

Written Views on the Accreditation of Academic and Vocational Qualifications Bill

- It facilitates the industry to select the employees with appropriate qualification and training.
- It facilitates the public or the industry to select the appropriate courses.
- It can ensure the courses provided are appropriate and have good quality to suit the need of the industry.
- In Hong Kong, the majority of industries are the application of technologies, hence vocational training is equally important as academic qualifications.
- In my opinion, the introduction of the qualification framework provides quality graduates and trainees to meet the need of the industry.

Submitted By:

Colin C L CHUNG
Registered Professional Engineer (Building Services & Mechanical)
FHKIE, FCIBSE, CEng FIMechE
November 2005