Miss Erin Tsang
Clerk to Panel
Panel on Commerce and Industry
Legislative Council Building
8 Jackson Road
Central
Hong Kong

Dear Miss Tsang,

Panel on Commerce and Industry - Hong Kong's position as an international convention and exhibition centre

I refer to item 5(a) of the list of follow-up actions for the Panel on Commerce and Industry.

The AsiaWorld-Expo (AWE) is a public-private partnership project operated through a joint venture company, namely the Hong Kong IEC Limited (HKIEC Ltd), owned by IEC Holdings Limited (itself a joint venture formed by the Government and the Airport Authority (AA)) and a private-sector consortium called IEC Investments Limited selected via a competitive tendering exercise.

The legal agreement setting out the rights and obligations of the shareholders contain confidentiality provisions preventing release of confidential information. Since the exhibition industry is a competitive business, AWE considers that its financial information and utilization rates are commercially sensitive information, the disclosure of which would undermine its ability to compete in both the local and international markets.

According to AWE, it has generated positive cashflow from its operation in the first year, and has developed an expanding list of activities hosted by leading local and international organisers. Moreover, AWE's financial results for the first year of its full operation were more favourable than its original forecasts. During the year, major organizers from Hong Kong, the Mainland, Europe and the United States have held more than 40 events at AWE, and 90% were held in Hong Kong for the first time. These included the ITU TELECOM WORLD 2006, which was held outside Geneva for the first time in its 33-year history.

AWE has secured another good event calendar for 2007, with a packed schedule during the peak months in Spring and Autumn and a mix of repeat bookings and new events. As at end May 2007, AWE has secured over 45 events for 2007 (a list of major events held in 2006 and bookings confirmed for 2007 so far is attached at Annex). Of note is the booking of the Asian Aerospace International Expo and Congress 2007, which is the world's third largest aerospace show to be relocated from Singapore. AWE has also become a popular venue for concerts and entertainment events involving major international and local artists and has hosted 20 performances since it started operation in January 2006.

One of the major focuses of AWE's business plan is to work on building up more anchor events. For example, AWE has recently secured agreement from a major customer to renew its current contracts (the new contracts are valued at approximately $350 million) to host at AWE from 2009 to 2012 a series of major trade fairs. The customer relocated these fairs from Shanghai to AWE in 2006. They are key events of their kinds in the region, and last October attracted more than 81,000 buyers from Hong Kong and overseas, with suppliers from the Mainland, Hong Kong, Taiwan, Korea, India and across Southeast Asia bringing more than 7,000 booths to the shows.

AWE will proactively pursue opportunities to develop exhibitions or other events around a variety of themes that are new to Hong Kong and offer growth potential.

Yours sincerely,

( Ms Linda Lai )
for Secretary for Commerce,
Industry and Technology
