Ms. Linda Lai, Deputy Secretary for Commerce & Economic Development
(Commerce and Industry)¹

Dear Miss. Linda Lai,

Happy New Year !

I am writing to you that I am supporting the establishment of the Competition Law in Hongkong in a fair and rational manner. Meanwhile, I am supporting that The Trade Development Council should be excluded from the Competition Law.

Being one of the medium business enterprises in Hong Kong, we have joined numerous exhibitions organized by The Trade Development Council and others. We understand that the objective of TDC is not profit making. Her role is to assist Hong Kong companies to expand our business at reasonable charges with professional services. This will definitely help to improve the economy and the employment rate of Hong Kong. TDC is not competing with other companies. She is helping Hong Kong economy.

Business needs vision. TDC always organizes exhibitions for up-coming products and up-coming markets, which, of course, will bring immediate results. TDC, with her balanced strategy, is the only organizer in Hong Kong assisting us to grow our future business.

Trade is one of the most important industries in Hong Kong especially for our employment. We need our own non profit making Trade development Council organizing different exhibitions for our own benefit both in good days and difficult time. It is not a competition of the exhibition industry. It is a tool to develop our economy. It should not be included in the normal Competition Law. It is just the same that we do not want to bring competition to run our air-port in case it is being managed efficiently.

Your kind consideration to the above will be highly appreciated.

Hoping you a healthy and prosperous new year,

Best wishes,

Anthony Keung
