West Kowloon Reclamation Concept Plan Competition

I write with much pleasure to invite you to become a member of the Technical Panel for the West Kowloon Reclamation Concept Plan Competition.

The Competition invites conceptual proposals for the development of a prominent waterfront area of 40 hectares at the West Kowloon Reclamation in Hong Kong into an integrated arts, cultural and entertainment district. The objective is, through the development, to enhance Hong Kong's position as Asia's premiere centre of arts, culture and entertainment and create a new look for Victoria Harbour. The winning proposals should be aesthetically attractive, functional, broadly feasible and in compliance with the Government's policy objectives in promoting arts and culture.

We plan to launch the Competition in early April 2001 and allow 6 months for participants to prepare the submissions. Submissions will be adjudicated by a ten-member Jury comprising prominent experts from within and outside Hong Kong, to be chaired by Lord Rothschild, who is a jury member of the Pritzker Architecture Prize, regarded as one of the leading international prizes for architecture.

The Jury will be assisted by a Technical Panel, whose main role is to provide advice on technical assessments on individual submissions. The Technical Panel will be made up of 10 members, chaired by the Director of Planning, and include experts in the relevant fields and a number of government officials.

With your expert input, I am confident that the Technically Panel will provide top-notch technical assessments to facilitate the work of the Jury.

I understand that Mr. P. L. Po, the Government's Competition Coordinator, has been in touch with you on details of the Competition. I look forward to your acceptance of this invitation.

Yours sincerely,
