Explanatory Memorandum

The purpose of this Bill is to amend the Marriage Ordinance (Cap. 181) to lower the age under which a proposed party to an intended marriage is required to obtain written consent from 21 to 18 years.

2. Clause 3 lowers the age under which a proposed party to an intended marriage is required to obtain written consent from 21 to 18 years.
3. Under the existing section 29 of the Marriage Ordinance, a person who knowingly marries or assists or procures any other person to marry a person under 21 years of age without the required consent under section 14 is guilty of an offence and punishable by fine and imprisonment. Clause 4 lowers the age under which a proposed party to an intended marriage is required to obtain written consent from 21 to 18 years in respect of such an offence.
