ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE ON LEGAL EDUCATION AND TRAINING

(1 January 2019 to 31 December 2019)

This is the fourteenth annual report of the Standing Committee on Legal Education and Training (“SCLET”). Section 74A of the Legal Practitioners Ordinance Cap. 159 (“Ordinance”) providing for the establishment of SCLET and its functions is at Annexure 1.

Meetings

1. SCLET met on three occasions during the reporting period from 1 January 2019 to 31 December 2019 (“Reporting Period”). Its composition is at Annexure 2.

Major Matters Dealt with by SCLET

Comprehensive Study on Legal Education and Training

2. SCLET continued to consider the Final Report of the Consultants on the Comprehensive Review of Legal Education and Training in Hong Kong. There are essentially two major outstanding issues. They concern the Law Society’s proposals for (i) the Law Society Examination (“LSE”) and (ii) the Common Entrance Examination (“CEE”).
3. The LSE is the more important. As SCLET understands it, the proposal involves the establishment by the Law Society of a taught course leading to an examination to be set by the Law Society, the satisfactory completion of which would enable the student to enter into a training contract. Rule 7 of the Trainee Solicitors Rules provides:

“7. A person may only enter into a trainee solicitor contract if he –

 - (a) has passed or received a certificate of completion or certificate of satisfactory completion as the case may be in—
 - (i) the Postgraduate Certificate in Laws and such other examination or course as the Society may require and set or approve; or
 - (ii) such other examination or course as the Society may require or approve; ...”
4. The PCLL is currently available only at the University of Hong Kong, the City University and the Chinese University of Hong Kong, and since 1995, is effectively the only route by which a person could become a trainee solicitor in Hong Kong.

5. Needless to say, the LSE, if proposed, will require careful consideration by SCLET who will be guided by considerations of public interest.
6. Up to the time of the preparation of this Report, the Law Society has not provided sufficient details of this proposal. However, they have indicated that after the proposal has been formulated, they will consult all stakeholders. SCLET await the finalisation of the proposal before expressing any concluded views.
7. The other proposal is the CEE. As the Consultants put it under “The CEE proposals so far” of the Final Report: “The design of the CEE remains, at this stage, uncertain, at least to those outwith the Law Society. The Law Society’s original position (January 2016) appeared to be that the CEE: ‘Would serve as a common assessment at the end of the PCLL and constitute the only prerequisite to entry into a training contract, would not displace the need to undertake the PCLL, but would override the need for students to complete any other PCLL assessments for professional recognition purposes’”.¹
8. It appears that the objectives of the CEE were (i) to uphold the quality of the entrants to the solicitors’ profession; (ii) to provide access to those who have the ability to qualify as a solicitor; (iii) as a regulator, the Law Society has a duty to maintain the standards of the profession and to protect public interest. On quality, it seems that one objective was to bring about “equivalency or consistency of standards between providers”.
9. However, although The Law Society’s representatives have informed SCLET that the Law Society intends to pursue CEE, they were as yet unable to share any details with us in 2019 because they have not been finalised.
10. Again SCLET will await the finalisation of the CEE proposal before expressing any concluded views.
11. For the above reasons, SCLET has not been able to finalise its consideration of the Consultants’ Report.

Bachelor of Laws (“LLB”), Juris Doctor (“JD”) and PCLL Programmes

12. SCLET continued to monitor the following legal education programmes:
 - (a) The LLB, JD and PCLL programmes of City University of Hong Kong. The reports are at Annexure 3;
 - (b) The LLB, JD and PCLL programmes of The Chinese University of Hong Kong. The reports are at Annexure 4; and
 - (c) The LLB, JD and PCLL programmes of The University of Hong Kong. The reports are at Annexure 5.

¹ See Final Report of the Consultants on Comprehensive Review of Legal Education and Training in Hong Kong, para.6.2.3.

13. A table consolidating the key statistics of the LLB, JD and PCLL programmes of the three law schools is at Annexure 6.

Conversion Examination

14. The Conversion Examination Board met on three occasions during the Reporting Period to oversee the administration of the Conversion Examination. Matters considered by the Board in the meetings and by paper circulation included the following:
 - (a) Vetting of applications for exemption from sitting the Conversion Examination;
 - (b) Review of examination results, reports of the Examiners, irregularities in the examinations;
 - (c) Review of exemptions granted to the examination subjects of Criminal Procedure and Civil Procedure;
 - (d) Appointment of examiners and reviewers;
 - (e) Fees of the Examiners;
 - (f) Scholarships granted to candidates and their eligibility;
 - (g) Review of examination schedule;
 - (h) Decisions of the Chief Examiner on the appeals against examination results;
 - (i) Review of syllabi and book lists; and
 - (j) Applications for special arrangements to sit the Conversion Examination.
15. The Conversion Examination was held twice during the Reporting Period in January and June 2019 respectively.
16. 703 and 623 candidates took part in the Conversion Examination in eight different prerequisite subjects in January and June 2019 as compared to 742 and 663 candidates respectively in the January and June 2018 Conversion Examinations.
17. The average pass rate of the subjects examined in January 2019 was 60.19% (as compared to 59.26% in the January 2018 results) and that in June 2019 was 59.52% (as compared to 60.32% in the June 2018 results).
18. The composition of the Conversion Examination Board is at Annexure 7.

Chairmanship

19. SCLET is chaired by Mr. Justice Robert Tang.

Overall position

20. Various stakeholders in the field of legal education and training contributed their views from different perspectives and the meetings of SCLET have provided a useful forum for the exchange of views on different issues.

School of Law City University of Hong Kong

Bachelor of Laws (LLB) 2019 Annual Report for Standing Committee on Legal Education and Training (January to December 2019)

This is a status report on the Bachelor of Laws (LLB) Programme offered by the School of Law (“the School”), City University of Hong Kong (CityU). The report covers the period from 1 January 2019 to 31 December 2019.

During the period of this report, the LLB Programme was offered only in full-time (UGC-funded) study mode.

1. 2019/20 Admissions

In the 2019/20 academic year, the School admitted 60 full-time LLB students in total, including:

- 41 JUPAS applicants (from HKDSE)
- 13 non-JUPAS applicants
- 6 Mainland students

1.1 JUPAS Admissions

In 2019, the School received a total of 408 qualified applications for the 2019 JUPAS entry. All students admitted through JUPAS have good English proficiency, having attained “5” or above in English Language (HKDSE).

1.2 Direct Applicants (local and international)

The School received a total of 243 non-JUPAS (including local and non-local) applications. The selection criteria include the assessment of applicants’ academic performance, personal statements and achievements in other relevant activities. In addition, they must all have achieved an IELTS overall score of “7” or above, TOEFL score of over 100 (internet-based) or 600 (paper-based) or equivalent English proficiency qualifications. The quality of applicants was generally high, with some of them being degree holders.

Admission interviews and written tests were conducted with some borderline applicants located in Hong Kong. Skype interviews were arranged for those who were in overseas.

1.3 Admission Scholarship

The School established the Admission Scholarship in 2008 to attract high quality students to enroll in the LLB Programme. The Scholarship is awarded to outstanding secondary school students who are admitted to the LLB Programme through the JUPAS and Direct Application admission channels. The maximum value of each scholarship was HK$60,000 which was increased to HK$75,000 starting for 2018 cohort.

In 2019, no LLB Year One students received the scholarship.

2. Academic Standards

As a result of financial constraints, and the university's preference for cessation of the use of External Academic Advisors (EAA), the EAA arrangements for LLB Programme has been discontinued from 2019/20 academic year onwards. Thankfully, following the positive assessments and advice given by external advisors over the years, we now feel sufficiently confident in the quality of our programmes. To maintain the academic quality of the LLB Programme, the examination papers are subjected to internal moderation.

3. Programme Structure

The LLB Programme requirement is 126 credits contributed by the core courses, Law for Professional Qualification Minor, Gateway Education courses and free electives. Students are required to take the core courses including: Legal Research and Writing, Hong Kong Legal System, Law of Contract, Law of Tort, Land Law, Constitutional Law, Administrative Law, Criminal Law, Public Law of the PRC, Private Law of the PRC, Mooting, Applied Legal Theory and Company Law.

In order to achieve a better balance between core and elective courses (including GE courses) for students in Year 2, "Applied Legal Theory" was moved from Year 2 Semester A to Year 2 Semester B.

In addition to the core courses, students must complete the Law for Professional Qualification Minor for entry to PCLL. The Minor includes the following courses: Law of Evidence, Equity and Trusts, Commercial Law, Civil Procedure and Criminal Procedure.

Students who do not wish to enter the legal profession have the option of taking other Minors such as Accountancy, Finance, Global Business, Marketing, Psychology, Languages, etc.

The School continues to bring in renowned scholars to give short one-credit electives. This again broadens the menu of electives available to LLB students.

4. Teaching and Learning

The LLB courses were redesigned in accordance with Outcome Based Teaching and Learning (OBTL). The Course Intended Learning Outcomes (CILOs) have been aligned with the Major Intended Learning Outcomes (MILOs).

The MILOs of the LLB Programme specified that upon successful completion of the Programme, students should be able:

- (1) to analytically and critically describe the main substantive/procedural laws and the legal system of Hong Kong, and also describe the principles of international law or the laws of other jurisdictions;
- (2) to describe the law and legal system of the People's Republic of China and its relation with Hong Kong's constitutional set-up and commercial future;
- (3) to apply the law to solve legal problems;
- (4) to critically evaluate the law in action and the dynamic interplay between law and other social phenomena;
- (5) to use a range of legal or intellectual skills – such as reading and interpreting cases and statutes, identifying and evaluating relevant facts, conducting independent legal research, developing and offering solutions to legal problems, using and citing relevant authorities appropriately, drafting documents, and communicating in a coherent, cogent and persuasive manner – in performing various tasks;
- (6) to act with a strong sense of ethics and with due regard to social and professional responsibilities;
- (7) to develop an attitude of inquiry and a sense of curiosity to learning and knowledge; and
- (8) to have an opportunity to make an original discovery and/ or innovation concerning the operation of the law and procedure in Hong Kong.

Following the CityU's initiative, the Discovery-Enriched Curriculum (DEC) is well- integrated into the LLB curriculum. Under the DEC, students are given opportunity to make an original discovery and/ or innovation concerning the operation of the law and procedure in Hong Kong.

2019/20 also saw the introduction of a pilot phase of co-teaching between the LLB and JD programmes for selected common courses. As the smallest (by intake) of the three Hong Kong law schools, the introduction of co-teaching of common courses is regarded by the School as a means of better securing economies of scale with limited teaching resources, particularly for some courses for which recruitment has been challenging across all common law schools. It would also allow the School to offer a greater selection of electives to both LLB and JD students than would be possible if all electives were separately taught. For example, in 2019/20 (as at Semester B, 2019/20), 17 electives were offered to LLB students as compared to 14 electives in 2018/19. The School hopes to follow up with this pilot initiative, which has been generally well received by students, with an expanded co-teaching scheme in 2020/21, which should further enhance both teaching quality and elective selection to students.

5. Assessment

The LLB courses are assessed by a combination of class participation and presentation, coursework and examination. To pass a particular course, students must obtain an aggregate mark of 40% and a minimum of 30% in each of the coursework and the examination elements of the assessment.

6. Exchange Programmes

The School has a good number of exchange programmes with foreign Universities. Exchange activities form an important element in the acquisition of both general transferable skills and legal knowledge. Students are encouraged to take part in the exchange programmes. The School has entered into agreements with overseas universities. They include: University of Amsterdam, The University of Bergen, University College Dublin in Ireland, Erasmus University Rotterdam, University of Mannheim in Germany, University of Kent, Katholieke Universiteit Leuven, University of Montreal, Nanjing University, National Chengchi University, National Taiwan University, Universidad Pontificia Comillas in Spain, Renmin University of China, Shanghai Jiaotong University, Singapore Management University, Soochow University, Sun Yat-sen University, University of Strathclyde in the U.K, etc. Most significantly, the SLW will be signing an agreement to join the Themis network of law schools, which will dramatically improve the quality of our exchange partners. Network partners include: Australian National University, Università Bocconi, Esade Law School, Freie Universität Berlin, Universiteit Maastricht, National Taiwan University, Nova School of Law of the NOVA University Lisbon, Singapore Management University, Université Paris Est Créteil Val de Marne, Universität St. Gallen, Victoria University of Wellington and Wirtschaftsuniversität Wien.

In 2019, the School received 38 exchange students from overseas jurisdictions, including Australia, Canada, China, Denmark, France, Israel, the Netherlands, New Zealand, the United Kingdom, etc. studied at the School as exchange students. The School sent out 3 LLB students to universities in Canada, France and the Netherlands.

7. Global Engagement

In order to complement the conventional semester-long exchange programmes and to produce law graduates equipped with the breadth of knowledge and skills to navigate the challenges of the globalised working environment, the School in 2007 launched the G-LEAP initially for LLB students and subsequently for JD students. The G-LEAP is a one month intensive mode programme in which students study in prestigious overseas law schools. In the summer of 2019 (during May - June 2019), 18 LLB students spent a month at the Faculty of Law, Monash University (Australia), to study a credit-bearing law course Australian Corporations Law. Similarly, 18 LLB students spent a month at University College, Oxford (United Kingdom) during July - August 2019, to study a credit-bearing law course European Competition Law and Policy.

The School has received very positive feedback from students who took part in these overseas summer programmes. In particular, students appreciate the change in learning environment and the comparative focus of the courses.

8. Legal Placements

The School has incorporated legal placements in the credit-bearing curriculum of the LLB Programme. The objective of this course is to provide students with a structured opportunity to obtain practical experience from working in law offices or in a law-related working environment. Currently, the course provides legal work experience in Hong Kong, Mainland China and overseas. In 2019, 36 students completed either a part-time or full-time legal placement across a range of diverse places (including barristers' chambers, local/international law firms, legal departments of international companies and financial institutions) in Hong Kong. Furthermore, 6 LLB students participated in the Mainland Legal Placement Programme during May - July 2019. Students received one-week training at Renmin University. Thereafter, they were attached to the local courts of major cities in China. 7 LLB students were given an opportunity to do internship and participate in the Model Universal Periodic Review (MUPR) Competition in Seoul during July – August 2019. 1 LLB student was given an internship opportunity in the UN Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights in Geneva during June – August 2019. Participation in the placement programme provides students with a structured opportunity to acquire practical experience through working in a legal working environment.

9. Mooting Competitions

The School considers mooting to be an integral part of students' legal education as it provides students with an opportunity to broaden and sharpen their advocacy skills. To this end, the School provides them with extensive training in order to participate in both internal and international mooting competitions. During the reporting period, our LLB students achieved an outstanding level of success in the following international mooting competitions.

The LLB students participated in international mooting competitions and achieved commendable results, including the following:

Our students received extensive training from experts in their fields for better preparation in the specific mooting competitions. In the academic year 2018-2019, the LLB students participated in the following international mooting competitions. The moot teams achieved outstanding results:

The 1st International Chamber of Commerce (ICC) International Commercial Mediation Competition - Hong Kong, 12-15 October 2018

- Champions

The 14th International Chamber of Commerce (ICC) International Commercial Mediation Competition - Paris, 7-13 February 2019

- Distinction for the performance of a team from a university participating in the Competition for the first time

- Second Runner Up for Werner Melis Award Best Memorandum for Respondent (3rd place from 378 teams)
- Honorable Mention for Eric E. Bergsten Award Team Orals
- Honorable Mention for Pieter Sanders Award Best Memorandum for Claimant

Participation in these competitions provides students with an opportunity to develop their advocacy skills and interact with students from other jurisdictions.

10. City University of Hong Kong Law Review

The idea behind this course is for students to work together to edit a law journal: City University of Hong Kong Law Review (CityU LR). First launched in October 2009, the CityU LR publishes two issues annually. Student editors work under the mentorship of faculty members. The work of the students has won great acclaim. Due to its immense success, editing the CityU LR is offered as an LLB law elective.

11. Conclusion

We are pleased to report the smooth and successful operation of the LLB Programme in the last year. In the near future, we are exploring more collaboration opportunities with the prestigious overseas universities to add to our student exchange arrangements. Additionally, the LLB Programme team is taking active measures to increase the number of international students.

City University of Hong Kong
Postgraduate Certificate in Laws (PCLL)
2019 Annual Report
for Standing Committee on Legal Education and Training

1. The School of Law (“SLW”) received 500 applications for its PCLL programme for the academic year 2019/2020. About 79% of the applicants selected CityU as their first choice. 239 offers were made by the SLW and eventually 212 students were admitted to the PCLL programme.

Among the successful applicants, 53 received UGC-funded places and 159 received non-UGC funded places. About 49% of those UGC-funded places were given to graduates from universities in Hong Kong.

As at 30 September 2019, there were 212 students studying in the CityU PCLL programme.

The 2019/2020 PCLL programme is comprised of 41.5% local graduates and 58.5% graduates from overseas institutions.

The following matters are noted in relation to the admissions process:

- a. The Admissions Committee began reviewing applications in March 2019 and regularly thereafter. This enabled a number of early conditional and unconditional offers to be made to academically strong applicants.
 - b. 10 applicants to whom conditional offers were made were unable to take up their place (most of them being unsuccessful in one or more of the Conversion Exam Board examinations). 16 applicants declined our offers due to personal reasons. 1 applicant’s offer was rescinded due to academic dishonesty.
 - c. No student was enrolled with a Third Class Law Degree [or equivalent]. All students enrolled attained the minimum IELTS standard.
2. Class Size

We continued to limit our small group size to around 10 students except for some of the elective courses where the number of students is over 10.

3. Assessment Regime and Outcomes

3.1 Assessment Regime

As previously reported, all assessments are taken under controlled conditions and the assessment of oral presentations continues to be videotaped as backup and for review of the first examiners' assessments. Certain courses continue to be assessed by mid-term written examinations as well as end-of-term examinations.

We have been working with the CityU e-learning team to implement online examinations for almost all courses except Chinese for Legal Practice which requires examination to be handwritten and a few courses that utilize performance-based assessments. The practice has been well received by course examiners and students alike.

3.2 Assessment Outcomes

2017/2018:

No. of students who failed to graduate from the PCLL programme:	0
No. of students who failed one or more subjects at first attempt and were required to take supplementary examinations:	35

2018/2019:

No. of students who failed to graduate from the PCLL programme:	4
No. of students who failed one or more subjects at first attempt and were required to take supplementary examinations:	55 (including 4 who failed to graduate from the PCLL)

4. Staffing

In 2018/2019, 13 full-time staff and 35 part-time staff (practitioners) taught in the PCLL programme.

In 2019/2020, 12 full-time staff and 38 part-time staff (practitioners) taught in the PCLL programme.

Many teaching staff members have taught PCLL for some time while continuing their legal practice. We are continuing our efforts to bring into our teaching team experienced practitioners in different areas of practice with a view to further strengthen the PCLL programme.

5. Curriculum

There are eleven core courses: Interlocutory Advocacy and Interviewing; Trial Advocacy; Mediation and Negotiation; Litigation Writing and Drafting; Commercial Writing and Drafting; Conveyancing Practice; Wills and Probate Practice; Corporate and Commercial Practice; Civil Litigation Practice; Criminal Litigation Practice; and Professional Conduct and Practice.

Students must also take three courses from the following seven electives: Bar Course; Foundations in Mainland Related Legal Transactions; International Arbitration Practice;

Family Law Practice; Financial Regulatory Practice; Personal Injuries Practice; and Chinese for Legal Practice.

Changes in 2018/2019 and 2019-2020 academic years

There are no major curriculum changes to be carried out in 2019/2020. The elective course "Chinese for Legal Practice" continues to be offered in 2019/2020. We aim to equip students of this course with the practical Chinese drafting and Cantonese oral advocacy skills that are often required in legal practice in Hong Kong. The course of International Mooting and Advocacy was introduced in 2019-20 to enhance the choice of elective courses and to provide an opportunity for students to take part in mooting competitions.

6. The Future

The School will relocate to a new office in the future. As we will be assigned a lower number of small-group rooms, we would still be able to provide small group rooms for small-group teaching though the rooms will no longer be dedicated to particular groups. We also plan to recruit additional qualified practitioners to teach in the programme.

We will continue to work closely with the CityU e-learning team for the implementation of online examinations and marking for all PCLL courses in the future.

7. Involvement of the Profession

We are happy to report that the profession has been very involved with the training of the CityU PCLL students. Involvement has been in the form of guest lectures and presentations on different topics; assistance in assessments; mock trials conducted in the High Court and participation in the demonstrations in various advocacy courses.

8. Conclusion

We are committed to educating and training competent lawyers to work in the Hong Kong legal market. Our focus is on the holistic development of our students. Apart from training practical skills, we instill in them the value of collaboration, the importance of ethics and the joy of community service. We are proud of our graduates, and with every graduating student, we hope that we are adding an asset to the legal community of Hong Kong.

We are also keen to develop lawyers with a global perspective given the importance of Hong Kong as a financial center and crossroads community. Thus, our courses train our students to approach problem solving from different angles and to work competently with lawyers from other jurisdictions.

We welcome input from the profession and look forward to working with all constituents to move our programme to the next level of excellence.

School of Law
City University of Hong Kong
Juris Doctor (JD)
2019 Annual Report
for Standing Committee on Legal Education and Training
(January to December 2019)

1. Background

The JD (Juris Doctor) Programme is a graduate entry law programme for applicants who have a non-law bachelor degree or an undergraduate law degree from a non-common law jurisdiction. JD graduates may enter the legal profession in Hong Kong after completing the Postgraduate Certificate in Laws (PCLL) or use the gained legal knowledge and skills in other professions.

This status report on the JD Programme at the School of Law (School) of City University of Hong Kong (CityU) covers the period from 1 January to 31 December 2019. Since the part-time JD Programme was discontinued in 2010, we only offer the full-time programme to new entrants.

2. 2019/2020 Admission

The minimum entry requirements for admission to JD is (i) a bachelor's degree in a non-law discipline, or (ii) a bachelor's degree in law from a non-common law jurisdiction obtained after at least eight semesters of full-time study. Moreover, applicants must also be proficient in English. For applicant whose entrance qualification is obtained from an institution where the medium of instruction is not English, the minimum English language proficiency requirement is:

- a TOEFL score of 600 (paper-based test) or 100 (internet-based); or
- an overall band score of 7 in IELTS with no individual score below 6.5; or
- a total of 520 in the mainland China's College English Test (Band 6).

Entry to the JD Programme has been quite competitive. The number and quality of applications has remained strong. The School received 386 applications for admission to JD in 2019-20. The School admitted 78 students in the JD Programme in 2019-20, 29.5% of whom had a postgraduate degree. The intake quality of students admitted to the JD Programme in 2019-20 has been stable. For example, around 61.5% of admitted students had either Upper Second Class Honours (or above) or a GPA of 3 (or above) or achieved 85 out of 100.

Several outreach initiatives (e.g., placing advertisements and advertorials in local newspapers and education supplements, holding an Information Talk and school's participation in the Hong Kong Law Fair every year) were taken to attract applicants from all over the world. Our applicants come from a diverse range of academic backgrounds such as accounting and finance, economics, business administration, property management, physics, chemical and biological engineering, molecular biomedical science, materials engineering, civil engineering, biotechnology, nutrition, food science, civil law, language, translation, European studies, architectural studies, psychology, sociology, criminology, social policy and administration, political science and journalism. This diversity of the JD student body enhances greatly the quality of class interactions and discussions.

In 2019, the JD Admissions Scholarship was provided to students with outstanding academic performances. The maximum number of the award is up to 7 each year.

Subsequent to students' admission to the programme, apart from formal events and orientations, a tea gathering for newly admitted students was organized. This event provided students an opportunity to know each other better and learn about various academic opportunities offered by the School.

3. Programme Structure

The JD Programme comprises a total of 72 credit units. Students have to complete the following three required courses (each worth 3 credits): Legal Systems of Hong Kong and Mainland China; Legal Methods, Research and Writing; and Jurisprudence. The remaining credits can be made up by enrolling in elective courses. The JD Programme structure allows students to take six non-PCLL required electives (worth 18 credits) assuming that they are also going to take 45 credits worth of PCLL-required courses (15 courses) as far as PCLL entry is concerned.

The JD Programme provides the necessary course requirements for admission to the PCLL Programme. Apart from the requirement concerning the required courses, students are required to complete the following courses if they wish to pursue the PCLL Programme: Law of Contract, Law of Tort, Constitutional Law, Administrative Law, Criminal Law I and II, Land Law I and II, Law of Evidence, Equity and Trusts, Company Law I and II, Commercial Law, Civil Procedure, and Criminal Procedure.

Students who do not wish to join the legal profession can still benefit from the JD Programme by choosing a range of elective courses offered by the JD, LLM and LLMArbDR Programmes. The School offers a wide variety of elective courses such as Contemporary Issues of Human Rights Law, Introduction to Information Law, Legal and Operational Aspects of Corporate Governance, International Investment Law, Chinese Maritime Law, Banking Law, Cyber Law, Current Issues in WTO Law, Maritime Insurance Law and Charterparties Law. In 2019-20, the School also offered 1-credit intensive elective courses like Comparative Constitutional Law: Rights Discourse in South and South East Asia, Tort Litigation in U.S., International Trade Law, Medical Law and Ethics, International and Comparative Secured Transaction Law, The Regulation of Corporate Social Responsibility, and Legal Regulation in the Fourth Industrial Age taught by faculties from other universities.

JD students have an option to specialise in any one of the following areas by taking any four elective courses (12 credits) from the respective specialisation list below:

- 1) International Commercial Law: LW6161E Competition Law; LW5631 Banking Law; LW5664 European Competition Law of Policy; LW5641 Intellectual Property: Theory, Copyright and Design; LW5643 Cyber Law, LW6144E International Trade Law: LW6140E Chinese and Comparative Commercial Law; LW6180E International Commercial Contracts and Uniform Sales Law; LW6167E Current Issues in WTO Law
- 2) Alternative Dispute Resolution: LW6401 Dispute Resolution in Theory and Practice; LW6405 Arbitration Law; LW6406 Mediation Practice; LW6407 Arbitration Practice and Award Writing; LW6408 International Arbitration; LW6142E International Investment Law; and LW5649 International Mooting and Advocacy (3 credits) OR LW5649B International Mooting and Advocacy (6 credits).

- 3) Chinese and Comparative Law: LW5626 Comparative Law; LW6127E Chinese and Comparative Intellectual Property Law; LW6134E Chinese and Comparative Company Law; LW6140E Chinese and Comparative Commercial Law; LW6141E Chinese Foreign Trade and Investment Law
- 4) Air and Maritime Law: LW6175E Maritime Insurance Law; LW6176E International Air Law; LW6179E Maritime Arbitration Law; LW6189E Bills of Lading Law; LW6190E Charterparties Law; LW6191E Admiralty Law; LW6192E Maritime Law; LW6194E The Law of the Sea; LW5649 International Mooting and Advocacy (3 credits) OR LW5649B International Mooting and Advocacy (6 credits).

Depending upon the interest of students and the course offering in the future, these specialised streams may be modified. The offering of the above courses may be reviewed and amended from time to time subject to the availability of teaching staff. We shall keep students informed regarding the offering of elective courses.

Students who choose or do not choose to specialise in any of the above areas will receive the award title as Juris Doctor (法律博士). In pursuance of City University's new policy on streamlining award titles, it has been decided that from 2015-16 onwards the award titles will not include areas of specialisation. The specialised area, if elected by a student, will appear on the transcript.

2019/20 also saw the introduction of a pilot phase of co-teaching between the LLB and JD programmes for selected common courses. The introduction of co-teaching of common courses is regarded by the School as a means of better securing economies of scale with limited teaching resources, particularly for some courses for which recruitment has been challenging across all common law schools. It would also allow the School to offer a greater selection of electives to both LLB and JD students than would be possible if all electives were separately taught. For example, in 2019/20 (as at Semester B, 2019/20), 31 electives were offered to JD students as compared to 29 electives in 2018/19. The School hopes to follow up with this pilot initiative, which has been generally well received by students, with an expanded co-teaching scheme in 2020/21, which should further enhance both teaching quality and elective selection to students.

4. Teaching and Learning

The School promotes active and interactive learning. The teaching/learning activities and the assessment tasks are aligned with the Course Intended Learning Outcomes (CILOs). CILOs are then aligned with the Programme Intended Learning Outcomes (PILOs). The PILOs of the JD programme stipulate that after completing the programme, students should be able to:

- 1) explain and assess specified areas of the law and the legal system of Hong Kong, with particular emphasis on the law in action and the dynamic interplay between law and other social phenomena;
- 2) assess the common law system and its values, and its interaction with the law and the legal system of mainland China, the East Asian region and the wider world;
- 3) explain, interpret and apply main principles of ethics, civil duty, and social and professional responsibility;
- 4) critically assess the strengths and weaknesses of law as a means of regulating society in the context of competing and conflicting interests; and

- 5) demonstrate and apply skills of legal analysis and reasoning, of legal research, problem solving, and of oral and written communication to a level appropriate to a graduate-entry degree in law.

To be in line with City University's initiative of Discovery-enriched Curriculum (DEC), various DEC elements have been incorporated into JD courses. Students are encouraged to think critically, explore new socio-legal issues and produce papers of high quality.

All course syllabuses were reformulated in a format called "SYL" with the incorporation of DEC elements.

Students get three direct contact hours for each course every week. Classes are generally conducted as a combination of lectures and small group tutorials, though certain courses are taught in a seminar style. JD students normally do not share classes with undergraduate LLB students for most courses except a small number of elective courses.

5. Assessment

The assessment pattern for most courses is in the form of an assignment, in-class participation and final examination. Since all JD courses are offered at a postgraduate level and students are expected to achieve a suitable standard of competency, students are required to achieve a minimum of 40 per cent marks in each of the assessment components. Students are provided written feedback on their assignment before the final examination.

6. Academic Quality

As a result of financial constraints, and the university's preference for cessation of the use of External Academic Advisors, the EAA arrangements for JD programme has been discontinued from 2019/20 academic year onwards. Thankfully, following the positive assessments and advice given by external advisors over the years, we now feel sufficiently confident in the quality of our programmes. To maintain the academic quality of the JD Programme, the examination papers are subjected to internal moderation.

7. Exchange Opportunities

The School recognises the importance of providing students overseas exchange opportunities. Overseas exchanges provide a platform for students to exchange ideas and experiences about different legal issues and legal systems. The School has entered into collaborative agreements with several leading universities such as Amsterdam Law School, Bergen University, KU Leuven, Liège University, Emory University, Maine University, University of San Francisco, William & Mary Law School, Case Western Reserve University, Montreal University, Mannheim University, Fribourg University, National Chengchi University, National Taiwan University, Fudan University, East China University of Political Science and Law, Jilin University, Shanghai Jiaotong University Koguan Law School, Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, Renmin University, Zhongnan University of Economics & Law and Singapore Management University. We received three incoming postgraduate exchange students in Semester B 2018-19 and four incoming postgraduate exchange students in Semester A 2019-20 from universities in Belgium, Mainland

China, Norway, Switzerland. The School sent out three JD students to the universities in the Mainland China and the USA.

We enter into an agreement with the University Paris 1, Panthéon-Sorbonne This arrangement enables participating students to obtain a master degree from Paris 1 University and also a JD from CityU. We also entered into an agreement with Fribourg University, Switzerland. Our JD students are provided with opportunity to study the LLM programme at Fribourg University.

8. Co-curricular and/or Overseas Academic Activities

The learning environment of JD students is immensely enriched by their participation in some of the following activities:

International Mooting Competitions

As participation in mooting competitions greatly enhances students' mooting and advocacy skills, the School continues to facilitate students' participation in various regional and international mooting competitions by providing extensive training and financial support for them. Our mooting teams have earned world-class reputation winning approximately 12 world championships in 9 years.

Legal Placement

The credit-bearing Legal Placement course provides JD students with opportunities to do internships not only in Hong Kong but also in mainland China and other parts of the world. The placement enhances students' hands-on experiences apart from theoretical learning. In Hong Kong, students were placed in various legal departments, financial institutions, chambers and law firms. To enhance students' global exposure, some of them were placed in different courts in Shanghai for four weeks after attending Chinese law courses at the Renmin University of China for two weeks. In Summer 2019, 43 JD students participated in Legal Placement in Hong Kong and 6 JD students joined Legal Placement in mainland China. 2 JD students participated in the Legal Placement (Seoul) – Model Universal Periodic Review (MUPR) Competition in Seoul during July and August 2019.

Global Engagement

Global Legal Education Awareness Project (G-LEAP) aims to promote excellence in legal education with a view to providing opportunities for our law students to obtain a global perspective in the study of law. In the summer of 2019, 12 JD students took "Australian Corporations Law" at Monash University, 11 studied "European Competition Law and Policy" at University College Oxford. Students enrolled in these credit-bearing elective courses were taught on an intensive basis by the faculty members of these leading law schools.

City University of Hong Kong Law Review (CityU LR)

The School of Law launched the student-edited law journal in 2009. Every year, about twenty students are selected and trained by the Faculty Editor to edit the journal. From 2010-11 onwards, an elective law course has been introduced to harness the writing and editing skills of the Board members. The CityU LR is available through HeinOnline and Westlaw. It ranks 14th among Asian Law Journals on the W & L law journal ranking scheme, which is highly competitive with other top rated faculty edited law journals and superior to many quality journals in the UK, China, Japan, Korea, Australia, US, the Netherlands and Singapore.

9. Library and Other Facilities

The library provides an extensive selection of print and online legal materials, including law books, law reports, statutes, law reviews databases etc. Most of the electronic resources can be accessed both on campus and remotely. Legal reference services are also offered by the library. Law library workshops are held throughout the year to equip students with legal research skills: finding cases and legislation, finding PRC law, locating ADR legal materials, locating maritime law resources, effective use of secondary materials, and citing legal authorities. Library staff also handle all kinds of enquiries and compile different kinds of research guides. This is to ensure that students can get assistance at the point of need. The library continues to provide customized library collections and services to JD students. The essential readings for their courses are acquired and put on course reserve.

10. Looking Ahead

The JD Programme at CityU, the first of its kind in Hong Kong, is doing well and our JD graduates are highly sought after by local as well as international law firms. We aim to continue to offer an excellent global learning environment to our students. In the coming years, the School aims to offer more elective courses and explore more overseas learning opportunities.

The Chinese University of Hong Kong Faculty of Law

Report on the LLB Programme

(January to December 2019)

1. Admissions

The LLB programme has an annual admission quota of 76 with effect from 2019. The actual number of students admitted was 70 students (including 26 JUPAS students, 40 non-JUPAS students and 4 mainland Gaokao students) for the 2019 intake. Among the 40 non-JUPAS students, six were non-local students from mainland China, Taiwan and Turkey.

The Faculty continues to conduct short interviews as a part of the admissions process to give all students who meet our minimum requirements the opportunity to discuss with a member of the teaching staff their goals and interest in studying at CUHK Law.

2. Course Offering

In addition to the core courses, the LLB programme continues to offer a wide range of electives. Two new elective courses were approved, including i) Legal Technologies; and ii) Law and Film.

3. Use of Chinese Language

The Chinese University of Hong Kong implements bilingual education and Chinese language courses form a compulsory part of the curriculum for all students admitted under both JUPAS and non-JUPAS schemes. The LLB programme places great emphasis on improving the bilingual skills of our students.

All LLB students are required to fulfill 6-unit Chinese language requirement, with the below options:

- (i) University Chinese I and University Chinese II; or
- (ii) Chinese Law (Summer Course at Tsinghua University) and either Creative Chinese Writing or Oral Communication Skills.

These courses are designed to strengthen the students' ability to use Chinese. Students admitted under the non-JUPAS scheme may be granted exemption on a case-by-case basis after assessment of the individual's Chinese language ability. Where exemption is granted, it is compulsory for the relevant student to take other Chinese language courses suitable for their level of linguistic ability.

In addition, the LLB programme continues to offer two electives (Chinese Law (Summer Course) and Chinese Law Internship) conducted in Putonghua and delivered on the Mainland for students to acquire a deeper understanding of Chinese law and the Chinese legal system, and to sharpen their Chinese language skills. Students who have taken these courses report that they have substantially improved their Chinese language reading, writing and communication skills.

4. Experiential Learning

The LLB programme continues to emphasize experiential learning as part of the law students' university experience to broaden their learning horizons. In addition to a wide range of activities organized at the University and College levels, the Faculty offers exchange programmes, internships and credit-bearing Summer Study Abroad Programmes (SSAPs) in Beijing, Sydney, and Toronto. The Faculty has established a 4-year Dual LLB-JD Degree Programme with the University of Exeter Law School with effect from 2021-22 Academic Year. Students will study in the LLB programme at the University of Exeter for two years followed by two year in CUHK's JD programme. The Faculty continues to identify further exchange partners and encourage our students to participate in exchange schemes. In response to student demand for increased faculty-level exchanges in common law jurisdictions, the Faculty has confirmed 5 new exchange agreements with the University of New South Wales Law School, the University of Leeds Law School, the University of Bristol Law School, University of Bergen Faculty of Law and the University of Durham Law School. We also organize lectures by distinguished guests and visits to legal institutions. There are also social activities under the Distinguished Professional Mentorship Scheme. We are most grateful for the strong support from the legal profession that has made these out-of-class learning activities a great success.

5. Mooting Participation

The LLB students continue to participate in international mooting competitions, where they have built upon the success of previous years. In the 2018-19 academic year, CUHK sent teams to participate in the Jessup, Vis, Red Cross, and ICC Moots.

The moot teams continued to excel in 2019. Notable highlights include:

Vis (Vienna) International Commercial Arbitration Law Moot

- Team qualified for the final rounds of the competition and advanced to the final 16 teams out of some 380 participating teams
- A team member awarded Honourable Mention (top 10%) for oral advocacy

Vis (East) International Commercial Arbitration Law Moot

- Team awarded Honourable Mention (top 10%) for Best Memorandum on Behalf of Respondent
- Team awarded the David Hunter Award for Best Memorandum on Behalf of Claimant, placing first out of some 130 law schools for this memorandum

International Criminal Court (ICC) Moot (English)

- Team advanced to the final of the competition
- Team won "Best Prosecution Team", "Best Prosecution Counsel", 2nd Best Defense Memorial awards
- Team member awarded Best Oralist of the Preliminary Rounds

- Overall ranking 2

Philip C. Jessup International Law Moot Court Competition

- Team qualified for the final of the Hong Kong regional round.
- Won three prizes in the regional rounds: 1st, 2nd and 3rd best oralist awards.

The Faculty will continue to encourage mooting amongst our students and support these eminent competitions.

6. Quality Assurance of Teaching and Learning

Quality assurance mechanisms are in place to ensure that we deliver quality legal education to best serve the community.

Internally to ensure the quality of our courses the Faculty administers teaching evaluation surveys to students to collect their feedback in a systematic approach. The Assistant Dean/LLB Programme Director and the Deputy LLB Programme Director meet LLB year representatives in each academic term to collect students' views and concerns in relation to teaching and learning. The Faculty responds to all student questions and concerns in written answers distributed to all students. A "staff-student consultative committee" has been established since last year to allow students to engage in conversations with one another as well as with teaching staff regarding their concerns about all aspects of their studies and university life. The Faculty will continue to work closely with our students to aid independent learning and ensure the best learning environment.

There is rigorous internal moderation of course outlines and exams. All new courses require a detailed outline and plan and must be approved by both the Committee on Undergraduate and Graduate Studies and the Faculty Board. Each semester, exam panels are convened to review proposed exam questions for quality and consistency. The Assistant Dean/LLB Programme Director and the Deputy LLB Programme Director then review all the exams a second time. This double-layer of review has proved effective in catching errors before the exams are printed and distributed to students. Exam marking also is moderated, with two or three exam papers from each grading band and all failure grades being marked again by a second member of staff to ensure fairness and consistency.

7. Learning Resources

Given the centrality of law reports, ordinances and scholarly writings to the study of law, the Faculty places great emphasis on its library resources. The Lee Quo Wei Law Library contains over 130,800 volumes and access to over 6,000 electronic law journals. There are 106 electronic legal databases available to students and staff. Wherever possible electronic format is the preferred option for books, law journals and serials. The Faculty is investing heavily in library materials to support future years of its law programmes.

8. Career Preparation

The Academic Advisory System and the Distinguished Professional Mentorship Scheme provide pastoral care and support for our students. The Academic Advisory System ensures close faculty-student relations. The Distinguished Professional Mentors provide close links for our students to the local practitioner community which is invaluable in their appreciation of the working life of a practitioner and in providing them with guidance in their future career choices. The students also have access to alumni mentoring through the Faculty's e-mentoring programme.

Mr. Paul Mitchard, Q.C., is Director of Career Planning and Professionalism. Together with the support the Faculty continues to receive from local professionals, Mr. Mitchard provides our students with valuable guidance on career planning, job applications, interview techniques, professionalism and other matters relating to careers including through a series of seminars matched to the stages of the annual recruitment round and through counselling sessions offered to students who require personalised assistance on career issues.

The Office of Career Planning and Professionalism has also continued to keep the Faculty's Virtual Careers Resource Centre up-to-date and has made a number of further improvements to it. It has also introduced a weekly newsletter on developments in legal business and arranged a series of career seminars, and career talks and workshops, delivered by international and local law firms as well as members of the Hong Kong Bar and the Department of Justice. These events have been very well attended and well received by students.

The Office has again organised a seminar on the New York Bar for students who are considering that as a possible career option, and has fostered relationships with a number of organisations, such as the Hong Kong Corporate Counsel Association, with a view to identifying and enhancing career opportunities for students.

9. Graduates

As in previous years, the majority of our LLB graduates continue their PCLL studies at CUHK on completion of the LLB programme. Around 87% of our LLB graduates who applied for the PCLL programme at CUHK were admitted in 2019. Those not joining the PCLL programme pursued other postgraduate programmes in Hong Kong or abroad or had other career plans.

Report on the PCLL Programme

(January to December 2019)

1. Admission and Completion Rates (2018/19)

In the 2018 intake, we admitted 155 students to the PCLL. Of the 155 students, one was approved to defer studies to the 2019/20 academic year; one was approved to take leave of absence for one academic year due to medical reasons. One withdrew from studies at the end of Term One and two were discontinued in accordance with the PCLL Assessment Regulations. The remaining 150 students successfully completed the PCLL. The excellent pass rate is a reflection of the quality of the students admitted to the programme.

2. Programme Delivery

The 2018/2019 programme was delivered at our Graduate Law Centre in the Bank of America Tower. The Graduate Law Centre offers students a high quality learning environment. In addition to a Moot Court we have a number of interactive lecture theatres and classrooms. These are all equipped with state-of-the-art facilities. There are also a number of breakout rooms available for student study and discussion. We retained the teaching model of a combination of Large Group Sessions and Small Group Sessions (LGSs and SGSs) as this has proved so effective in the previous years.

The same five core courses as in previous years were offered in Term One, namely Professional Practice, Commercial Practice, Property and Probate Practice, Civil Litigation Practice and Criminal Litigation Practice. 11 elective courses were offered in Term Two/Summer term, of which the students had to select and complete five courses; these were Writing and Drafting Litigation Documents*, Conference Skills and Opinion Writing*, Lending and Finance, Corporate Finance, Writing and Drafting Litigation Documents (in Chinese), China Practice, Writing and Drafting Commercial Documents (in Chinese), Alternative Dispute Resolution, Trial Advocacy*, Writing and Drafting Commercial Documents and Personal Injuries Practice*.

Students intending to enter pupillage as a barrister have to study Trial Advocacy and two out of the other three electives, marked with asterisks. These four electives were not confined to intending barristers and it is noteworthy that many intending solicitors also chose to study one or more of these courses.

With the exception of the Chinese language parts of the two Chinese drafting electives, nearly all teachers on the PCLL programme are or have been practising lawyers. Throughout all of the courses, the emphasis was on the teaching of skills, and on the students' "learning by doing". To that end on all courses the students were taught and then practised skills they would need in practice and were assessed on their skills.

The PCLL is a rigorous course. There is continuous assessment throughout each term with the students facing two or three assessments in each course. Thus the students have to balance their time between courses and in doing so successfully learn the time management skills which will be so vital to them in practice.

3. Student Diversity

The PCLL 2018/19 had a diverse student body. Of the 155 students admitted, 143 held local law qualifications while 12 held non-local law qualifications. Their academic background is as follows:

Law Qualifications	No. with overseas qualifications	No. with local qualifications	Total no. of students
Bachelor of Laws (LLB)	5	55	60
BA in Law	2	0	2
BA in Jurisprudence	4	0	4
Juris Doctor (JD)	0	88	88
Graduate Diploma in Law (GDL)	1	0	1

While most of our students were local, we also had a number of students from the Mainland, who had qualified for admission by way of our Juris Doctor programme, along with students who had studied for their law degrees in the UK.

4. Oversight by the Professions

With the exception of Trial Advocacy, each PCLL course has assigned to it one or two external course assessors (ECAs), from the Law Society and the Bar Association. The Law Society ECAs see and approve all course papers, and both ECAs see the assessment papers before they are sat and are sent for their review all borderline and failed scripts, along with some top scripts. The Law Society ECAs also attend sessions of their choice and provide feedback to the Law Society. All that feedback has to date been for the most part very positive.

The students also give feedback on the courses and their teachers: that too has been generally positive and encouraging.

5. Contribution by the Judiciary and the Professions

We are also very fortunate to be able to call upon many volunteers from the judiciary and the professions. By way of example, in our Trial Advocacy course in May 2019 we had 15 sessions in which barristers and solicitors came in the evening to give individual feedback to the students on their videoed advocacy performances from earlier each day. The students' final assessment was a mini-trial in courtrooms in the High Court: with 46 students on the course and four students participating as advocates in each trial. We required 12 persons to act as judges, whom we invited from the judiciary and the professions.

In addition as part of the Trial Advocacy course we staged a demonstration of trial before a magistrate in Cantonese. This involved a senior Magistrate and members of the Bar (and also CUHK Law alumni) acting as the advocates.

We have also had throughout the years numerous guest speakers from the judiciary and the professions. We are very fortunate indeed to have such support. The teaching staff and the students greatly appreciate it.

6. Placement of the 2019 Graduates

Notwithstanding our short history, our graduates in all eleven years have been consistently placed in all areas of the legal profession following graduation. Our placement survey results comprise 109 student responses out of 150 graduates of the 2018/2019 cohort. The results show that over 90% have been employed by leading law firms and leading sets of barrister's chambers or have chosen to pursue further studies.

2019/2020 PCLL Programme

Admissions for 2019/2020

The Faculty received 292 applications to read for the PCLL in the academic year 2019/20. The Faculty made 160 offers. Of the 160 candidates to whom the Faculty made offers, 159 accepted and one declined. Of those accepting the offers, 158 were able to satisfy all of the conditions and register on the PCLL. A student was then approved to defer studies till 2020/21. Including one student who was approved to defer studies to the 2019/20 academic year, and one student who resumed studies after taking leave of absence in the 2018/19 academic year, the 2019/20 PCLL intake accordingly comprises 159 candidates.

We have this year a very high calibre of students. They appear to be very enthusiastic about and committed to their studies.

Looking ahead

We have introduced a new elective course "Family Law Practice" in the academic year 2019/20. The response from the students has been very encouraging. The course has been over-subscribed and we managed to enroll 60 students to take the course.

Conclusion

We are very proud of our PCLL and confidently believe that the emphasis we place on the acquisition of skills throughout the programme continues to produce graduates who will be useful and professional from the very first day of their traineeship or pupillage. The feedback we have had from the professions on the quality of our PCLL graduates whom they have taken on as trainees or pupils very much bears this out.

We now have eleven successful PCLLs to build upon and aim to make the 2019/20 PCLL better still.

Report on the Juris Doctor Programme

(January to December 2019)

1. Background

The Juris Doctor (JD) is a graduate entry programme. The Chinese University of Hong Kong's Faculty of Law designed and offered it as a response to the recommendation of the Redmond-Roper Report "that there should be opportunity for mature age students, and graduates in other disciplines, to study law - both for equity and access reasons and for the richness and diversity this brings to the law schools and the legal profession" (Report, 11.4 at p. 271).

2. Teaching philosophy and structure

The CUHK Faculty of Law teaches the JD exclusively at graduate level. JD students thus enjoy a dedicated programme. They share some courses with other students (i.e. those reading for the Master of Laws (LLM) and a small number of exchange and associate students).

The Faculty of Law examines the JD as a graduate programme. Students thus must perform to graduate standards.

3. Admission requirements

The Faculty of Law required applicants for admission to the 2019-20 JD to have:

(i) graduated from a recognised university and obtained a bachelor's degree in a non-law subject or a law degree from a non-common law jurisdiction, normally with honours not lower than Second Class; or

(ii) graduated from an honours programme of a recognised university with a bachelor's degree in a non-law subject or a law degree from a non-common law jurisdiction, normally achieving an average grade of not lower than "B" in undergraduate courses; or

(iii) completed a course of study in a tertiary educational institution and obtained professional or similar qualifications equivalent to an honours degree.

Applicants must also have satisfied the JD's English Language Proficiency Requirement by:

- possessing a bachelor's degree obtained by completing a programme of study in Hong Kong or an English-speaking country, or which was taught primarily in the English language; or

- achieving a result of Band 7.5 or better in the International English Language Testing System (IELTS), which result was obtained not more than two years prior to the date of applying to join the JD; or
- achieving a result of 600 (Paper Based Test), or 100 (Internet Based Test) or better in the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL), which result was obtained not more than two years prior to the date of applying to join the JD; or
- producing alternative evidence of English proficiency equivalent to one of the preceding measures.

4. Programme philosophy and structure

The JD is an intellectually enriching general education in law. It offers various Faculty core courses (details of which are below). It offers all subjects that the Hong Kong legal professions stipulate as pre-requisites for admission to the Postgraduate Certificate in Laws (PCLL). It also allows candidates to read a wide range of challenging elective courses in the common law, Chinese law, comparative law, international law and the law of trade, business and finance.

The JD consists of 72 credit units (a standard semester-length course being 3 credit units). Students have an average of 3 contact hours per week with teachers in each course. Students entering the JD complete it in full-time mode or part-time mode.

Full-time mode students can finish the JD in 24 months by completing courses in each summer term. Full-time students may take up to 48 months to complete the JD.

Part-time mode students can complete their studies in 42 months (although students may, in exceptional circumstances, apply to accelerate their studies and complete the JD in 36 months on the Faculty of Law's recommendation and with the Graduate Council's permission). The Faculty of Law lets part-time students take up to 84 months to complete the JD. The JD is currently the only qualifying law degree offered in part-time mode by a Hong Kong university.

To graduate, students must complete five Faculty-required courses. These are LAWS6001 Legal System, LAWS6004 Legal Research, Analysis and Writing, LAWS6006 Comparative Legal Studies, LAWS6007 Ethics and Jurisprudence, and either LAWS6901 Independent Research or LAWS6902 Independent Research Dissertation. These required components give JD students the essential foundational knowledge and skills for a well-rounded general legal education and a first-hand appreciation of the relationship between the legal system and the broader community that it serves and regulates.

Students aspiring to become Hong Kong-qualified barristers or solicitors must pursue particular courses mandated by the Hong Kong legal professions. Passing these courses entitles students to apply for admission to the PCLL programme. These courses are also open to students who do not plan to apply for the PCLL.

In addition to the five required courses, the Faculty of Law offers JD elective courses from a wide range of intellectually stimulating and professionally enhancing offerings. This arrangement enables students to complete their degrees and professional requirements while enhancing their range of courses and thus their academic and professional opportunities.

JD Courses

The Faculty of Law structures the JD to accommodate the interests both of those who intend to enter the legal profession and those who are reading the JD for other reasons. The JD comprises a mixture of required and elective courses:

(i) Required courses

- Legal System
- Legal Research, Analysis and Writing
- Comparative Legal Studies
- Ethics and Jurisprudence
- Independent Research* OR Independent Research Dissertation*

* Students must complete either Independent Research (3 credits) or Independent Research Dissertation (6 credits).

(ii) Elective Courses

(a) Elective Courses Required for admission to the PCLL Programme

- | | |

- Shipping Law
- Trans-national Legal Problems
- World Trade Law

5. Student intake

The JD has proved to be a highly competitive programme. In the 2019-20 academic year, the programme received 984 applications meeting minimum admission requirements (639 applications for full-time mode and 345 applications for part-time mode). The admission requirements in section 3, above, are minimum requirements. In the 2019-20 intake, the Faculty of Law did not offer places to a large proportion of applicants who satisfied these. The JD attracts students of the highest quality, and the student body is a rich and diverse mixture of well-educated fresh graduates and seasoned professionals who have already achieved considerable success in their fields. In 2019 the Faculty of Law admitted 208 students, these being the top segment of applicants.

No. of applications received for academic year 2019-20 (full-time mode)	652
No. of students admitted for academic year 2019-20 (full-time mode)	141
No. of applications received for academic year 2019-20 (part-time mode)	352
No. of students admitted for academic year 2019-20 (part-time mode)	67

All JD students the Faculty of Law admitted in 2019-20 hold at least an Upper 2nd bachelor's degree or a credit master's degree (or equivalent):

Band 1	37% (77)
Band 2	22% (45)
Band 3	41% (86)
Total	100% (208)

Band 1: 1st class bachelor's degree; or Cumulative GPA 3.5 (4-point scale) where no class of honours awarded; or PhD; or equivalent.

Band 2: Borderline 1st class bachelor's degree; or Cumulative GPA 3.4 (4-point scale) where no class of honours awarded; or master (Distinction); or equivalent.

Band 3: Upper 2nd class bachelor's degree; or Cumulative GPA 3.2-3.3 (4-point scale) where no class of honours awarded; or master (Credit); or equivalent.

As noted above, many JD students take the Programme to help them in their existing careers or to enhance their skills; they have no intention of entering the legal profession. Most part-time students are professionals with qualifications. These include qualifications such as the Associate Anti Money Laundering Professional (AAMLPL), Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA), Certified Anti-Money Laundering Specialist (CAMS), Certified Information Systems Auditor (CISA), Certified Information Systems Security Professional (CISSP), Certified Internal Auditor (CIA), Certified Public Accountant (CPA), Chartered Financial Analyst (CFA), Financial Risk Manager (FRM) -and Registered Pharmacist (RP).

Some students are members of professional bodies. These include memberships as Fellow of Hong Kong College of Community Medicine (FHKCCM), Fellow of the Faculty of Public Health (FFPH), Fellow of the Hong Kong Academy of Medicine (FHKAM), Member of the Chartered Institute of Building (MCIOB), Member of the Hong Kong Institute of Surveyors (MHKIS), Member of the Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh (MRCSEd), Member of the Royal Institute of Chartered Surveyors (MRICS); or registered professionals in various disciplines, for instance in medical and engineering. Some of our students are already in prominent management positions, such as VP, Assistant VP, Director, Managing Director, Associate Director and Senior Lecturer at companies/institutions such as Standard Perpetual Finance Group Limited, CCB International Capital Limited, Nixon Peabody CWL Law Firm, Trade Capital Finance Limited, The Chat Union Group, Goldin Group, Huarong International Financial Holding Limited, Searching C Company Limited, ICBC Asia, The University of Hong Kong and Hong Kong Baptist University.

In 2017 the Faculty of Law and the CUHK Business School jointly introduced the BBA-JD Double Degree Programme. In 2019-20, the BBA-JD Programme admitted 23 students. Students in the BBA-JD Programme must achieve a second upper class honours in their BBA to be eligible to enrol in the JD. The first intake (2017-18) will enrol in the JD in 2021. The Faculty will report the final number of BBA-JD students enrolled in the JD in 2021.

6. Library

Given the centrality of law reports, ordinances and scholarly writings to the study of law, the Faculty places great emphasis on its library resources. The Lee Quo Wei Law Library contains over 130,800 volumes and access to over 6,000 electronic law journals. There are 106 electronic legal databases available to students and staff. Wherever possible electronic format is the preferred option for books, law journals and serials. The Faculty is investing heavily in library materials to support future years of its law programmes.

The Lee Quo Wei Law Library houses the main law collection. The Legal Resources Centre (LRC) at the Graduate Law Centre (GLC), where JD teaching takes place, contains a short loan collection and a small collection of law reports and reference materials. The Faculty of Law retains a daily courier service that provides research materials students need at the GLC.

The Law Library has developed an extensive array of resource guides and indices that are accessible via the Library website. Both locations provide reference services. The Faculty of Law also includes Information Literacy in the JD curriculum.

7. Physical accommodation

The Faculty of Law teaches the JD at the GLC in Central. The GLC, covering 35,000 sq. feet, includes three lecture theatres, a state-of-the-art-moot court, small breakout rooms, multi-purpose classrooms, dedicated computer facilities and its Legal Resources Centre. The GLC's location in Central has proven ideal for organising events with practitioners in the legal profession. Throughout the year, the JD students benefit from a wide offering of talks, information sessions and other events with prominent law firms, barristers' chambers, as well as members of the judiciary, government departments and other members of the legal industry.

8. Concluding Remarks

The CUHK JD is now a well-established feature of the Hong Kong legal education landscape. JD students routinely receive job placement offers from top international and local law firms. Many undertake pupillage and develop careers at the Hong Kong bar. Some move on to further studies, often competing strongly in the world's most venerated universities (among them Oxbridge and the Ivy League). Others embark on or continue careers in other walks of Hong Kong or overseas. These fields include banking, commerce, academia and government. JD students are, as a whole, highly qualified and highly motivated. Classes are interactive, with students bringing expertise and experience to enrich the learning environment, both within and outside the classroom. Student satisfaction with the JD, which the University's Centre for Learning Enhancement and Research independently monitors, is very high. Students on the JD have taken the initiative to set up the Graduate Law Students Association and organised activities, which the Faculty supports, to benefit the student body. Mooting teams including JD students represent the Faculty at both regional and international competitions and have achieved outstanding results.

Some JD students will not choose a career in law. They continue to contribute to their respective professions – among them banking and finance, government, journalism and academia – and are all the better armed with all they have learned during their JD education.

Some JD students will choose to continue their studies in the PCLL Programme. In 2019-20, 112 JD graduates applied for admission to the CUHK PCLL Programme and 71% of them were successful. Those who progress to the PCLL have a great deal to offer the legal profession. They will continue to help answer the call in the Redmond Roper Report for increased diversity of practitioners in Hong Kong.

Department of Law The University of Hong Kong

Report on the LLB and JD Programmes to the Standing Committee on Legal Education and Training

(January to December 2019)

1. Admissions 2019-2020

The Bachelor of Laws (LLB) is a flagship programme of the Department of Law. It consistently admits the best students notwithstanding keen competition locally and abroad. The LLB and double-degree undergraduate programmes remain signature programmes that cement the reputation of the HKU, as seen by the robust admissions figures.

The LLB is one of the top ten programmes at HKU and among the most competitive programmes across all tertiary institutions in Hong Kong. It has attracted top quality students through both the local Diploma of Secondary Education (DSE) scheme and the non-Joint University Programmes Admissions Scheme (non-JUPAS) routes.

To attract top students, we have established dual degree or pathways programmes, which will give students a wider range of options. For example, in 2016-2017, the Faculty introduced a dual LLB programme with University College London (UCL), which enable the students to obtain an LLB degree in both the UK and Hong Kong in 4 years. In light of the rising interest in Chinese law, we introduced a 5-year dual LLB programme with Peking University (PKU) Law School in the Academic Year of 2019-2020.

We have established a pathways programme with King's College London (KCL) whereby students would be able to obtain an LLB with HKU and an LLM with KCL. Similar arrangements have been made with University of New South Wales (UNSW) and National University Singapore (NUS) as well.

A total of 105 students were admitted into the undergraduate programmes: 61 through the JUPAS scheme (including 6 for HKU-PKU programme and 1 for HKU-UCL programme); 37 through the non-JUPAS admissions process (including 5 for HKU-UCL programme); and 7 through Mainland recruitment.

In addition, 147 students were admitted to the three mixed-degree programmes: BBA(Law) & LLB – 78; BSocSc (Govt & Laws) & LLB – 55; and BA (Literary Studies) & LLB – 14.

All these programmes continue to achieve outstanding admission quality.

Students in the JD programme come from a diversity of educational and other backgrounds. A large number of students received their undergraduate or graduate education at leading universities in North America or the UK. A significant, and increasing, number of JD students come from the Mainland and local universities. Over the years, we have admitted a considerable number of students with significant work experience.

JD admissions figures this year continue to be strong. We admitted 40 students from over 287 applications. Student profiles are diverse, with 21 fresh graduates and 19 with work experience.

2. Exchange

The faculty of Law has established academic links with about 200 major universities in many parts of the world to allow students to participate in student exchange programmes. We have been able to accommodate the demand of students for exchange opportunities in the past few years. Current figures for out-going law students comprise 102 students, undertaking studies in 13 countries, mostly in the UK (52), Canada (22), and USA (10).

The JD programme has already been duly recognized through its exchange arrangement with Pennsylvania Law School, whereby HKU JD students spend an extra year at Pennsylvania and earn an LLM degree. We are currently moving towards establishing further exchange opportunities with overseas institutions to broaden our JD students' exposure to other legal systems, equipping them with the necessary skills for cross-border, international practice in law.

3. Curriculum

The "3+3+4" curriculum has been fully implemented. The Department has also de-cross-listed electives in both the undergraduate and postgraduate programmes, to allow teachers to better take into account the skills and competencies of students in their courses.

The LLB students may choose to specialize in one of the following streams, namely 1) Chinese law; 2) Commercial, corporate and financial law; and 3) International trade and economic law. They may also declare minor in another discipline.

Mooting has been introduced as a compulsory capstone course to integrate knowledge and skills in all courses.

The Department promotes experiential learning for students to develop practical skills and to learn law in action. The Clinical Legal Education course and other experiential courses including the Social Justice Internship (in both Hong Kong and Mainland China), the Global Migration Legal Clinic, the Disability Rights Clinic, and the Law, Innovation, Technology and Entrepreneurship (LITE) Lab have been in high demand. The Faculty has successfully recruited five full-time teaching-track staff during the academic year of 2019-2020, which further strengthens our student experiential learning programme. The ultimate goal is that all LLB students will be able to undergo some experiential learning during their studies.

The Department continued to send LLB students to Shanghai (Fudan University and East China University of Political Science and Law) to take a compulsory course, Introduction to Chinese

Law, in an intensive manner. We are exploring the opportunities to collaborate with mainland universities in other cities for possible intensive teaching of the same course.

The JD is a two-year programme. The bulk of the programme consists of compulsory courses, which cover the fundamentals of the common law. It provides the students with a breadth and depth of legal knowledge that enables them to gain admission to the PCLL in a comparatively short period of time. A wide range of electives is available to JD students to fulfill the requirements of taking at least one elective from the Chinese law offerings and one from the ICT grouping. The Department has continued to take steps to implement the proposals in the Report of the Review Panel for our JD programme in the last review. The JD programme is actively preparing for the upcoming internal review this year.

4. Career Advice and Mentorship Programme

The current in-house Career Development Manager provides individual career advice consultation sessions for our students. In addition, we also run a mentorship programme that matches students with the Faculty's alumni as part of its informal curriculum.

5. Staffing

Our staff has been able to offer a wide range of electives in the undergraduate programmes. The Faculty has been conducting an active search for professional staff at different levels. It is expected that the current round of recruitment will end in two months' time and that the new staff will be able to join the Department before the start of the new academic year.

6. Conclusion

While our LLB and JD programmes are firmly established as among the best law programmes in Hong Kong and abroad, we acknowledge the need to maintain and enhance the competitiveness of the programmes. The Department is aware of the challenges facing legal education, such as the need for ongoing curriculum review and concerns about job opportunities. We will continue to consider special measures to ensure that the rigour and diversity of teaching will not be compromised, and that additional support in terms of career advice will be provided to students.

Head, Department of Law
March 2020

Report on the HKU PCLL January – December 2019

1. Overview

As one of the ways to address the perceived issue of the PCLL being the ‘bottleneck’ to the legal profession, we have not cut back to the pre-double cohort number of target intake. Instead, we have prepared for a maximum of 300 full-time and 100 part-time students to the HKU PCLL if quality of applicants so warranted. However, we have not been able to fill up all our places for many reasons.

The first semester of the academic year 2019/2020 saw the challenges brought by the suspension of classes on campus due to social events. Nevertheless, we managed to continue most of the teaching and learning activities on-line or by other possible means. While all on-campus assessments, oral and written, scheduled in November and December had to be re-arranged to later dates, all in-hall examinations in January 2020 have been held as scheduled. Subject to the social situation, the academic year needs not be extended, causing any delay in the graduation of our current cohort of students.

2. Assessments and examination results 2018/19

The overall first-attempt pass rate was dragged down by the examination performance of the new intake to the part-time PCLL (just about 50%) while the same of both the full-time and part-time Year 2 indeed increased (83.5% and 84.7% respectively). The pass rate after the supplementary exams in August were 96% (full-time), 82.8% (part-time Year 1) and 100% (part-time Year 2). The Board of Examiners awarded overall distinction to the top 10% of the cohort among over 360 full-time and part-time Year 2 students in total. All the top ten students are HKU law graduates, either with a mixed-degree LLB or an LLB.

3. Admissions 2019/2020

There were over 950 applications from 665 individual applicants, of which 586 applicants designated HKU as first preference. Applicants, as in the past, had to make separate applications to the full-time and part-time programmes and many of them applied for both.

The number of PCLL students admitted in September 2019 was 289 to the full-time course and 85 to the part-time course. We have a maximum number of 15 discretionary part-time places based on a balance of candidates’ legal knowledge and full-time working experience, as well as interview performance (‘the WE Route’). We filled up all those places after interviewing 31 candidates. Two PCLL academic board members, Mr. Edward Chan SC and Ms. Serina Chan, were invited to sit in those interviews. The purpose of the invitation, which they both kindly took up, was to let the PCLL Academic Board (and the profession) to have a better understanding of the WE Route.

We continued to allocate the 117 government-funded full-time places, all on academic merit. HKU law graduates (including JD) took up about 83% of such places. Other categories of applicants, with UK LLB graduates having the largest share and most of them were Hong Kong permanent residents, shared the remaining government-funded places.

About 75% of the full-time intake held a HKU law degree. The proportion in the part-time programme was much lower, just about 12%. Graduates of the Common Professional Examination operated by MMU/SPACE filled up most of the remaining part-time places.

4. Curriculum and teaching

Mr. Justice Anderson Chow, the Chief External Examiner, gave his fourth comprehensive report on the programme. He raised no concerns that require attention. Indeed, he commended that our PCLL 'is being run efficiently in line with the University Educational Aims' and our graduates are 'well equipped to enter the professional practice'. We thanked him for his remark which serves a recognition of all the efforts colleagues in my Department have put into over the last decade or so in our curriculum and related reform.

Apart from continuing what we have been doing, we (and students) have experienced further use of recorded classes from mid-November to early December 2019. Some of us even conducted small group discussions via on-line chat rooms. Some of our part-time tutors ran their classes at their offices. A couple of us were offered free use of a learning centre in town for two days in mid-December to conduct individual meetings with students with needs to facilitate their preparation for the written examinations. These were strategies we employed and would like to continue to explore not just for contingency, but also for effective facilitation of students' learning in addition to face-to-face learning which is undoubtedly irreplaceable and indispensable.

Another challenge was the passing away of the most senior teaching member of the Department in February 2019. We have made re-deployment of existing resources within the Department to cover his teaching duties.

In 2019/20, Matrimonial Practice and Procedure, Listed Companies and Employment Law and Practice are the three most popular electives. 102 students, full-time and part-time, opted for TAE.

5. Looking ahead

We are committed to use our best endeavour to contribute to the improvement the system as reasonably recommended by SCLET in its final review report and agreed among the stakeholders after deliberation, in all aspects of the PCLL from admissions to assessments which aim to better serve the public interest and avoid any double (or even multiple) jeopardy to students. Meanwhile, we continue to seek the continuing co-operation with the profession via the professional bodies, firms and chambers, as well as individual members of the profession for the better development of the HKU PCLL, and with our counterparts for the PCLLs in Hong Kong.
