當緊急車輛鳴號、閃燈 When the siren or beacon of an emergency vehicle is activated

救人搶險，爭分奪秒。
緊急車輛（包括警車、
消防車、救護車）若響
起警號，發出閃燈，其
他司機必須讓路。

As time is precious in saving lives and property, drivers must give way and take all possible actions to make way for the passage of emergency vehicles (including police vehicles, fire services vehicles and ambulances) which are sounding sirens or displaying flashing beacons.

違例司機可被罰款
2,000元。

Any driver who fails to do so is liable to a fine of $2,000.

給駕駛人士的貼士： Tips For Motorists:

駕駛時留意緊急車輛。

Stay alert of emergency vehicles when driving.

保持冷靜，留意路面情況，切勿突然停車、轉向、轉線。

Do not panic. Pay attention to road traffic conditions. Do not suddenly stop or change direction or traffic lane.

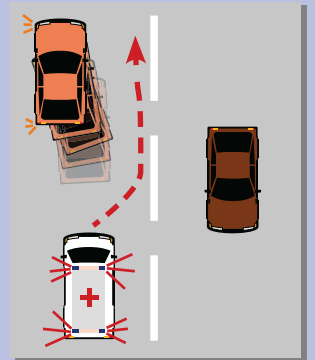

駛離隨後緊急車輛的通道。

Move your vehicle out of the path of the emergency vehicle behind you.

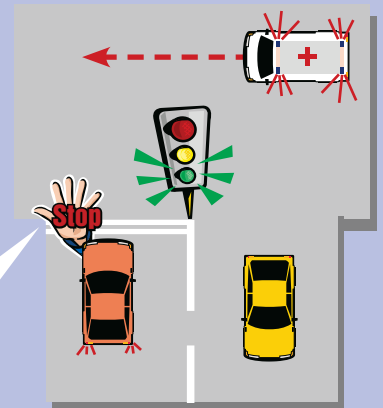

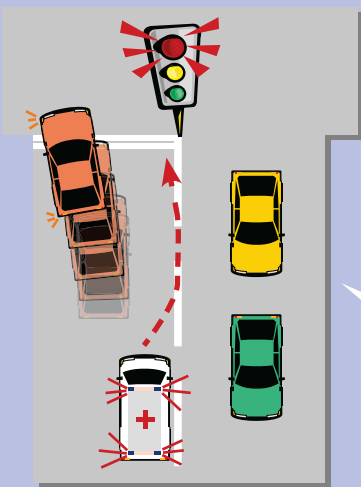

緊急車輛若迎面駛來，請適當地減速或停車，讓緊急車輛通過。

When the emergency vehicle is approaching from the opposite direction, slow down or stop your vehicle as appropriate to facilitate the passage of the emergency vehicle.

若當時正駛近路口，即使遇上綠燈，也應減速或停車，讓緊急車輛先通行。

When approaching a junction, be cautious about the coming of emergency vehicles. Slow down or stop your vehicle and let the emergency vehicle pass through the junction first even if you have the green light.

如在紅燈前等候時有緊急車輛從後駛來，請於安全情況下駛到路邊，或小心駛出口口，讓緊急車輛通過。

While you are stopped at a signal junction for a red light, move your vehicle to the roadside or drive into the junction carefully if you can do so safely to facilitate the passage of emergency vehicles.

給行人的貼士：

Tips For Pedestrians:

緊急車輛駛近時，提高警惕，以防緊急車輛突然改變行車方向。

Stay alert and be prepared for any sudden change of direction of emergency vehicles when they are approaching.

駕車在長斜路下坡時，應減速，但切勿只靠制車掣減速，以免制車掣因過熱而失效。駕駛人士應留意以下安全駕駛貼士。

When driving on long steep downhill roads, your speed will accelerate. Slowing the vehicle by simply applying the brake is not appropriate as this can overheat the brake making it less effective. Motorists are advised to pay attention to the following driving tips.

When Driving on Long Steep Downhill Roads
