when committed in Hong Kong, irrespective of the nationality of the offenders. To give effect to the extra-territoriality over nationals under Article 10(1)(b) of the Convention, we propose drawing up a new piece of legislation to establish extra-territorial jurisdiction over Chinese nationals who are Hong Kong permanent residents. Specifically, the new Bill will provide that any person who is both a Hong Kong permanent resident and a Chinese national, when outside Hong Kong, intentionally commits an act to any United Nations or associated personnel as proscribed by Article 9 of the Convention and hence (such an act if committed in Hong Kong) would be in contravention of the relevant criminal offences under Cap. 200 or Cap. 212, commits an offence. The offender shall be punished in the same manner as if the offence is committed in Hong Kong.

Articles 13(1) and 15 of the Convention

8. Articles 13(1) and 15 of the Convention require taking measures to extradite to another State Party offenders who have committed the crimes set out in the Convention. To this end, an Order needs to be prepared under section 3(1) of the Fugitive Offenders Ordinance (Cap. 503) to direct that the procedures in Cap. 503 shall apply as between Hong Kong and the places outside Hong Kong to which the Convention relates.

Way Forward

9. We plan to introduce the Bill as mentioned in paragraph 7 above into the Legislative Council in the second half of the 2005/2006 legislative session. The Orders as mentioned in paragraphs 5 and 8 will also be submitted in draft for the Council’s scrutiny at the same time.
