Panel on Development

Meeting on 25 February 2020

Updated background brief on heritage conservation initiatives

Purpose

This paper provides background information on the Administration's heritage conservation initiatives and summarizes the views and concerns expressed by Members on the subject at meetings of the Legislative Council ("LegCo"), the Panel on Development ("DEV Panel") and other relevant committees since the 2012-2013 legislative session.

Background

Heritage conservation policy and policy statement

2. In 2007, the Government promulgated a new heritage conservation policy and adopted the following policy statement to guide its heritage conservation work:<sup>1</sup>

"To protect, conserve and revitalize as appropriate historical and heritage sites and buildings through relevant and sustainable approaches for the benefit and enjoyment of present and future generations. In implementing this policy, due regard should be given to development needs in the public interest, respect for private property rights, budgetary considerations, cross-sector collaboration and active engagement of stakeholders and the general public."

Policy review on the conservation of built heritage

3. At the invitation of the Development Bureau ("DEVB"), the Antiquities Advisory Board ("AAB") conducted a policy review on the conservation of built heritage. A two-month public consultation was launched in June 2014.<sup>2</sup> AAB completed the policy review in December 2014 and made the recommendations listed in Appendix I.<sup>3</sup> Regarding whether public funds should be used to purchase or resume privately-owned historic buildings, AAB considered that, given the diverse views in the community on this option, it should not be pursued. Instead, the Administration should provide more attractive economic incentives such as financial assistance, relaxation of plot ratio and land exchange, to facilitate private owners to carry out timely maintenance works and protect historic buildings.

4. The Administration announced in December 2015 that it had formally accepted the recommendations.<sup>4</sup> To take forward the recommendations, the Buildings Department ("BD") would update, by phases in 2016, the Practice Note and the Practice Guidebook for Conservation of Historic Buildings to provide clearer guidelines to private owners and the industry. The Administration would also carry out a pilot study on the "point-line-plane" approach for conservation.

5. With regard to AAB's recommendation of setting up a dedicated fund on conservation of built heritage, the Administration established the Built Heritage Conservation Fund ("BHCF") in 2016 with $500 million earmarked to provide subsidies for public education, community involvement and publicity activities, and academic research. BHCF also provides funding for certain existing government initiatives and activities on built heritage conservation including the Revitalizing Historic Buildings Through Partnership Scheme ("Revitalization Scheme") and the Financial Assistance for Maintenance Scheme ("FAMS").<sup>5</sup>

6. In May 2016, the Advisory Committee on Built Heritage Conservation ("ACBHC") was set up to advise the Government on the

<sup>5</sup> FAMS was launched in August 2008 to provide assistance to owners of privately-owned graded historic buildings for carrying out maintenance works. Since November 2016, the grant ceiling has been increased from $1 million to $2 million for each works project, and the scope has been expanded to cover not only privately-owned graded historic buildings but also government-owned declared monuments and graded historic buildings leased to non-profit making organizations. Up to end-May 2019, a total of 67 applications have been approved and 64 applications are being processed. Source: The Government's website on heritage conservation operation of BHCF. ACBHC comprises members from different fields and professions including architecture, historical research, social enterprise, engineering, surveying, town planning, business and private practitioners of built heritage conservation.<sup>6</sup>

Amalgamation of the Antiquities and Monuments Office with the Commissioner for Heritage's Office

7. The Antiquities and Monuments Office ("AMO") was set up in 1976 under the Antiquities and Monuments Ordinance (Cap. 53) ("A&MO") to provide secretarial and executive support to AAB in conserving places of historical and archaeological interest and serve as the executive arm of the Antiquities Authority ("AA"), i.e. the Secretary for Development. The Commissioner for Heritage's Office ("CHO") was set up in April 2008 under DEVB to provide support in the implementation of the policy on heritage conservation and keeping it under constant review, taking forward new initiatives on heritage conservation and serving as a focal point of contact, both locally and overseas. To achieve synergy in implementing policy initiatives on heritage conservation and streamline the day-to-day operation, AMO has officially amalgamated with CHO with effect from 1 April 2019. According to the Administration, the amalgamation aims at rationalizing the relationship between AMO and CHO, and will not change the scope of work and the services provided by AMO.

Major views and concerns expressed by Members

8. The Administration has been providing periodic reports on its heritage conservation efforts to DEV Panel since 2008, and has sought the views of the Panel on individual proposals, including public works projects related to revitalization of historic buildings and redevelopment proposals, from time to time. The LegCo has also formed a number of Subcommittees to scrutinize notices on declaration of various monuments and historical buildings under section 3(1) of A&MO. Members' major views expressed during the relevant discussions are summarized in the ensuing paragraphs.

<sup>6</sup> The work of ACBHC includes (a) assessing new applications and monitor existing projects under the Revitalization Scheme; (b) monitoring the operation of the FAMS; and (c) advising the Administration on funding support for public education, community involvement and publicity activities, academic research, consultancy and technical studies relating to the conservation of built heritage. ACBHC comprises the Chairman, 18 non-official members and three official members. Source: The Government's website on heritage conservation

Statutory monument declaration system and administrative grading system

9. According to A&MO, AA may, after consulting AAB and with the approval of the Chief Executive ("CE") as well as the publication of a notice in the Gazette, legally declare a place/building a monument. AA is then empowered to prevent alterations, or to impose conditions upon any proposed alterations as he/she thinks fit, in order to protect the monument. There are currently a total of 123 declared monuments in Hong Kong.<sup>7</sup>

Progress of declaration of graded historic buildings as statutory monuments

10. At meetings of DEV Panel and various Subcommittees formed to scrutinize declaration notices, Members had repeatedly expressed concern about the slow progress of declaring graded historic buildings as statutory monuments. They questioned about the specific criteria for determining whether a building reached the "high threshold" of monuments, and were concerned that historic buildings might deteriorate over time due to the lack of maintenance, or might be demolished for re-development while pending grading assessment or monument declaration. As such, Members urged the Administration to take more proactive actions in protecting historic buildings by:

- (a) reviewing and improving both the statutory monument declaration system and the administrative grading system;
- (b) setting specific timeframes for conducting assessments under the above two systems; and
- (c) allocating manpower resources if necessary, with a view to expediting the progress of assessments and increasing the target number of graded historic buildings for declaration as monuments each year.

11. The Administration indicated that in assessing whether a building reached the "high threshold" that justified its declaration as a monument, AMO would carry out on-site inspection, and conduct comprehensive and in-depth assessment based on the information gathered. The time required for the assessment would depend on the depth of information available to AMO, the merits and complexity of each case, and for privately owned buildings, the cooperation of the owners. Since 2008, all Grade 1 historic buildings have been put on the list for consideration of monument declaration and the Administration's target was to declare three graded historic buildings as monuments each year. On the question of whether a more aggressive target could be set, the Administration had elaborated that the crux of the issue was whether there was any Grade 1 historic building having reached the "high threshold" of monument with assessments conducted in a stringent and professional manner.

12. As regards the grading system of historic buildings, AAB accords Grade 1, Grade 2 or Grade 3 status to individual historic buildings having regard to the assessments of the heritage value of individual historic buildings by an independent Expert Panel, the views and information received from members of the public and the owners of the buildings concerned during public consultation exercises.<sup>8</sup> The grading system is administrative in nature and does not provide historic buildings with statutory protection. 1 444 historic buildings have been proposed for grading by AAB as a result of a public consultation exercise conducted in 2009. Over 250 other suggestions for grading some other items have been received from the public.<sup>9</sup>

13. At the meeting of DEV Panel on 22 January 2019, the Panel passed a motion urging the Administration to review and amend A&MO so to provide historic buildings with better statutory protection.

14. In response to the motion, the Administration advised that pursuing heritage conservation through legislation would infringe private property rights and contradicted the Government's heritage conservation policy premising on respecting private property rights. The Administration would continue to encourage private owners to preserve historic buildings using "preservation-cum-development" approach.

Expansion of heritage conservation from buildings to streets and areas

15. Two declaration notices were published in the Gazette in November and December 2013 to respectively declare the Bethanie and the Cenotaph, and Tat Tak Communal Hall and Fat Tat Tong monuments. Two Subcommittees were formed to examine these two declaration notices.

<sup>8</sup> Grade 1 buildings refer to those of outstanding merit, which every effort should be made to preserve if possible. Grade 2 buildings are those of special merit and should be selectively preserved, and Grade 3 buildings are of some merit, preservation of which in some form would be desirable; alternative means could be considered if preservation is not practicable. Source: AMO's website

<sup>9</sup> Please refer to the list of the 1 444 Historic Buildings with Assessment Results \(as at 12 December 2019\) published by AAB.

While supporting the Administration to declare these four places monuments in recognition of their heritage merits and architectural values, the Subcommittees expressed concerns that under A&MO, emphasis was put on the conservation of specific historic buildings, but not their respective surrounding areas. The Subcommittees considered that the Administration should expand the scope of heritage conservation from buildings (point) to streets (line) and surrounding areas (plane), and enhance the cross-departmental coordination work involved.

16. Similar views were brought up by members of the Subcommittee formed to scrutinize the declaration notice published in the Gazette in October 2017 to declare Tung Lin Kok Yuen, Kowloon Union Church and Yueng Hau Temple as historical buildings. In particular, a member suggested that a special protected area should be designated to cover the conjunct Manse building (a Grade 3 historic building) of Kowloon Union Church and the cluster of other historic buildings in the neighbourhood, given the significance of the building cluster in depicting the historical and socio-cultural development of the Jordan area.

17. The Administration advised that AAB explored the "point-line-plane" approach for heritage conservation in the context of its policy review on conservation of built heritage. This approach was adopted in revitalizing the Central Police Station Compound which comprised a group of historic buildings and structures, and developing preservation-cum-development options for the preservation of the Shaw Studio Compound. In addition, the Administration launched a funding scheme under BHCF for carrying out thematic research on built heritage conservation in 2017. Under the scheme, eight degree-awarding academic institutions were invited to conduct thematic studies including the "point-line-plane" approach. These studies, which commenced in the third quarter of 2018, would be completed in two years' time.

Conservation of graded historic buildings in the private domain

18. DEV Panel members noted in AAB's report on the policy review on conservation of built heritage that AAB did not recommend a mandatory purchase or resumption of privately-owned historic buildings, while the Administration would provide financial assistance to facilitate private owners to carry out timely maintenance works to protect historic buildings. Panel members were keen to ensure that the Administration would proactively approach the private owner(s) concerned and provide them with economic incentives to preserve their buildings.

19. The Administration advised that over the years, it had successfully preserved a number of privately-owned historic buildings by different means and forms. Most owners of the historic buildings concerned responded positively to the possible preservation options proposed by CHO and AMO. For some cases, even though the owners were not willing to preserve the historic buildings in entirety, partial preservation could still be an option. The Administration had also established an internal mechanism to monitor any demolition of/alterations to declared monuments/proposed monuments or graded buildings/buildings proposed to be graded. Under the mechanism, BD, the Lands Department and Planning Department would alert CHO and AMO regarding any identified possible threat that had been brought to the departments' attention in the normal course of duty. The monitoring mechanism enabled CHO and AMO to take timely follow-up actions with the private owners concerned. However, some private owners might not be interested in discussing the preservation options with the Administration.

20. Some Members opined that the ceiling of the grant at $2 million for each successful application under FAMS was too low. Some owners of historic buildings might intentionally carry out the repair and maintenance works of the buildings in phases in order to obtain more subsidies under separate applications, hence resulting in higher overall cost or compromising works quality. They urged the Administration to review FAMS and increase the subsidies.

21. The Administration advised that it would study whether there was further room for enhancing FAMS, but a major review would be unlikely in the near future. The Administration believed that it was vital to ensure the prudent use of public fund, and not to take over the responsibility of private owners to properly maintain their own buildings while providing suitable financial assistance. On the whole, FAMS had been operating smoothly.

The Revitalizing Historic Buildings Through Partnership Scheme

22. The Revitalization Scheme was launched in February 2008 to preserve and put historic government-owned buildings into good and innovative use, promote active public participation in the conservation of historic buildings, and create job opportunities at the district level. Under the Revitalization Scheme, the Administration will finance the restoration and conversion of the historic buildings and provide one-off grants to meet the operating deficits, if any, of the non-profit making organizations ("NPOs") selected to undertake the revitalization projects for the first two years of operation at a ceiling of $5 million for each project. Information about the progress of projects under the various batches of the Revitalization Scheme is in Appendix II.

Selection of non-profit making organizations for implementing the revitalization projects

23. At the DEV Panel meeting on 3 December 2014, the Administration briefed Panel members on the funding proposals for revitalizing three government-owned historic buildings, namely the Bridges Street Market, the Former Fanling Magistracy and the Haw Par Mansion,<sup>10</sup> under Batch III of the Revitalization Scheme. Some members were concerned about the fairness of the process and the appropriateness of the criteria for assessing the applications from NPOs under the Revitalization Scheme.

24. The Administration advised that the Advisory Committee on Revitalization of Historic Buildings ("ACRHB"),<sup>11</sup> comprising members from diverse fields including historical research, architecture and social enterprise, was responsible for assessing the applications based on the following five criteria, namely (a) reflection of historical value and significance; (b) technical aspects; (c) social value and social enterprise operation; (d) financial viability; and (e) management capability and other considerations. The selection process was conducted through a competitive process similar to a tender exercise.

Repair and maintenance responsibilities

25. Taking into account that the restoration and maintenance of historic buildings would incur substantial costs, some members stressed the importance of a clear demarcation of the repair and maintenance responsibilities for the revitalized buildings between NPOs and the Administration. Furthermore, a mechanism should be in place to resolve the disputes, if any, over such responsibilities.

26. The Administration advised that according to the Guide to Application of Revitalization Scheme, the Administration should be responsible for the repair and maintenance of the structure of the historic buildings, as well as undisturbed slopes and/or undisturbed retaining walls within the sites. Other than these, the selected NPOs should be responsible for the repair and maintenance of all buildings and areas within the sites.

<sup>10</sup> These three buildings will be transformed into Hong Kong News-Expo, the Hong Kong Federation of Youth Groups Institute for Leadership Development and Haw Par Music Farm respectively.

<sup>11</sup> ACRHB was formed by the Administration in 2008 to, among others, help assess applications under the Revitalization Scheme. Upon expiry of the term of office of ACRHB in May 2016, its work has been taken up by the Advisory Committee on Built Heritage Conservation.

Prior to the NPO's moving-in to commence operation, the Administration would provide funding support to cover the cost for major renovation to the historic building in accordance with the approved proposal. As such, major maintenance problems would unlikely arise during the first few years of operation. The Administration assured members that the Architectural Services Department would provide professional and technical advice on matters relating to the maintenance of government-owned historic buildings, and CHO would facilitate the coordination between NPOs and relevant government departments on such matters.

Public access to the revitalized historic buildings

27. Some members expressed concern about whether the public would be allowed free access to the revitalized historic buildings. They considered that these buildings should be open to the public free of charge and the opening hours should be flexible enough to facilitate public visits.

28. The Administration advised that the opening hours of a historic building depended on its location and how it would be used after revitalization. As for the revitalized Former Fanling Magistracy and the revitalized Haw Par Mansion, the Administration committed that they would be open to the public free of charge seven days a week, while the revitalized Bridges Street Market would be open to the public free of charge six days a week, i.e. Tuesday to Sunday.

Effectiveness of the Revitalization Scheme

29. At the meeting of DEV Panel on 22 January 2019, Members pointed out that the operator of Fong Yuen Study Hall in Ma Wan ("Fong Yuen") under Batch I of the Revitalization Scheme returned the site to the Government due to operation difficulties after a few years of operation. No operator was interested in submitting tender for the operation of Fong Yuen when it was put up again among the Batch V projects of the Revitalization Scheme. They enquired about the way forward for the operation of Fong Yuen in case the Administration was still not able to identify a suitable operator by including it in the Batch VI projects, and asked about the Administration's supporting measures to NPOs operating the projects under the Revitalization Scheme.

30. The Administration agreed that the Fong Yuen project was particularly challenging given its remote location that had resulted in low visitor numbers. It was taken over by AMO since January 2017 and continued to be open to the public. The Administration further advised that appropriate support including suitable financial assistance had been given to operators of projects under the Revitalization Scheme. To ensure the prudent use of public funds, Government's policy was to facilitate smooth operation of the projects on a self-financing basis in the long term.

Heritage trust

31. At the meeting of DEV Panel on 21 June 2016, some members expressed concern about the lack of progress of setting up a heritage trust. They considered it important to decide as soon as possible whether a heritage trust should be established to make use of public money to purchase privately-owned built heritage and urged the Administration to put forward a proposal for public discussion.

32. The Administration responded that it had commissioned a consultancy study on the feasibility of setting up a statutory heritage trust and the consultancy report recommended the Administration to set up a trust with an initial injection of $900 million. The Administration held the view that the recommended amount appeared to be on the low side in meeting the aspiration of the community in protecting and maintaining privately-owned built heritage. As the heritage trust was a major component in the conservation of privately-owned built heritage, some issues mentioned in the consultancy report required further discussion and consultation. As such, the issue had been included in the policy review. The Administration considered it important for the public to reach a consensus on whether to set up a trust and the amount of public money to be injected into the trust.

Conserving Central

33. Some Members pointed out that unlike the Revitalization Scheme in respect of which the Administration regularly updated LegCo on the progress and sought its funding approval for the new batches of projects, it was more difficult for LegCo to monitor the "Conserving Central" projects such as Tai Kwun - Centre for Heritage and Arts ("Tai Kwun") and PMQ that were taken forward with funding provided by some partner organizations. Members asked about the Administration's role in monitoring the management and operation of Tai Kwun and PMQ, and whether the Administration had any plan for implementing other revitalization projects through similar partnership approach.

34. The Administration advised that it would avoid micro-managing the daily operations of Tai Kwun and PMQ to allow flexibility for the operators to operate within the agreed framework worked out with the Administration, and the operators of Tai Kwun and PMQ were required to submit audited financial reports to the Administration regularly. It also advised that the "Conserving Central" projects had their uniqueness and high historical value, and currently the Administration had no plan for similar projects in other districts.

Latest development

35. At the meeting to be held on 25 February 2020, the Administration will update members on the progress made on heritage conservation initiatives since the last report in January 2019.

Recommendations of the Report on the Policy Review on Conservation of Built Heritage

Protecting historic buildings

1. (a) To better utilize the existing mechanism in providing incentives and facilitation to owners of graded buildings with a view to providing timely maintenance to avoid dilapidation and reducing the risk of large-scale alteration of graded buildings.
- (b) To examine the setting up of a statutory grading system in the longer run for the protection of graded buildings with safeguarding private property rights.
2. Mandatory purchase or resumption of privately-owned historic buildings should not be pursued. Public money should not be used directly to purchase privately-owned historic buildings. To provide more attractive economic incentives such as financial assistance, relaxation of plot ratio and land exchange, to facilitate private owners to carry out timely maintenance works and protect historic buildings.
3. (a) As the first step, to conduct a study to explore the feasibility of conserving and protecting selected building cluster(s) of unique heritage value under the "point-line-plane" approach.
- (b) In the medium term, to arrange thematic surveys, or mapping exercises, on building cluster(s) of heritage value for drawing up appropriate conservation strategies and protection measures if necessary, and for future planning.
4. To review and, if necessary, amend the Buildings Ordinance, the relevant Practice Note(s) and the Practice Guidebook in order to encourage and facilitate private owners of historic buildings to preserve and adaptively re-use their buildings. These measures should not jeopardize building safety and health standards.

Resources for protecting historic buildings

5. To set up a dedicated fund on conservation of built heritage to provide funding for public education and publicity work as well as academic research undertaken by non-government organizations and other bodies to enhance the understanding and awareness of the public on built heritage conservation; to cover certain government initiatives and activities on built heritage conservation, such as the revitalization of historic buildings and promotion on the importance of timely maintenance to the owners to avoid dilapidation. The fund should not be used to purchase or resume privately-owned historic buildings.
6. To consolidate and scale up the existing economic incentives to attract private owners to conserve their historic buildings, such as adopting the "preservation-cum-development" approach. The incentives should be offered through a more formalized, systematic and well-publicized mechanism and according to the scale, building conditions and heritage value of the privately-owned historic buildings.

Public participation in built heritage conservation

7. To build on the existing public education and publicity work to enhance the understanding and awareness of the public (including private owners of historic buildings) on the conservation of built heritage, such as the importance of timely and proper maintenance for historic buildings to avoid dilapidation. Assistance to non-government organizations and other bodies to undertake this could be supported by the proposed built heritage fund. More creative means such as electronic platforms and innovative devices could be explored.
8. To step up efforts in public engagement and consultation on issues concerning built heritage conservation. On individual conservation projects and issues at the district level, the community could be better consulted through collaboration with partners including District Councils and other non-government organizations. Assistance to non-government organizations and other bodies to undertake this could be supported by the proposed built heritage fund. The Antiquities Advisory Board would continue to advise the Antiquities Authority on policies and territory-wide subjects following thorough public consultation and engagement.

9. (a) For government-owned historic buildings, to provide public access as far as practicable.
- (b) For privately-owned graded buildings, where there is owners' consent, to ensure that certain form of public access is available, such as access to the physical buildings or through certain records.
- (c) To allow flexibility on the requirements on public access to privately-owned graded buildings receiving financial assistance from the Government for preservation and/or maintenance, if it is justified on grounds such as privacy or building stability.
- (d) To prepare detailed records of historic buildings with the aid of new technology where appropriate. The records should be easily accessible by the public.

of the Revitalization Scheme as a suitable proposal that can meet the selection thresholds may not be identified even if the item is re-launched in the next batch. Instead, King Yin Lei will be managed by the Administration and opened for public enjoyment. The Development Bureau is examining the long-term use of King Yin Lei and will announce the details in due course. On 3 December 2019, The Development Bureau announced that King Yin Lei would be included in Batch VI of the Revitalization Scheme.
