Composition of the Board of Other Major Exchanges

	Number	Composition
Amsterdam Exchanges	10 members	Cross-section of representatives (e.g. banks, institutional investors, legal/accounting firms and others)
OM Group(Stockholm)	7 members	Cross-section of representatives including banks, the Government, OM Group management and others
Deutsche Borse	25 members	Predominantly shareholding bank representatives
New York Stock Exchanges	24 members plus 2 NYSE officers	Twelve from the securities industry, twelve public directors, plus two NYSE officers, the CEO and the COO
Australian Stock Exchange	9 members	Four senior members of the stockbroking community, four senior members of the business community and the remaining member is the managing director (and sole executive director)
London Stock Exchange	14 members	Chairman, Deputy Chairman, Chief Executive, two executive and nine non-executive directors (including three independent members and the others from either member firms or users of the Exchange)

As can be seen above, the boards of directors of the other exchanges in general contain representatives from other relevant sectors and professions apart from those directly from the securities industry, and in some cases government/public interest representatives. We are still trying to find out their method of appointment.
