Dear Sir

I am Vincent Ng, want to express my opinion that the ivory trading is allowing from past decades. We noted the need to protect the illegal ivory. But this two issue is totally unrelated. First, we can through education to teach people to stop damage the ivory. I think this already very successful in past years, many young generation people know the importance of it. Therefore, we should not be forbidden the trading.

Forbid the trading just bring a lot of damages to Hong Kong. For example, it damages the name of the free port and well known of good protection of private asset.

Yours sincerely

Vincent
