Dear Legco,

I am very grateful for the decision you made because if there still is bottom trawlers in Hong Kong then the children in Hong Kong won't learn and will learn. What they won't learn if bottom trawlers sweep everything then there would be a decreased amount of marine life left in the sea and younger children then can't experience it. What they will learn is that when they grow older they can also think about bottom trawling but now you banned it they won't be able to.

The people who strongly disagree with the decision you made has to be the bottom trawlers themselves and possibly their families. If the bottom trawlers lost their job what will they do to earn money?

It is very important to pay the fishermen because they are humans like we are and they sometimes catch fish for us to eat.

I am very happy that you stop bottom trawling because it will help marine life.

This letter is also a practise for my exhibition because I am planning to write to the government about the problem I want to solve!

Yours Sincerely,

~~Denise~~
