

Open-air Bazaars

“Open-air bazaar” is not a defined term in our legislation. Apart from Hawker Permitted Places (such as those in Tung Choi Street, Tai Yuen Street and Apliu Street) where licensed fixed hawker pitches concentrate, there are many other forms of open-air bazaars. Depending on the circumstances of each case, stall operators may have to obtain the required licences or permits, including Temporary Food Factory Licence, Temporary Places of Entertainment Licence, Frozen Confection Permit, etc. Below are some examples of open-air bazaars for Members’ reference.

1. Open-air bazaars organised by community groups and co-organised by Government departments

(a) Wong Tai Sin Dragon Market (2002)

- ◆ Jointly-organised by Wong Tai Sin District Council (DC), Lok Kwan Social Service (a non-profit-making charitable organisation), Employees Retraining Board, Hong Kong Federation of Trade Unions and Home Affairs Department (HAD).
- ◆ Held in the open space next to Wong Tai Sin Temple under a short-term tenancy for about three months.
- ◆ Featured stalls selling general merchandise and cooked food with entertainment performances on weekends and Sundays as public appeal.
- ◆ Lok Kwan Social Service provided assistance in the operation of the stalls on a non-profit making basis with a view to providing job opportunities to the unemployed and encouraging them to face adversities with a positive attitude.
