

Elephants ivory trade
Vihaan VAJPAYEE to: bc_06_16

29/08/2017 15:13

Dear Legco members,

Hello, I am a south island school student This is about the ivory trade in HK. You should not compensate the traders as this will you a lot of money and the traders might get more illegal ivory since you are giving them money they will take advantage so why don't you ban ivory immediately so that no more ivory will be traded. I believe this is the right thing to do since many elephants are dying and are going extinct. So please end this trade as it will increase poaching and a higher chance for elephants to get extinct and compensating will just use up more money and give traders money they don't even deserve. So if you take away all the ivory then their businesses will run out and therefore will decrease poaching. So please stop compensating the traders as it will just make them trade more ivory.