PANEL ON DEVELOPMENT

Management Scheme for the Display of Roadside Non-commercial Publicity Materials

Purpose

This paper sets out the Administration's plan to revise the Management Scheme for the Display of Roadside Non-commercial Publicity Materials ("Management Scheme").

The Existing Management Scheme

2. The display of bills and posters is regulated by the Public Health and Municipal Services Ordinance, Cap. 132. Under section 104A(1)(b), no bill or poster shall be displayed or affixed on Government land, except with the written permission of the Authority. Under section 104C, where a bill or poster is displayed in contravention of section 104A(1), the Authority may remove the bill or poster and may recover the cost of removal from the person displaying the bill or poster as a civil debt. It is an offence to display bills and posters on Government land without the said written permission. The Director of Food and Environmental Hygiene (DFEH) is the Authority to enforce sections 104A and 104C on Government land including public roads.

3. While the enforcement against illegal display of bills and posters including removal and prosecution actions is undertaken by the Food and Environmental Hygiene Department (FEHD), certain categories of officers in the Lands Department (LandsD) have been delegated the authority under section 104A(1)(b) of Cap. 132 by the DFEH to approve applications for use of designated spots on roadside railings and central dividers by Legislative Council (LegCo) and District Council (DC) Members, DCs and their committees, Government departments and non-profit making bodies to display non-commercial publicity materials. The arrangements have been formalized in the form of the Management Scheme which was implemented in 2003 after consultation with the 18 DCs in 2002 and the LegCo Panel on Planning, Lands and Works on 7 March 2003. The details of the existing Management Scheme are set out in a pamphlet at Annex A.

4. At present there are 22 451 designated spots in the whole territory under the Management Scheme including 2 816 spots at central dividers, 3 342 spots within 10 meters on the traffic downstream side of the pedestrian crossings/road junctions and the remaining 16 293 spots in other locations. For road safety reasons, no banner spots are located at (a) the sections of roadside railings within 30 meters on the traffic upstream side of pedestrian crossings/road junctions (with the exception that banner spots within a one-way street will not be subject to the 30-meter safety restriction if they do not obstruct the views of drivers getting on to a major road); and (b) the sections of central dividers within 30 meters on both the traffic upstream and downstream sides of pedestrian crossings/road junctions because this is considered as the shortest stopping distance required by a general motorist to think and to stop his car after he has seen the danger on a road with a speed of 50km/h.

Review of the Management Scheme

5. The Ombudsman issued a report on “Control of Roadside Banners” in December 2008 putting forward a number of recommendations on the Management Scheme (a copy of the Report is at Annex B). The recommendations touched mainly on : (A) the objective of the Management Scheme; (B) the rules of the Management Scheme; and (C) the locations of the designated spots under the Management Scheme. The Administration thereafter gave careful consideration to the Ombudsman’s recommendations.

(A) Objective

6. To give effect to The Ombudsman’s recommendation to articulate the objective of the Management Scheme for public information, the Administration would be prepared to revise the objective as follows :

“The display of bills and posters on Government land including display of roadside publicity materials is an offence unless such display is with the written permission of the Authority by virtue of section 104A(1) of the Public Health and Municipal Services Ordinance, Cap.132. The Management Scheme aims at ensuring that the display of roadside publicity materials :

- (a) is for the purpose of the promotion of public awareness of matters of general and significant community interests of non-commercial nature. In this connection, priority will be given to such display which is by LegCo and DC Members to communicate with their constituents, which seeks to promote public awareness or participation in matters of district administration and community building, and which is by the Government to promote important public events and campaigns such as the East Asian Games, “Keep Hong Kong Clean” and “Anti Drug Abuse”;

- (b) is permitted in an orderly fashion for those classes of persons specified in the Management Scheme at spots designated by the Authority;
- (c) will not prejudice the safety of pedestrians and motorists using the road concerned; and
- (d) is subject to such other terms and conditions provided in the Management Scheme such as the maintenance and removal of the banners.”

(B) Rules

7. Taking aboard the Ombudsman’s recommendations to revise the rules for proper administration of the Management Scheme, the Administration would be prepared to make clear in a revised pamphlet that –

- (a) the display of roadside publicity materials is for the purpose of the promotion of public awareness of matters of general and significant community interest of non-commercial nature. In this connection, priority will be given to such display :
  - (i) which is by LegCo and DC Members to communicate with their constituents, which seeks to promote public awareness or participation in matters of district administration and community building; and
  - (ii) which is by the Government to promote important public events and campaigns such as the East Asia Games, “Keep Hong Kong Clean” and “Anti-Drug Abuse”;
- (b) the information imparted must comply with the requirements below :
  - (i) the information must not promote any commodities, services provided at a fee, fee paying training courses and activities.

(However, the restriction does not apply to services, training courses and activities co-organised by government departments. For these cases, written confirmation from concerned government departments is required.);

- (ii) transfer, loaning out or assignment of the designated spots is not allowed;
  - (iii) there should be conspicuous and clear indication on the display itself of the individual or organisation allocated the spot. The individual or organisation must be the chief beneficiary of the display; and
  - (iv) the contents of the publicity materials to be displayed shall be in compliance with the laws of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region. No publicity materials of an obscene or objectionable nature shall be displayed;
- (c) the approval of applications does not imply any endorsement or approval of the contents of the publicity materials by the Government of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region or its officers; and
- (d) no commercial advertisement shall be permitted.

(C) Locations of the Designated Spots

8. The Ombudsman expressed concern that roadside banners could come loose over time or in poor weather conditions and this could pose traffic hazard, especially where they were attached to central dividers or close to pedestrian crossings. The Administration would therefore be prepared to replace all the 2 816 banner spots at central dividers and those 3 342 spots within 10 meters on the traffic downstream side of pedestrian crossings/road junctions. The Administration would find the replacement spots to make up the original number of 22 451 spots, albeit that the 6 158 replacement spots could well be located in less prominent locations than the original ones.

Public Consultations

9. The Administration sought the views of the motorist associations/road safety concern groups and academics in July 2010 on the recommendations to replace the designated spots at central dividers of roads and within 10 meters on the traffic downstream side of pedestrian crossings/road junctions. The consultees generally supported the proposed changes from the traffic safety grounds. The Administration also conducted a public opinion survey in May 2010. The results showed that the public were largely in favour of the proposal to replace the existing banner spots at central dividers and those within 10 meters on the traffic downstream side of pedestrian crossings/road junctions.

10. To take forward the above changes to the Management Scheme, LandsD, together with FEHD, Transport Department (TD) and Home Affairs Department consulted the Chairmen and Vice-chairmen of the 18 DCs on 17 June 2010, followed by a district by district consultation with the 18 DCs. DC Members were generally receptive to the proposed changes regarding the objective and rules of the Management Scheme. As for the locations of the spots to be replaced, DC Members' views were diverse. In general, DC Members viewed the prohibition of banners on central dividers as less controversial given the road safety concerns but opposed more strongly against the 10-meter traffic downstream prohibition.

11. During the consultation, DC Members also commented on the enforcement against unauthorized banners. Members voiced dissatisfaction with the current enforcement efforts against unauthorized publicity materials. Some DC Members criticized the Administration for not being proactive enough in taking enforcement actions. DC Members generally considered that a more comprehensive enforcement system should be put in place and called for enhanced enforcement action against all unauthorized publicity materials.

12. The Administration noted that DCs are generally supportive of the revised objective and rules and would proceed to implement the revised versions. After carefully reflecting on DCs' views on the locations of the designated spots, the Administration would be prepared to revise its earlier plan by proceeding to replace only the 2 816 banner locations at the central dividers of roads and to keep the 3 342 spots within 10 meters on the traffic downstream side of the pedestrian crossings/road junctions pending further study. There would be replacement spots for the 2 816 banner locations at the central dividers and so the total number of banner locations would remain unchanged at 22 451. More information would be collected to assess the need to replace the banner spots at less than 10-meter downstream from pedestrian crossings/road junctions.

13. To address DCs' concerns, the Administration would step up the enforcement action against unauthorized publicity materials. Unauthorized display outside the designated spots as well as the authorized ones not complying with the revised implementation rules would be removed and the removal cost would be recovered pursuant to section 104C of Cap. 132. Prosecution may also be taken where appropriate.

14. The Chairmen and Vice-chairmen of the DCs were briefed on 16 June 2011 of the Administration's revised plan to implement a revised Management Scheme. They were generally supportive of the revisions and the proposed enhancement of enforcement against illegal display of banners. They also agreed that the implementation of the revised plan could improve traffic safety and the cityscape.

Implementation of the Revised Management Scheme

15. A new pamphlet to promulgate the revised Management Scheme will be published later this year. Thereafter, enhanced enforcement action will be taken against all unauthorised publicity materials.

16. Under the arrangements for the DC election to be held on 6 November 2011 and Election Committee Subsector (ECSS) elections to be held on 11 December 2011, all approvals given for the display of publicity materials will be revoked before the DC election. Therefore, LegCo Members, DC Members and other users of designated spots will not be allowed to display publicity materials starting from mid August 2011 until the completion of DC and ECSS elections and removal of the election advertisements by the candidates of the elections. After the DC election, LandsD will invite the DC Members of the next term to choose their designated spots and current LegCo Members to choose the replacement spots for replacing the cancelled spots at central dividers (if any). The allocation of designated spots will be completed by the end of December 2011. Regarding the designated spots which were allocated to LegCo Members before the DC election (except for the cancelled spots at central dividers), they will be returned to the concerned LegCo Members on 1 January 2012. Hence, all LegCo and DC Members may start displaying publicity materials on 1 January 2012.

INTRODUCTION

BACKGROUND

1.1           Publicity banners at roadside have for years been a feature of Hong Kong's street scene. By nature, these banners constitute a form of encroachment upon public space and may cause visual obstruction and pollution. Where they block sightline and distract motorists or wear out and come loose, they pose traffic hazard, for drivers and pedestrians. Display of such banners should, therefore, be properly monitored and controlled.

1.2           Government has a Management Scheme for the Display of Roadside Non-commercial Publicity Materials ("the Scheme"), under which Government departments, Legislative Council ("LegCo") Members, District Councils ("DCs"), DC Members and certain non-profit making organisations may be given approval to put up such banners for display for specified period. This is administered by the Lands Department ("Lands D"). Unauthorised banners are removed in joint operations by Lands D and the Food and Environmental Hygiene Department ("FEHD"), with the former checking whether the banners are authorised and the latter taking records and removing unauthorised banners under the Public Health and Municipal Services Ordinance (Cap 132)<sup>1</sup>.

<sup>1</sup> Under section 104A of the Public Health and Municipal Services Ordinance (Cap 132), the display of publicity materials without permission is prohibited. The Director of Food and Environmental Hygiene is empowered under 104C of the Ordinance to remove publicity materials which contravene section 104A.

1.3 In August 2006, The Ombudsman completed a direct investigation assessment on whether appropriate measures were in place to prevent proliferation of roadside banners and to ensure their secure installation and timely removal. On completion of the assessment, a number of suggestions were made to Lands D and FEHD, such as limiting the number of designated spots, tightening the criteria for designation of spots, imposing requirements to ensure tidiness, removing dilapidated banners in a timely manner and keeping statistics. Details are at Annex 1. We have been monitoring progress since.

1.4 Despite the above development, complaints have continued to be lodged with this Office. These have focussed on how roadside banners are used by LegCo and DC Members, summarised as follows:

- (a) The banner features more than one person, with only minor coverage given to the individual or organisation allocated the banner spot.
- (b) The banner is used to promote personalities affiliated to the individual or organisation allocated the banner spot (e.g. a political aide or member of the same political party), not the individual himself or herself.
- (c) The banner features solely a person or persons apparently unrelated to the individual or organisation allocated the banner spot, as if the spot has been "loaned" or "assigned" to some other person or persons, possibly for some consideration.

1.5 Given the developments since our assessment in 2006 and the continuing complaints, The Ombudsman saw a need to examine the Scheme in greater detail. After preliminary inquiries and scrutiny of relevant information from Lands D, The Ombudsman informed the Director of Lands on 19 September 2008 of her decision to initiate a direct investigation under section 7(1)(a)(ii) of The Ombudsman Ordinance (Cap 397).

AMBIT

1.6 This investigation has focused on:

- (a) the intent and purpose of the Scheme;
- (b) the extent to which the rules of the Scheme accurately reflect its purpose;
- (c) the effectiveness of control measures, including rules on contents of banners and prevention of misuse of banner spots;
- (d) the criteria for designation of banner spots;
- (e) arrangements for public consultation; and
- (f) Lands D's decision not to pursue one of the proposals put to them on completion of our previous study (para. 1.3).

INVESTIGATION PROCESS

1.7 Based on the information collected through our preliminary inquiries (para. 1.5), we produced a draft investigation report, outlining our tentative observations and views, and sent it to the Director of Lands on 19 September 2008 for comments. We received written comments from Lands D on 3 November 2008 and had meetings with Lands D officers on 29 September 2008 and the Director of Lands on 2 December 2008. This final report was issued on 15 December 2008.

THE SCHEME

BACKGROUND

2.1 Before 2003, under the then prevailing policy on display of banners, posters and bunting in public areas, only those promoting “events and exhibitions of general interest and benefit to the public” might be approved by Lands D. Examples were special functions, trade fairs and festivals. The 1980s and 90s saw the proliferation of roadside banners put up freely by all and sundry, amongst them politicians and estate agents, without due regard to traffic safety or general aesthetics. In the early 1990s, Government began to formulate measures to address the problem. Two pilot schemes to regulate roadside banners were run in June 1993 and November 1996 respectively. Following rounds of consultation in the ensuing years, the Scheme was introduced in April 2003:

Time of Consultation	Bodies Consulted
August 1998 – March 1999	LegCo Panel on Planning, Lands and Works Provisional Urban Council Provisional Regional Council Provisional District Boards District Management Committees
June 2002 – October 2002	District Councils
March 2003	LegCo Panel on Planning, Lands and Works

2.2 According to Lands D's discussion paper to the LegCo Panel on Planning, Lands and Works in March 2003, the objective of the Scheme is:

"To put in place a more efficient system for the management and processing of applications for the display of roadside non-commercial publicity materials".

2.3 The paper gives the practical reason for introducing the Scheme, but is silent on why there should be authorised displays and why certain individuals, organisations, kinds of activities or messages should be allocated spots for display. As such spots are prime site on public streets, they are a privilege at public expense. However, the objective of the Scheme has never been clearly stated.

APPROVAL FOR DISPLAY

2.4 Beneficiaries of the Scheme are limited to non-profit making bodies, LegCo Members, DCs and DC Members as well as Government departments. LegCo and DC Members have been the major users.

2.5 The numbers of spots open for application by organisations are listed in Table 1:

Table 1: Number of Spots for Organisations

Organisation	Number of Spots
Non-profit making bodies	A minimum of 100 spots in each district
DCs and committees	A minimum of 30 spots for each DC and committees
Government departments	A minimum of 50 spots in each district

Approval is given case by case, each for two calendar months less the last two days. The contents of the banners are subject to prior approval.

2.6 In contrast, LegCo and DC Members are allocated a prescribed number of designated spots for the entire tenure of their office. The numbers of spots allocated are listed in Table 2:

Table 2: Number of Spots for LegCo and DC Members

LegCo/DC Member	Number of Spots
LegCo Member from Geographical Constituency	50 in each DC district within his/her own Geographical Constituency <sup>2</sup>
LegCo Member from Functional Constituency	9 in each DC district
DC Member	10 <sup>3</sup> in his/her own constituency

No case-by-case approval is required for LegCo and DC Members. Hence, the contents of their banners are not subject to prior vetting or approval.

2.7 According to Lands D, spots created under the Scheme number 21,821 in total. A breakdown of spots allocated to LegCo and DC Members prior to the LegCo Election in September 2008 and spots available for application by organisations is in Table 3:

Table 3: Number of Spots Created

Allocated
LegCo Members (60)	8,096
DC Members (534)	5,171
Available for Application
Non-profit making organisations	5,109
DCs (18) and committees	1,117
Government departments (61)	2,328
Total:	21,821

<sup>2</sup> With the exception of eight districts (Tai Po, Sha Tin, Sai Kung, Yuen Long, Islands, Tsuen Wan, Kwai Tsing and Wan Chai).

DESIGNATION OF SPOTS

2.8 The locations of the spots for non-profit making bodies, DCs as well as Government departments are determined jointly by DCs, District Offices and District Lands Offices ("DLOs") under Lands D.

2.9 Spots for LegCo and DC Members have been designated in consultation with the Members themselves upon introduction of the Scheme. At the start of the tenure of their office, LegCo and DC Members can choose from the spots designated, as shown in Table 2. Competing demands are resolved by ballot conducted by the relevant DLO.

2.10 For road safety reasons, spots will not be designated at the following locations:

- (a) flyovers or footbridges;
- (b) within 30 metres on the traffic upstream side of a pedestrian crossing;
- (c) central dividers of roads within 30 metres from road junctions or pedestrian crossings; and
- (d) at the junction of a dual way road and a major road<sup>4</sup>.

CONTENTS OF BANNERS

2.11 According to Lands D's Implementation Guidelines ("the Guidelines") (see Annex 2) for the Scheme, banners may carry only the following contents:

- (a) events of public interest or non-commercial activities (clause 7(a)(i));
- (b) promotion of community services (clause 7(a)(ii)); and

<sup>4</sup> Banner spots within a one-way street will not be subject to the 30-metre safety restriction if they do not obstruct the views of drivers getting on to a major road.

- (c) information of general interest and benefit to the public provided by LegCo or DC Members and political bodies outside election periods (clause 7(a)(iii)).

2.12 The following contents are prohibited:

- (a) promotion of commodities or services provided at a fee or any form of fee-paying training courses and activities, other than social service related events organised jointly by Government departments and NGOs or charitable bodies (clause 7(a)(iii));
- (b) contents in breach of the laws of Hong Kong (clause 7(c)); and
- (c) information of an obscene or objectionable nature (clause 7(c)).
(The terms “obscene” and “objectionable” are not defined.)

2.13 However, the Guidelines expressly state that “publicity materials may contain names of other persons apart from that of the applicant” (clause 7(d)).

2.14 LegCo and DC Members are issued copies of the Guidelines before being allocated banner spots. For organisations, if the Guidelines are not attached to the application form, the organisations would normally be advised to download the Guidelines from the Lands D website, or Lands D would provide a copy by fax. The public may obtain Guidelines from DLOs or view the document on the Lands D website.

PRE-VETTING

2.15 Non-profit making organisations, DCs and Government departments are required to submit to the DLO the layout and contents of the banner with their application. LegCo and DC Members are exempt from this requirement.

SUBSEQUENT MONITORING

2.16 Lands D staff conduct regular inspections to monitor compliance with the Guidelines. 1,784, 1,727 and 1,461 regular inspections were conducted jointly by Lands D and FEHD in 2005/06, 2006/07 and 2007/08 respectively. On discovery of non-compliance, Lands D will advise the individual or organisation allocated the banner spot to rectify the irregularities within a specified time, which ranges from a few hours to a few days, depending on the nature of irregularities. If the irregularities remain, Lands D will withdraw its approval and, without further notice, will refer the case to FEHD for removal. On discovery of banners displayed at unauthorised spots or outside the authorised period, FEHD will remove them immediately.

CASE STUDIES

CASE A

3.1 In May 2008, the media reported banner spots being “on loan” to a political body. The banners featured the leading figures of that political body rather than the individual allocated the banner spots. While bemused as to how this could have happened, the media suggested that the practice would have been permissible under the Scheme if there had been proper acknowledgement, on the banners, of the individual actually allocated the banner spots.

3.2 On our enquiry, Lands D confirmed that LegCo and DC Members are not allowed to loan out their spots under the rules of the Scheme. Hence there was no question of requiring Members to notify or apply to Lands D for permission to loan out. Subsequently, a Lands D officer further explained as follows:

- (a) LegCo and DC Members are required to display their names on the banners displayed at their spots.
- (b) Provided that the name of the LegCo or DC Member or organisation allocated the spot appears on the banner, Lands D would accept that there has been no breach of the rules.

CASE B

3.3 An organisation applied for spots to display banners featuring a slogan in support of a candidate in a widely reported election outside Hong Kong. Lands D refused its application on the grounds that the contents of the banners did not fall within clause 7(a) of the Guidelines, which provides that the contents of banners should include only:

- (a) events of public interest or non-commercial activities;
- (b) promotion of community services; or
- (c) information of general interest and benefit to the public provided by LegCo or DC Members and political bodies outside election periods.

3.4 Lands D did not explain why the contents of the banners concerned were outside the three categories above. In response to our inquiry, Lands D stated that the contents of the banners did not come within the meaning of:

- (a) matters of community concern; or
- (b) promotion of community services.

3.5 While we accept that the contents of the banners were outside the approved category of “promotion of community services”, it is arguable whether the subject matter was not an “event of public interest” or “information of general interest... to the public provided by... political bodies”, and as such can be approved under the Guidelines. Our observation is that contention can be avoided if the objective of the Scheme and the Guidelines are clearer.

OBSERVATIONS

3.6 These two cases illustrate some fundamental deficiencies in the Scheme. With Case A (paras. 3.1 – 3.2), it is unsatisfactory that a crucial matter of principle (whether the spots are transferable) is not clear from the Guidelines and is left to the interpretation of individual officers administering the Scheme. This may well result in inconsistency in implementation.

3.7 With Case B (paras. 3.3 – 3.4), as observed in paragraph 3.5, the difficulty is with the rules being too general. Essentially the objective of the Scheme has not been clearly formulated, defined or understood (para. 2.3). On record, the Scheme is “to control the display of roadside non-commercial materials”, but this does not give the policy reason why some displays are allowed while others are not and why certain individuals or organisations are to be favoured. Without a clear and proper statement of its objective, the rules of the Scheme cannot be accurately or satisfactorily interpreted.

OVERALL COMMENTS

OBJECTIVE OF THE SCHEME

4.1 The Scheme involves, and in a way impacts on, the rights of citizens to traffic safety, unimpeded movement and a pleasant environment. The banner spots provided under the Scheme are prime spaces at public locations. To this extent, individuals or organisations allocated the spots enjoy a concession at public expense. Sacrifice of such rights ought to be justified on grounds of public interest and use of the spots, properly controlled. There should be stringent rules to ensure the proper use of these valuable concessions; hence, the need for a clear statement of the objective of the Scheme and due compliance with any rules for its proper administration. It is important for Lands D staff and the public to appreciate why the spots are made available to certain individuals and organisations and why it is necessary to control the use of the spots. In this context, Lands D's definition of the objective of the Scheme (para. 2.2) is deficient. It should not be difficult for Lands D to re-establish the objective of the Scheme, taking into account its advent from major Government campaigns, such as the introduction of Representative Government, the promotion of District Administration and Community Building, as well as the developments over the years.

QUESTION OF LOANING OUT

4.2 As any individual or organisation allocated a banner spot enjoys a privilege at public expense, such privilege cannot be regarded as a proprietary right to be assigned or disposed of at will. Although Lands D confirms that in principle allocated spots are not transferable, this has not been made explicit in the documentation for the Scheme. For clarity, Lands D should be forthright on its policy stance and there should be a rule precisely prohibiting transfer or “loaning out” in the Guidelines.

4.3 Moreover, all banners should have a conspicuous acknowledgement of the individual or organisation allocated the spot. The subject matter must be relevant to the objective of the Scheme and the individual or organisation allocated the spot acknowledged as the chief beneficiary. This would avoid total alienation of the banners from the party actually given the privilege to display them.

CONTENTS OF BANNERS

4.4 The current guidelines on contents permitted on the banners (paras. 2.11 and 2.12) are too loosely worded to be useful public information or benchmark for enforcement. For instance, “events of public interest” and “non-commercial activities” are wide open to interpretation. Likewise, “promotion of community services” and “information of general interest and benefit to the public” can be just about anything of interest to the public.

4.5 In the existing Guidelines, Lands D is already using a dual approach: a “positive list” to illustrate the scope of contents permitted for banners (para. 2.11) and a “negative list” for contents not allowed (para. 2.12). This approach is useful but needs to be revised to indicate clearly in practical terms what may be allowed and what not. Lands D should be able to do this, once the objective of the Scheme is articulated. Public consultation should also be conducted, as citizens’ rights are involved.

PUBLIC CONSULTATION

4.6 Both the design and the administration of the Scheme have to strike a balance between the interests of the public and the wishes of those who are to be allocated spots eventually. Records show that Lands D had in the main consulted LegCo and DCs on the introduction of the Scheme and on the formulation of the rules, without special regard to the fact that all LegCo and DC Members were beneficiaries of the Scheme, and inevitably could be perceived as having a bias towards self-interest. In this regard, we note that Lands D has not employed other channels of public consultation in parallel.

4.7 Possible conflict of interests should be duly managed. For proper balance, Lands D should enlist the help of the District Offices of the Home Affairs Department ("HAD") and seek views from the public at large (e.g. through open consultation or opinion survey), or from organisations representing the interests of affected parties (such as residents groups or motorists organisations) before consulting LegCo and DC Members.

LOCATION OF DESIGNATED SPOTS

4.8 Roadside banners can come loose over time or in poor weather conditions and pose traffic hazard, especially where they are attached to central dividers of roads or close to pedestrian crossings. In this light, on completion of our study in August 2006 (para. 1.3), The Ombudsman suggested that Lands D re-examine the criteria for selection of designated spots.

4.9 Consequently, Lands D considered replacing the banner spots at central dividers of roads or close to pedestrian crossings with spots posing less risk to motorists and pedestrians. Lands D has consulted HAD, the Transport Department, the Highways Department, FEHD and the Registration & Electoral Office. Those departments raised no objection to the proposal, but HAD asked that new spots be created in compensation. Lands D eventually decided not to pursue the proposal on the following grounds:

- (a) The central dividers are regarded as prime sites by the users and replacements cannot be easily found.
- (b) When LegCo Members were previously consulted on the Scheme, they had asked for even more banner spots. It was, therefore, unlikely that LegCo and DCs would accept the proposal.

4.10 Lands D also stated that FEHD would step up patrol and clearance of banners which have come loose after spells of bad weather.

4.11 We appreciate Lands D's conscientious attempt to explore alternative locations for banner spots to enhance road safety. However, we take exception to the reasons advanced (para. 4.9 (a) and (b)) for not pursuing the proposal. We are particularly surprised to see the assumption that LegCo and DC Members would necessarily object to an overall reduction in the number of banner spots. Surely, Members would not wish road safety to be compromised for administrative convenience or political expediency. It is not fair to LegCo and DC Members for Lands D to assume that they would not accept the proposal, which was based on self-evident public interest. We urge Lands D to follow up our recommendation and conduct public consultation, as suggested in paragraph 4.7 above, involving HAD and the relevant policy bureaux as necessary.

CONCLUSION AND RECOMMENDATIONS

CONCLUSION

5.1 Many prominent cities in the world place much emphasis on protecting the aesthetics of their public space. An attractive cityscape can contribute to economic benefits and better quality of life. Proliferation of roadside banners, often dirty and tatty, is widely regarded to be detrimental to the outlook of a city. Furthermore, many city authorities spare no effort to guard against the traffic hazard posed by roadside banners. As for Hong Kong, Government has set its goal to promote our city as Asia's world city. To justify this title of pride, it should set up and enforce stringent rules to manage and control roadside banners, to preserve the aesthetics of our public space particularly in central locations.

5.2 Government has in place the Scheme since April 2003 to regulate the display of roadside banners. However, the following deficiencies are evident in the Scheme:

- (a) A clear statement of its objective is absent (para. 4.1).
- (b) The Scheme lacks a rule to ensure that the privilege to display banners in public space cannot be freely assigned or disposed of (para. 4.2).

- (c) The current guidelines on permitted contents of banners are too loosely worded (para. 4.4).
- (d) The views of the public at large have not been given due weight in the design and administration of the Scheme (para. 4.6).
- (e) The proposal to replace designated spots at central dividers of roads or close to pedestrian crossings has been unjustifiably shelved (paras. 4.9 – 4.11).

5.3                Nonetheless, we believe that these can all be addressed and should be rectified.

RECOMMENDATIONS

5.4                In the light of our observations, The Ombudsman recommends that the Administration take action as follows:

Lands D in conjunction with the relevant bureaux

- (1) to articulate the objective of the Scheme for public information (paras. 2.3 and 4.1);

Lands D

- (2) to revise the rules for proper administration of the Scheme, including --
  - (i) prohibition of transfer, "loaning out" or assignment of allocated spots (para. 4.2);
  - (ii) clearly visible acknowledgement, on the banner, of the individual or organisation allocated the banner spot. The display must be relevant to the objective of the Scheme and the individual or organisation allocated the spot should be the chief beneficiary of the display

(para. 4.3); and

- (iii) a clear indication in practical terms what contents may be allowed and what not for the banners (para. 4.5);

Lands D with the help of HAD

- (3) to seek views from the public at large and interest groups before consulting LegCo and DCs (para. 4.7); and
- (4) to reconsider replacement or cancellation of the designated spots at central dividers of roads or close to pedestrian crossings (para. 4.11).

5.5 Lands D generally accepted the above recommendations.

ANNEXES

Summary of Observations and Suggestions in the Direct Investigation Assessment on Management of Non-Commercial Publicity Materials on Roadside August 2006

Observations and Opinions

- (a) The absence of a limit on the number of designated spots might breed proliferation.
- (b) The effectiveness of written warnings issued by FEHD against dilapidated displays was doubtful.
- (c) The long duration of display and adverse weather would necessitate imposing requirements for the choice of materials and the maintenance of the displays.
- (d) Firmer and more frequent prosecution and summonses are necessary for greater deterrent.
- (e) Separate sets of statistics on removal of commercial and non-commercial publicity materials should be maintained for better management and assessment of the situation.
- (f) The amount of costs recovered was far too small for the resources and staff efforts involved.

Suggestions

The Ombudsman recommended that Lands D and FEHD as appropriate should:

- (a) consider setting a cap on the number of designated spots for non-commercial displays;
- (b) re-examine the criteria for selection of designated spots;
- (c) consider imposing requirements for the use of durable or standardised materials for displays;
- (d) introduce a provision to require proper maintenance of displays;
- (e) include dilapidated displays as targets for removal in joint operations;
- (f) step up removal of dilapidated displays after spells of adverse weather;
- (g) maintain separate statistics for removal and cost recovery actions;
- (h) step up efforts for cost recovery; and
- (i) reconsider the practice for summonses and prosecutions.
