Purpose

This paper provides background information on the Hong Kong Disneyland (HKD) project, its operation since opening in 2005 and the expansion plan. It also summarizes major concerns and views of Members on related issues.

Background

Development of HKD

2. In December 1999, the Government entered into an agreement with The Walt Disney Company (WD) to build HKD (Phase 1) at Penny's Bay\(^1\). A joint venture company, the Hongkong International Theme Parks Limited (HKITP), was set up for this purpose\(^2\). The then estimated total project cost of developing HKD Phase 1 was $14.1 billion, in addition to an estimate of $4 billion for the cost of reclaiming the land for Phase 1 of the project. The Government and WD had entered into five main agreements covering management, licensing of intellectual property, rights and obligations of shareholders, loan arrangements as well as the parties' responsibilities and undertakings for the development of HKD. The related financial and staffing proposals were considered by the former Panel on Economic

\(^1\) The agreement anticipates a Phase 2 project, which will include a second Disney theme park, additional hotels and an expansion of the retail, dining and entertainment complex. Accordingly, the Hongkong International Theme Parks Limited is given an Option to buy the site immediately to the east of the Phase 1 Site for development of the second phase.

\(^2\) Under the agreement, the Government owns 57% of the shares in HKITP while WD owns 43%. HKITP operates under the supervision of a Board of Directors, which comprises five Government directors, four Disney directors and two independent non-executive directors.
Services\(^3\) at the meetings on 11 and 15 November 1999, and approved by the Public Works Subcommittee and the Finance Committee (FC) at the meetings on 17 and 26 November 1999 respectively.

Expansion plan

3. To realize the benefits of the long-term investment in HKD, the Government and WD reached agreement in July 2009 for the expansion plan. Under the related financial arrangement, WD will contribute all the necessary new capital as equity for the construction of the new attractions as well as sustaining the park's operation during the construction years, and convert the entire outstanding balance of the WD loan (i.e. $2.76 billion) to equity. Although the Government will not inject any new capital for the expansion, it will convert its loan to equity after retaining a balance of not less than $1 billion. Upon the capital injection by WD and conversion of the Government and WD loans, the Government will continue to be a majority shareholder of HKITP with ownership of about 52%\(^4\). The financial arrangements relating to the expansion of HKD were approved by FC at the meeting on 10 July 2009.

4. Pursuant to the expansion plan agreement, the formula for calculating the base management fee\(^5\) was revised for it to link to HKITP's performance, i.e. to replace the current formula of 2% of gross revenue by 6.5% of earnings before interest, tax, depreciation and amortization (EBITDA). A mechanism will also be put in place such that payment of royalties to WD's related company/licensor by HKITP will be deferred in the event that HKD's financial performance is hampered by adversity. WD has also agreed to make annual disclosure of the main operating and financial results of HKD for both current and the immediately prior financial years. The list of indicators to be disclosed is listed in the Appendix.

5. The expansion proposal comprised three new themed areas\(^6\), with more than 30 new attractions, bringing the total number of attractions in HKD to over 100. Work on the expansion project has already commenced and will be completed in phase before mid-2014, with the first themed area

3 The Panel on Economic Services has been renamed as the Panel on Economic Development with effect from the 2007-2008 session.

4 The Government's shares in HKITP will be lowered from 57% to 52% under the expansion plan.

5 The agreement reached between Government and WD in 1999 also provided for a variable management fee with the rate of 2-8% of EBITDA. Under the new arrangement, the rate will be revised to 0-8% of EBITDA.

6 The Government and WD agreed that two of the new themed areas, i.e. "Grizzly Gulch" and "Mystic Point", would be exclusive amongst Disney theme parks worldwide and the remaining one, i.e. "Toy Story Land", would be exclusive amongst Disney theme parks within the Asian region for five years after their respective openings.
projected to open in 2012.

Operating and financial performance

6. According to the Administration's assessment made in 1999, HKD would generate huge economic benefits for the Hong Kong economy, estimated to reach $148 billion over 40 years\(^7\). Below are the accumulated number of visitors received by HKD since its opening on 12 September 2005:

The two hotels at HKD recorded a combined occupancy rate of 70% in 2008-2009, representing a drop of 8% from 2007-2008\(^9\).

7. To support HKITP, WD has waived the management fees and deferred payment of royalties for two years (i.e. 2007-2008 and 2008-2009). As at the end of 2007, HKD has also negotiated with commercial lenders to re-schedule its commercial term loan facility and the revolving credit facility with a view to reducing interest expenses. In September 2008, an agreement was reached between the Government and WD, under which the latter loaned $3.26 billion (consisting of a term loan and revolving credit facility) to HKITP. The loan was used mainly to repay the company's commercial loan.

8. As regards financial performance in 2008-2009, HKD generated $2.541 billion of revenue which was 1% slightly lower than the previous year. There was a $91 million improvement in loss before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization from $161 million in 2007-2008 to $70 million

\(^7\) The economic benefits of $148 billion over 40 years were calculated on the "base case" scenario developed in 1999. Under the "base case" scenario, it was estimated that HKD would attract an attendance of 5.2 million in its first year of operation and such attendance would rise steadily thereafter to 5.47 million in 2006 and 10.57 million in 2044. At the meeting of the former Panel on Economic Services on 29 July 2002, members were informed that WD considered the base case forecast conducted in 1999 too conservative and had therefore revised the attendance figure for the first year upward to 5.6 million.

\(^8\) Each year of operation of HKD starts in October and ends in the next September unless specified.

\(^9\) According to the Administration, the drop in hotel occupancy was mainly due to the unfavourable impacts of Influenza A (H1N1) virus and the macro-economic environment.
in 2008-2009. Net finance costs decreased by 36% from $605 million to $387 million due to lower interest rates, as well as the conversion of loans from shareholders to ordinary shares. This resulted in a $259 million improvement in net loss from $1.574 billion to $1.315 billion. Following the capital realignment of Government and WD, shareholders' equity increased from $4.606 billion to $9.442 billion in the year.

Economic benefits

9. According to survey statistics and other data from Hong Kong Tourism Board, visitors to HKD have generated an additional cumulative spending of $24.2 billion in Hong Kong since opening, brought about $10.3 billion of direct or indirect value added to the Hong Kong economy in the first three years and raised GDP by an average of about 0.2% each year. For 2008-2009, the additional value added amounted to over $4.4 billion, raising its contribution to GDP to about 0.3%. The additional spending of visitors has created more than 10,000 jobs (in terms of man-years) in each of the past four years, mainly for grass-roots workers and the travel industry.

Staffing

10. As of 3 October 2009, HKD's full time workforce was approximately 4,400. It also engaged 1,200 part-time staff to cope with the increased demand at Halloween, Christmas, Chinese New Year, summer holidays as well as other special occasions. As of the end of December 2009, HKD had employed 300 disabled staff members.

Concerns expressed by Members in previous discussions

11. Since the opening of HKD in September 2005, Members have raised a number of questions at Council meetings on issues related to the operation and performance of the park, public transport services for visitors, employment matters, financial and governance arrangements as well as injection of funds into HKD. The Panel on Economic Development (the Panel) has also deliberated on related issues when the Administration reported on the progress update on HKD for each operation year. In 2009, the Panel held a series of meetings to examine the HKD expansion project before the proposal was submitted to FC for approval. The views and concerns expressed by Members at the relevant meetings are summarized in the ensuing paragraphs.

Park attendance and marketing strategy

12. In receiving updates on the development of the HKD project in the years since 2007, some members expressed concern that the patronage to the park had fallen short of the base case scenario projected in 1999, and they urged the park management to step up promotional and marketing efforts to boost attendance. In particular, members highlighted the need to draw up a comprehensive business plan to tie in with the expansion project. They noted that the number of complimentary tickets given out by HKD each year for use during low seasons accounted for about 1% to 2% of total tickets. HKD was requested to present the attendance figures in respect of complimentary tickets separately from regular admissions in future updates.

13. Some Panel members suggested that HKD should incorporate more local cultural elements to suit the taste of the local public in order to stabilize the local source market, and direct more marketing efforts and resources to expand the Mainland market, in particular in view that there was a drop in the share of international visitors in the total attendance. HKD was also urged to consider partnering with the Ocean Park, Asia World Expo and other scenic spots in offering city pass for visitors, and collaborate with the travel trade in the Mainland and other source markets in Asia in promoting the park and the two hotels to tourists visiting Hong Kong.

14. To attract more visitors to HKD, some Members considered it important to also enhance the accessibility of the theme park through the provision of different transport infrastructures, such as making better use of the pier near HKD. The Government was also urged to put the land adjacent to HKD to more gainful use, with a view to enhancing synergies with HKD and boosting patronage to the park. In face of competition from local and regional theme parks including Ocean Park, the prospective Disneyland in Shanghai and the Universal Studio in Singapore, members were concerned about the business viability of HKD, and stressed the importance to improve the park's operation and management to withstand the fierce competition.

15. At the Panel meeting on 25 January 2010, HKD advised that it had focused marketing strategies on 24 Mainland cities and would set up the fourth Mainland sales office in Chengdu in March 2010. To capitalize on the latest arrangements under CEPA for permanent Shenzhen residents and non-Guangdong residents in Shenzhen to visit Hong Kong, HKD was studying the conceptual feasibility of a multiple ticket scheme for visitors from Guangzhou and Shenzhen. To attract local visitors and encourage repeat visitations, HKD would continue to launch a variety of theme-based and innovative events in different seasonal periods. It had also been working with MTRCL, airlines, hotels, shopping centres and scenic spots such as the Peak and Ngong Ping 360 in organizing joint promotions, and collaborations with other scenic spots were under discussion.
16. A Member raised a question at a Council meeting on 2 November 2005 concerning whether there was conflict in the Government's roles as the rule-setting authority for the market on the one hand, and as a market participant for being the major shareholder of HKITP on the other. There were also concerns about how the Government directors in the Board of HKITP could monitor the operation of the park effectively, in particular the expenditure on HKD's expansion. Some Members suggested appointing a greater number of independent directors from the business and financial fields as well as the travel trade to the Board to oversee HKITP's operation.

17. At the Panel meeting on 25 January 2010, members welcomed the initiative to enhance the transparency of HKD's financial performance. Some members requested HKD to provide more detailed information in the annual disclosure of its operating and financial results, such as breakdown of operating costs and expenses. They also stressed the importance to put in place a mechanism to ensure that HKD's expenditure would be processed in a transparent manner. Responding to members' concerns raised at the meeting on 25 January 2010 about the financial results in 2008-2009, HKD explained that in-park spending had suffered setbacks due to global economic downturn and the outbreak of swine influenza, whereas the net loss for the year was mainly due to depreciation of assets which would nevertheless continue to generate revenue for the park without affecting cash flow. The park management was confident that the financial performance of HKITP would improve in near future.

18. As for the calculation of base management fee, Panel members considered it difficult to assess the new formula in absence of information on the financial performance of HKITP in previous years. To safeguard the interests of HKD, it was suggested that the Government should consider calculating the base management fee on the basis of whichever of the old and the new formulae was lower, and a park attendance threshold should be set as a criterion for disbursing the management fee. A Panel member suggested the Government to negotiate with WD for pegging the base management fee to a percentage of earnings after interest, tax, depreciation and amortization.

Investment return and economic benefits

19. In a question raised at the Council meeting on 4 June 2008, there was a suggestion that value for money audit on the tourism infrastructure projects, including HKD, should be conducted to assess their performance. Given the unsatisfactory park attendance in the past and the discrepancy in the economic assessment of the expanded HKD project and attendance projections made by WD and the Government, some Members had grave doubts about the viability of HKD, and whether the new agreement would serve the best interests of Hong Kong people. These Members also questioned the reliability of the projection of investment return on HKD as some financial data were not made available by WD.

20. At the Panel meeting on 30 June 2009, a member pointed out that both direct and indirect investment in the project, such as the reclamation work at the initial stage of development and the waiving of claims for dividends for the Mass Transit Railway in the construction of the Disneyland Resort Line, should be taken into account in calculating investment return. There were also concerns about the constraints imposed on the conversion of the $4 billion subordinated shares that represented land premium to ordinary shares following the park expansion\(^\text{10}\).

Staffing

21. When discussing the creation of job opportunities under the expansion project at the Panel meeting on 4 July 2009, some members stressed that priority be given to employing local labour force, in particular those Imagineers who had been laid off by WD previously. It was also suggested that HKD should employ more persons with disabilities to take up full-time positions in the theme park. In addressing members' concern raised at the meeting on 25 January 2010 about staff being laid off and work-related injuries, HKD advised that since the park's opening in 2005, it had not laid off any staff. The number of work injuries decreased from 469 cases in 2008 to 366 cases in 2009.

Latest development

22. HKD organized a Lantau Tourism Forum on 18 October 2010 with a view to bringing together the tourism sector and the local community of Lantau to exchange ideas on strategies to market Lantau as a tourism cluster and discuss the future roadmap for tourism development of the Lantau Island.

23. At the meeting on 24 January 2011, the Administration and HKD will brief the Panel on the operation of HKD in 2009-2010.

\(^{10}\) In 1999, the Government and WD agreed, and FC approved, that the $4 billion subordinated shares would be converted to ordinary shares progressively during the life of the HKD project to the extent that the park's operating performance exceeded the then projected "Base Case". Both sides also agreed that the $4 billion subordinated shares would be converted in a gradual manner, to ensure that the benefits of the ordinary shares held by other investors would not be diluted substantially within a short period of time, and that the conversion would only begin after five years of HKD's operation to allow for fluctuation in business in the early operating years. The permitted conversion ceiling would thereafter rise by 5% per annum cumulatively, thus rendering full conversion of the subordinated shares within 25 years after park opening possible if the park's business performance could consistently exceed the projections at the time. In order to prevent excessive equity dilution in any one year, an annual cap of 10% on conversion was further agreed.
