Dear Sir,

I write to voice my opinion about the problem of illegal ivory trade around the world, especially in Hong Kong. Ivory is illegally smuggled all over Hong Kong and it's not fair. Rhino's and Elephants would be part of our history books unless the Hong Kong Government takes the initiative to stop this problem. I was inspired by watching the documentary called "The Ivory Game". What shocked me most was Hong Kong was heavily linked with the illegal trafficking of Ivory. What concerns me most is that the appalling death of another animal shouldn't be part of our benefits. The documentary shows how Elephants are killed by poachers year after year, and that has to stop.

Yours Faithfully,
