The same subject was covered in paragraphs 16 to 18 and paragraph 61 of the Chief Executive's 2004 and 2005 Policy Address respectively. Hon Mrs Sophie LEUNG expressed the view that the Government should strive to provide the business and industrial sectors with an "enabling environment".

Under the steer of the Economic and Employment Council, the Subgroup on Business Facilitation and its dedicated task forces have been studying ways to remove outdated or unnecessary regulations on business sectors that have significant impact on the economy and employment. Concrete recommendations have been made to simplify and improve the regulatory regimes impacting on the real estate, construction, retail and entertainment business sectors. The concerned government bureaux and departments are taking forward the improvement measures where consensus has been reached, including simplification of lease conditions, setting up of an enquiry system on land matters, parallel processing the modification and ordinance-related issues pertaining to land leases; and simplifying and improving the food retail and cinema licensing regimes.

At the Panel meeting held on 12 October 2004, Hon Mrs Sophie LEUNG recapped her concern about the importance of an "enabling" business environment. She said that the Panel might wish to explore the subject further with the Administration and that in due course, the Panel might consider requesting the Research and Library Services Division of the Secretariat to conduct some research on the subject.
