

Dear Sir / Madam

Re: Against the new Domestic Violence Ordinance including people of the same sex living together

I am writing to disagree about the coming new edition of Domestic Violence Ordinance which includes protecting the people of the same sex living together.

First, this gives the public a false impression of homosexuality is already a form of marriage.

Second, as a parent & a teacher, everyone should be respected. But it does not mean people of the same sex can be regarded as a couple of what we have believed for generations. Certainly I do not want to see a man called wife; a woman called husband. They should not be protected by the Domestic Violence Ordinance. Instead, should be protected by Violence Ordinance only.

Yours faithfully
Willy Chan
CHAN WAI TIK