Dear Mr. Lee

Proposal by Judiciary: Consultation Paper on the Administration of Justice (Miscellaneous Provisions Bill

Thank you for your letter dated 27 March 2013.

The Bar Council has reviewed the proposals in the Administration of Justice (Miscellaneous Provisions) Bill. Our comments are as follows:

Proposal 1: rationalising the calculation of qualifying experience for the appointment of Magistrates. The Bar supports this proposal.

Proposal 2: a proposal which would permit a judge of the District Court to hand down his Reasons for Verdict rather than read it out. We support this proposal subject to the following observations. Long experience reveals that in large cases reading out of Reasons for Verdict can take 2 and possibly 3 days. This proposal will go a long way towards achieving the stated policy aims of saving of court and professional time. However, the public reading of reasons has a number of important features including enabling the accused person to hear the reasons why he or she is acquitted or convicted. Equally there is a public process to be gone through so that the community knows the reasons why the accused person is acquitted or convicted. Accordingly, we think that either by practice direction or some other means it would be highly desirable, where this expedient of handing down reasons for verdict is adopted, that the accused and his or her representatives be given time to read, understand and digest the reasons in order to prepare for consequential hearings such as (where the verdict is guilty) the sentence hearing or (where the verdict is not guilty) applications for costs and the like. It need hardly be said that such consequential proceedings may depend very heavily on what is said in the Reasons for Verdict. The other dimension is the public nature of proceedings and there must be steps to ensure that the Reasons for Verdict are publicly available as soon as possible after the verdict is announced court.

Proposal 3: a proposal to amend the provisions of Part IIIA of the Criminal Procedure Ordinance, Cap 221 to widen scope of taking evidence by live television link. We support the proposal.

Proposal 4: a proposal to improve/provide the legal basis for the administration of suitors' funds at various levels of courts and tribunals, and enhancement of the detailed rules across-the-board as a second step later. We have no comment on this proposal.

Proposal 5: a proposal to improve the operation of the Labour Tribunal. We support the proposal.

Yours sincerely,
