For InformationLegislative Council Joint Panels on Home Affairs and Education – Supplementary Information on Schools using major public sports facilities

At the meeting of the Joint Panels on Home Affairs and Education held on 13 May 2011, Members discussed the paper “Promotion of Sport in Schools” (LC Paper No.: CB(2)1700/10-11(3)). Members noted that the number of hours that schools used public sports facilities had declined between 2008-09 and 2010-11, and asked for information on –

- (a) the reasons for the decrease in the total number of hours that schools used public sports facilities during the period; and
- (b) a breakdown of the hours of schools’ use of facilities by district.

Possible factors contributing to the decrease in the number of hours that schools used public sports facilities between 2008-09 and 2010-11

2. The extent to which schools use public sports facilities depends on their specific needs and circumstances. We cannot pinpoint with certainty the precise reasons for an increase or decrease in their facilities use. We have nonetheless identified factors that may have had an impact on the extent of schools’ use of public sports facilities between 2008-09 and 2010-11. These factors are –

- (a) A decrease in the total number of primary and secondary school students between 2008-09 and 2010-11

Primary and secondary day school students account for over 99% of the total number of students in day schools in Hong Kong. Between 2008-09 and 2010-11, the number of students enrolled in day schools decreased – there was a 10% reduction in the number of primary school students (from 365 056 to 331 112), and 6% in the number of secondary schools students (from 478 173 to 449 737). With fewer students, the demand for sports facilities by schools is likely to decline.

- (b) A decrease in the number of day schools in Hong Kong between 2008-09 and 2010-11

As well as a reduction in the number of students, there was a decrease of 23 day schools in Hong Kong between 2008-09 and 2010-11. In districts where more day schools closed, we note a corresponding trend in the decrease in the number of hours that schools used sports facilities (especially for indoor sports centres). These districts include Tai Po, Sha Tin, Tuen Mun and Wan Chai.

(c) An increase in the number of schools opening their facilities for sports activities.

The Government encourages schools to open their facilities after school hours to other schools for training and competitions. The number of schools that open their facilities to use by other schools has increased from 22 in 2007 to 61 in 2011. This arrangement has increased the number of options schools have for organising sports activities for students and may have reduced their reliance on Leisure and Cultural Services Department (LCSD) sports facilities.

(d) An increase in the closure of LCSD's sports facilities for maintenance in 2010-11

As several public sports facilities were used as competition venues for the Hong Kong 2009 East Asian Games, many other facilities that were due to be closed for maintenance and refurbishment around the games period remained open, and the refurbishment works were postponed to 2010-11, when 14 LCSD sports facilities were closed from about 3 weeks to 5 months (see the list at Annex I) at different times of the year. Their closure may have contributed to the decrease in the number of hours that schools used such facilities in 2010-11, as fewer sessions were available for booking.

Breakdown of hours of schools' use of facilities by district

3. The breakdown of the number of total hours of schools' use of sports facilities by the 18 districts is set out at Annexes II and III. There was an overall increase in the use of sports facilities by schools in a few districts, however, in most districts there was a reduction in the number of hours that schools used public sports facilities. The usage rates for some specific facilities in individual districts fluctuated significantly over the period in question, and we will work in greater depth into the possible reasons for this.

Conclusion

4. We will continue to encourage schools to book and use public sports facilities by taking measures such as allowing priority booking by schools and free use of facilities by schools at non-peak hours¹. We will continue to provide new sports facilities and improve schools-oriented sports promotion programmes with the aim of ensuring that every school child has the opportunity to play sport, in line with our policy for promoting sport in the community.

¹ Schools can reserve facilities one school year in advance for the period from September to mid-July of the following year. This priority booking arrangement applies during normal schools hours, i.e., from 7:00 am to 5:00 pm on weekdays and 7:00 am to 1:00 pm on Saturdays. For swimming pools the arrangement generally applies to the period from 8:00 am to 6:00 pm on weekdays and 8:00 am to 1:00 pm on

Saturdays. Schools are also allowed to use specified facilities free of charge from opening to 5:00 pm on weekdays between 1 September and 30 June of the following year.
