Head: 151 Government Secretariat                      Subhead (No. & title):
Security Bureau

Programme: (2) Internal Security

Controlling Officer: Permanent Secretary for Security

Director of Bureau: Secretary for Security

Question:

At the request of Hon CHAN Hak-kan, the Secretary for Security undertook to look into the matter whether and if so social workers were restricted from performing anti-drug abuse work at the boundary control points, and to provide a written reponse after the meeting.

Asked by : Hon.Chan Hak-kan

Reply :

In view of the increasing cross boundary activities, the six land boundary control points (BCPs) are very busy on a daily basis. According to the Immigration Department, the daily average of passenger and vehicular throughput at the BCPs in 2008 were around 450 thousands and over 40 thousands respectively. Except Shenzhen Bay Port and Lok Ma Chau Spur Line, the BCPs have reached their maximum passenger capacity.

A number of law enforcement agencies and government departments work together to ensure the smooth operation and effective management of the BCPs. Among other things, security and operational efficiency to facilitate the cross-boundary traffic and safety of users cannot be compromised. Except for the purpose of crossing the boundary, access to BCPs is tightly controlled by the Police through the issuance of Closed Area Permits on a need basis.

The Administration attaches great importance to curbing the cross-boundary drug abuse problem, and preventive education and publicity is a major part of our efforts. Apart from sustained anti-drug publicity targeting northbound passengers, we also work with non-governmental organisations (NGO) in a focused manner as far as effective operations of BCPs permit. Recent examples include -

- (1) the Police (Border District), working with District Fight Crime Committees and the Action Committee Against Narcotics, have engaged suitable NGO to take part in anti-drug abuse campaigns at selected BCP, particularly before and during long holidays, including distribution of leaflets and provision of counselling services; and
- (2) the Narcotics Division, through the Beat Drugs Fund, has sponsored NGO to set up anti-drug booths at selected BCP in the weekend on Saturday night and on the eve of public holidays from December 2008 to August 2009.

We would also consider collaboration opportunities with more NGO, taking into account individual merits of the proposed initiatives and the safe and efficient operations of BCP.

- (2) What are the duties of the Lecturer and Assistant Lecturer stated in the reply to SB039? What is the content of teaching? Why are such posts required for counter-terrorism duties?

Asked by: Hon. TO Kun-sun, James

Reply:

- (1) In the financial year 2009-10, the Police Force will create 100 additional posts for pursuing counter-terrorism duties:

The new Lecturer post is created mainly for designing and teaching the mechanics course in the MAR PTS as well as serving as the examiner of the course. Head: 122 - Hong Kong Police Force      Subhead (No. & title):

Programme: 12204 - Operations

Controlling Officer: Commissioner of Police

Director of Bureau: Secretary for Security

Question:

At the request of Hon. James TO, the Commissioner of Police was requested to provide the following information:

- (a) the number of existing posts assigned for performing counter-terrorism duties and details of such duties; and
- (b) whether the creation of 103 additional posts under the Programme "12204 - Operations" was a replacement of the existing posts responsible for counter-terrorism duties; if not, the reasons for that.

Asked by: Hon. TO Kun-sun, James

Reply:

- (a) As police officers in various formations of the Force are involved, to varying degrees, in counter-terrorism duties, we do not have any specific statistics on the number of posts responsible for counter-terrorism duties. The counter-terrorism duties borne by different formations are categorised below:
  - i. Enhancing co-operation with the Mainland, Macao and overseas governments and law enforcement agencies to monitor global trends and ensure a proper exchange of intelligence and threat assessments – The work is handled by different formations within the Force, mainly the Crime Wing, the Operations Wing, the Security Wing etc.
  - ii. Maintaining vigilance at points of entry and conducting security operations at land, sea and air boundaries based on the prevailing threat levels – The work involves officers from New Territories North Region, Border District, Marine Region and Airport District.
  - iii. When implementing counter-terrorism contingency plans, officers from various formations such as the Police Tactical Unit, the Emergency Unit and other relevant units will participate.

- iv. Disseminating timely threat assessments and provide protection to premises, facilities and individuals which may be under threat, having regard to the then prevailing threat level – Apart from the Security Wing, this task has always involved a majority of front-line officers from various regions and districts.
  - v. Promoting Force and community awareness in combating terrorist activities – The Hong Kong Police College is responsible for providing relevant training to front-line officers while formations of various districts will enhance public awareness of counter-terrorism through different community networks.
- (b) In the financial year 2009-10, the Police Force will create 103 posts under the Programme “Operations”, with 100 of them taking up counter-terrorism duties. The remaining 3 posts are not related to counter-terrorism work. The new posts created for counter-terrorism duties will be responsible for the following work: formulating counter-terrorism strategies, co-ordinating the liaison with international law enforcement agencies regarding counter-terrorism, analysing and assessing counter-terrorism intelligence, providing support to the specialised operational units (such as the Special Duties Unit and the Airport Security Unit), strengthening the responsiveness towards incidents of disposal of explosive devices or threats, and conducting researches and training. These posts will not replace the existing ones responsible for counter-terrorism duties.
