9. Setting up an intermediary body for the effective enforcement of maintenance orders

March/April 2010

This item was last discussed on 13 June 2008. Some members were of the view that instead of making piecemeal changes to the existing system of enforcement of maintenance orders, the Administration should consider the establishment of an intermediary body for the collection of maintenance payments and make reference to the successful experience of Australia. These members considered that such a body could assist the maintenance payees in handling the cumbersome legal procedures in collecting maintenance payments.

At the meeting on 14 October 2008, Hon CHEUNG Kwok-che expressed concern that the issue had been outstanding for a long time and little progress had been made. He suggested that the Panel should revisit this item.

At the informal meeting between the Panel Chairman/Deputy Chairman and SHA held on 3 November 2008, the Administration maintained the view that an intermediary body per se would not bring significant benefits over and above those that could be achieved by improving the existing system through various legislative and administrative measures. The Administration did not consider that there were justifiable reasons to support the establishment of an intermediary body to help maintenance payees to collect maintenance payments.

At the informal meeting between the Chairman/Deputy Chairman and SHA on 9 November 2009, the Administration reiterated its stance on the issue as stated in the preceding paragraph. It was agreed that subject to members' view, the item should be deleted from the list.

At the regular meeting on 13 November 2009, the Administration agreed to provide an information paper and brief the Panel at its meeting in December 2009 on the implementation of the improvement measures to help maintenance payees to collect maintenance payments before a decision was made on the deletion of the item, as requested by Hon Cyd HO.

At the meeting on 11 December 2009, members expressed disappointment over the lack of progress in the implementation of legislative and administrative measures for strengthening the enforcement of maintenance orders by the Administration. In the absence of effective legislative and administrative measures, members reiterated the need for the Administration to re-consider the option of establishing an intermediary body to collect and enforce maintenance payments, which in their view was the ultimate solution to resolving issues of default by maintenance payers. Members requested the Administration to further review the problems encountered by maintenance payees, make recommendations to resolve these problems and devise a timetable for implementing these measures. The Administration agreed to revert to the Panel in about three months, as requested by Hon CHEUNG Kwok-che and Hon Cyd HO.
