

Mock Council debate on motion

Strengthening youth participation in policy decision-making

Hong Kong has seen many conflicts and complicated developments in recent years. To solve the problems in the long run, Hong Kong needs to increase young people's interest and participation in social affairs and politics. Therefore, this Council urges the Government to set up a governmental advisory structure with a majority of its members being young people aged 15 to 24 who are elected directly by all young people in Hong Kong, so as to engage young people directly in policy decision-making processes and enable young people to voice and influence on important government policies.
