

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL BRIEF

Bankruptcy Ordinance
(Chapter 6)

BANKRUPTCY (AMENDMENT) BILL 1998

INTRODUCTION

At the meeting of the Executive Council on 8 September 1998, the Council ADVISED and the Chief Executive ORDERED that the Bankruptcy (Amendment) Bill 1998, at Annex, should be introduced into the Legislative Council to amend the obsolete references to “acts of bankruptcy”, “receiving order” and “composition or scheme of arrangement” in certain provisions of the Bankruptcy Ordinance and ten other ordinances.

BACKGROUND AND ARGUMENT

2. The Bankruptcy (Amendment) Ordinance 1996 (the Amendment Ordinance”), which was enacted on 24 December 1996, has updated and streamlined the laws and procedures relating to personal bankruptcy. The Amendment Ordinance implemented the recommendations contained in the Law Reform Commission’s Report on Bankruptcy” published in May 1995, which included the following -

- (a) abolished the obsolete provisions relating to “acts of bankruptcy” and “bankruptcy notices” and replaced them by simpler and more straight-forward grounds for presenting a “bankruptcy petition”;

- (b) repealed the two-stage system of a “receiving order” followed by an “adjudication order” and replaced by a single “bankruptcy order”; and
- (c) repealed the provisions relating to “compositions and schemes of arrangement” and replaced by a more flexible individual “voluntary arrangement” procedure.

3. Following the approval of the related subsidiary legislation, the Amendment Ordinance was brought into operation on 1 April 1998. However, a recent review has revealed that references to “acts of bankruptcy”, “receiving order” and “compositions or schemes of arrangement” still exist in a number of sections in the Bankruptcy Ordinance and ten other ordinances. Consequential amendments to rectify the situation are therefore necessary.

THE BILL

4. Clause 2 amends two sections in the Bankruptcy Ordinance and the proposed amendments are set out in Schedule 1. Item 1 in the Schedule amends section 99(3) of the Bankruptcy Ordinance by repealing references to “receiving orders” and “compositions or schemes of arrangement” and substituting “bankruptcy orders” and “voluntary arrangement” respectively. Item 2 in the Schedule inserts a new paragraph 2 in Schedule 1 to the Bankruptcy Ordinance specifying that where a criminal bankruptcy order is made against any person, he shall be treated as a debtor against whom grounds exist for a creditor to present a bankruptcy petition. The original paragraph 2, which made reference to the out-moded concept of “acts of bankruptcy”, was repealed by the Amendment Ordinance.

5. Clauses 3 to 12, similarly, make 11 consequential amendments to repeal references to “acts of bankruptcy”, “receiving orders” and “compositions or schemes of arrangement” and substitute “grounds exist for presenting a bankruptcy petition”, “bankruptcy orders” and “voluntary arrangement” as appropriate in ten other ordinances, namely, the Landlord and Tenant (Consolidation) Ordinance, the Sale of Goods Ordinance, the Commodities Trading Ordinance, the Road Traffic Ordinance, the Protection of Wages on Insolvency Ordinance, the Drug Trafficking (Recovery of Proceeds) Ordinance, the Securities and Futures (Clearing Houses) Ordinance, the Leveraged Foreign Exchange Trading Ordinance, the Organised and Serious

Crimes Ordinance, and the Tai Lam Tunnel and Yuen Long Approach Road Ordinance. The detailed amendments are set out in Schedules 2 to 11.

6. The proposed amendments in the Bill are in line with the provisions in the Amendment Ordinance.

PUBLIC CONSULTATION

7. As the proposed amendments in the Bill are technical and consequential in nature, no separate consultation is considered necessary.

HUMAN RIGHTS IMPLICATIONS

8. The Department of Justice advises that the proposed legislation has no human rights implications.
