

HONG KONG BAR ASSOCIATION'S NOTE ON LEGAL EDUCATION

This paper is in response to the request from the LegCo Panel on Administration of Justice and Legal Services to consider a number of issues on the subject of "Legal Education". In the time available, it has simply not been possible to do proper justice to the topic and what follows must of necessity be very limited.

We would point out that the topics to be covered appear to duplicate matters already being considered by the Chief Executive's Advisory Committee on Legal Education (ACLE).

The Hong Kong Bar Association has long been studying the need for further and continuing education of pupils and young barristers after their qualification. To this end, last year the Bar Council appointed a full time Director of Advanced Legal Education and during the past year the Council has embarked on an intensive programme of further and continuing education for pupils and young barristers. We attach herewith as Annexure A a summary of topics thus far covered and Annexure B is a plan for future events from April to July 1999.

The Director of Advanced Legal Education is presently in the process of preparing a paper for the evaluation by the Bar Council of the programme thus far with a view to considering whether to make the lectures, workshops etc compulsory for pupils and the possibility of an exit examination at the end of pupillage.

For the Panel's consideration, I annex marked C a summary of new admissions to the Bar over the past five years.

The question of the entry requirements and curricula for students is not something that the Bar Council considers it should comment upon in the limited time available. Insofar as the Government's recruitment of legal professionals is concerned we are not aware of any difficulties in this regard. Press reports to the contrary, appear to have been inaccurate.

12th April, 1999.
