

Meeting of the Legislative Council Panel on Home Affairs
on 13 March 2000

Concluding observations of the UN Human Rights Committee on the Report of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region (HKSAR) of the People's Republic of China (PRC) in the light of the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR)

The Human Rights Committee (the Committee) issued its concluding observations - reproduced at Annex - on 4 November 1999.

2. We are most attentive to what the Committee has said, not only their positive comments but also their concerns. We are considering them very carefully and positively with an open mind. Those issues are of great importance. Members of the Panel will, however, appreciate that our position in relation to them, as presented in our report and at the hearing, were formulated after the most careful consideration in response to the demands of the situations that they were intended to address.

3. It must be borne in mind that the development of human rights in Hong Kong has been progressive and positive and - in some cases - has been accomplished through prudent, incremental, progression. It is in that context that we are now considering our position on the Committee's conclusions and on the way forward.

4. But it should not be forgotten that the ICCPR hearing and the consideration of the concluding observations are just one aspect - albeit a highly important one - of our work in relation to human rights. Our ongoing efforts in that regard will continue apace. Those efforts include our established programmes in the area of equal opportunities, our promotional activities, and the preparation and submission of our reports under the various human rights treaties.

5. Beyond those, we have undertaken special initiatives in affirmation of our commitment to the promulgation of human rights. One such initiative was the recent visit of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights, Mrs Mary Robinson, who visited Hong Kong on 29 February 2000 at our invitation. Additionally, we have invited the United Nations Human Rights Committee (HRC) - the Treaty Monitoring Body for the ICCPR - to visit the HKSAR for the first time since the reunification. We are pleased to advise the Panel that the HRC's Chairperson has accepted our invitation and has proposed that the visit take place in the second half of this year. To ensure that the Committee's representatives obtain a balanced picture and hear a wide range of opinions, their programme will include meetings with Legislative Councillors, NGOs and Government officials. We will advise the Panel as soon as the dates for the visit have been confirmed.

6. In the interim, we are grateful to the Panel for providing this opportunity for us to listen to Members' views, both in relation to the concluding observations themselves and to the substantive issues to which they relate. Those views will be a valuable contribution to our ongoing consideration of the Committee's observations.

*Concluding observations of the Human Rights Committee
Hong Kong Special Administrative Region : Hong Kong (China). 04/11/99.
CCPR/C/79/Add.117. (Concluding Observations/Comments)*

UNEDITED

HUMAN RIGHTS COMMITTEE
Sixty-seventh session

CONSIDERATION OF REPORTS SUBMITTED BY STATES PARTIES
UNDER ARTICLE 40 OF THE COVENANT
Concluding observations of the Human Rights Committee

Hong Kong Special Administrative Region

1. The Committee considered the fifth periodic report of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region (CCPR/C/HKSAR/99/1 and supplementary information CCPR/C/HKSAR/99/1/Add.1) at its 1803rd to 1805th meetings (CCPR/C/SR.1803-SR.1805), held on 1 and 2 November 1999. This report is the first submitted by the People's Republic of China after the return of HKSAR to Chinese sovereignty on 1 July 1997. The Committee adopted, at its 1810th meeting (sixty-seventh session) held on 4 November 1999, the following concluding observations:

A. Introduction

2. The Committee expresses appreciation to the delegation from HKSAR for the information it provided and for its willingness to submit further information in writing. It further welcomes the recognition given by the delegation to the contribution made by NGOs to the consideration of the HKSAR report.

3. The Committee thanks the People's Republic of China for its willingness to participate in the reporting procedure under article 40 of the Covenant by submitting the report prepared by the HKSAR authorities and by introducing the HKSAR delegation to the Committee. The Committee affirms its earlier pronouncements on the continuity of the reporting obligations in relation to Hong Kong.

B. Positive aspects

4. The Committee notes that Article 39 of the Basic Law provides that the provisions of the Covenant as applied to HKSAR shall remain in force and shall be implemented through the laws of HKSAR. The Committee welcomes the fact that the primacy of the Covenant is ensured in domestic legislation by a combination of Articles 39 and 11 of the Basic Law.

5. The Committee welcomes the efforts undertaken by the HKSAR to give publicity to its report and its commitment to give wide dissemination to the Committee's concluding observations.

6. The Committee welcomes the efforts undertaken by HKSAR to educate civil society about human rights. In particular, the Committee welcomes the great number of training courses, workshops and seminars conducted in HKSAR for all sectors of the population, including the civil service, the judiciary, the police and the educational establishments.

7. The Committee welcomes the steps taken by HKSAR to promote gender equality through educational campaigns and appropriate legislation.

C. Principal subjects of concern and recommendations

8. The Committee is concerned that most of the recommendations formulated in the Committee's concluding observations (published in A/51/40, paras. 66-72; A/52/40, paras. 84-85) have not yet been implemented.

9. The Committee remains concerned that there is no independent body established by law to investigate and monitor human rights violations in HKSAR and the implementation of Covenant rights.

10. The Committee is seriously concerned at the implications for the independence of the judiciary of the request by the Chief Executive of HKSAR for a reinterpretation of article 24(2)(3) of the Basic Law by the Standing Committee of the National People's Congress (NPC) (under article 158 of the Basic Law) following upon the decision of the Court of Final Appeal (CFA) in the Ng Ka Ling and Chan Kam Nga cases, which placed a particular interpretation on article 24(2)(3). The Committee has noted the statement of the HKSAR that it would not seek another such interpretation except in highly exceptional circumstances. Nevertheless, the Committee remains concerned that a request by the executive branch of government for an interpretation under article 158(1) of the Basic Law could be used in circumstances that undermine the right to a fair trial under article 14.

11. The Committee takes the view that the Independent Police Complaints Council has not the power to ensure proper and effective investigation of complaints against the police. The Committee remains concerned that investigations of police misconduct are still in the hands of the police themselves, which undermines the credibility of these investigations.

The HKSAR should reconsider its approach on this issue and should provide for independent investigation of complaints against the police.

12. The Committee reiterates its concern, expressed in paragraph 19 of its concluding observations, adopted at the end of the consideration of the fourth periodic report, that the electoral system for the Legislative Council does not comply with articles 2, para.1, 25 and 26 of the Covenant. The Committee is concerned about the impending abolition of the Municipal Councils that would further diminish the opportunity of HKSAR residents to take part in the conduct of public affairs, that is guaranteed under article 25.

The HKSAR should reconsider this step. It should take all necessary measures to maintain and strengthen democratic representation of HKSAR residents in public affairs.

13. The Committee is concerned that the Interception of Communications Ordinance, which was passed in June 1997 in order to restrict the power of the authorities to intercept communications, has not yet been brought into effect. Section 33 of the Telecommunication Ordinance and Section 13 of the Post Office Ordinance still continue to be in force, thus allowing the authorities to violate the right to privacy under article 17 of the Covenant.

The HKSAR must ensure that its law and practice protect the rights guaranteed under article 17.

14. In the light of the fact that the Covenant is applied in HKSAR subject to a reservation that seriously affects the application of article 13 in relation to decision-making procedures in deportation cases, the Committee remains concerned that persons facing a risk of imposition of the death penalty or of torture, or inhuman, cruel or degrading treatment as a consequence of their deportation from HKSAR may not enjoy effective protection.

In order to secure compliance with articles 6 and 7 in deportation cases, the HKSAR should ensure that their deportation procedures provide effective protection against the risk of imposition of the death penalty or of torture or inhuman, cruel or degrading treatment.

15. The Committee remains concerned that no legislative remedies are available to individuals in respect of discrimination on the grounds of race or sexual orientation.

Necessary legislation should be enacted in order to ensure full compliance with article 26 of the Covenant.

16. The Committee is concerned that the educational system in HKSAR discriminates against girls in selection for secondary schools, that considerable differences exist in the earning levels between men and women, that women are under-represented in public boards and public offices, and that there is discrimination against women in the Small Home Policy.

The HKSAR should adopt positive measures to overcome discrimination against women and should ensure equal pay for work of equal value.

17. The Committee is concerned that the age of criminal responsibility is 7 years and takes note of the statement by the Delegation that the Law Reform Commission is currently conducting a review of this matter.

The age of criminal responsibility should be raised so as to ensure the rights of children under article 24.

18. The Committee is concerned that the offences of treason and sedition under the Crimes Ordinance are defined in overly broad terms, thus endangering freedom of expression guaranteed under article 19 of the Covenant.

All laws enacted under article 23 of the Basic Law must be in conformity with the Covenant.

19. With regard to freedom of assembly, the Committee is aware that there are very frequent public demonstrations in HKSAR and takes note of the Delegation's statement that permission to hold demonstrations is never denied. Nevertheless, the Committee is concerned that the Public Order Ordinance could be applied to restrict unduly enjoyment of the rights guaranteed in article 21 of the Covenant.

The HKSAR should review this Ordinance and bring its terms into compliance with article 21 of the Covenant.

20. With regard to freedom of association, the Committee is concerned that the Societies Ordinance may be applied in a way to restrict unduly the enjoyment of Article 22 rights.

The HKSAR should review this Ordinance so as to ensure full protection of the right to freedom of association, including trade union rights, under article 22 of the Covenant.

D. Date of examination of the sixth periodic report;
dissemination of Information

21. The Committee sets the date for the submission of the next periodic report as 31 October 2003. That report should be prepared in accordance with the Committee's new Guidelines (CCPR/C/66/GUI) and should give particular attention to the issues raised by the Committee in these Concluding Observations. The Committee urges that the text of these concluding observations be made available to the public as well as to the legislative and administrative authorities. It requests that the next periodic report be widely disseminated among the public, including civil society and non-governmental organisations operating in HKSAR.
