Commerce and Economic Development replied to an oral question raised by the Hon CHEUNG Man-kwong in relation to the above provision.

Some Panel members noted with concern that according to the press coverage, the Administration has selectively enforced the above provision in the sense that only a few, but not all, persons suspected of having been involved in illegal broadcasting and breaching the provision have been prosecuted. As such, the Panel would like the Administration to brief members on the prevailing policies relating to the regulation of radio broadcasting and the use of radiocommunications apparatus for the purpose of radio broadcasting. Panel members requested that a notice inviting submissions on the subject be posted on the LegCo website, and that the Secretary for Justice and representatives of Citizens' Radio be invited to attend the meeting.

The Panel requested the Administration to target the completion of the five transmission stations under Phase II to achieve 75% digital coverage before the 2008 Beijing Olympics in August 2008, and to consider using part of the $150 million allocated for the publicity and promotion of the 2008 Olympic Games to expedite the roll-out of transmission network to achieve close to 99% digital coverage by the 2008 Beijing Olympics. Members also called on the Government to relax the regulatory restrictions on the use of commercial programmes for the DTT soft launch, allowing the two free television broadcasters to use more entertaining programmes for their four existing analogue programme channels during the soft launch.

Proposed by Hon Albert CHAN. At the meetings on 12 October 2006, 16 October and 12 November 2007, Hon Albert CHAN expressed concern that under the existing policy guidelines, domestic free television programme service licensees would normally be exempted from serving those areas where the populations affected by poor television reception were below 2 000 persons within an area of a radius of three kilometers and as such, the services are not made available to some villages with populations of about 500 persons. He was also concerned that some areas on Lantau Island still have no pay television services coverage.

In the light of technological and market convergence in the electronic communications sector, the boundaries between telecommunications, broadcasting and information technology are blurring.
