Qualifications of Assessors

Our Society supports that persons in the (d) category of the assessors should be recommended by NGO if he or she would like to become an approved assessor.

For the first three categories a) to c) of assessors, since they are accredited with the relevant professional qualifications by public bodies, we can accept they possess the right field work and case handling experience to carry out productivity assessment work for the disabled fairly and properly.

However, for category d) vocational rehabilitation practitioners, since we rely on their past experience in vocational rehabilitation to make the productivity assessment for the disabled and they have no relevant professional qualifications to support their quality of work, recommendation by an NGO to affirm and certify their vocational rehabilitation experience to ensure quality assessment is necessary.
