

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL BRIEF

CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY LEGISLATION (MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS) BILL 2012

INTRODUCTION

A At the meeting of the Executive Council on 22 November 2011, the Council ADVISED and the Chief Executive ORDERED that the Construction Industry Legislation (Miscellaneous Amendments) Bill 2012 (Annex A), which amends the Construction Industry Council Ordinance and the Construction Workers Registration Ordinance, should be introduced into the Legislative Council (LegCo).

JUSTIFICATIONS

2. The Construction Industry Review Committee<sup>1</sup> (CIRC) completed in January 2001 a comprehensive review of the state of the local construction industry and recommended, among others, the setting up of a statutory industry co-ordinating body to spearhead reforms and sustain momentum to achieve continuous improvements across the construction industry. The CIRC also supported in principle the implementation of a worker registration scheme through legislative means. Construction Workers Registration Ordinance (CWRO) and Construction Industry Council Ordinance (CICO) were subsequently enacted in July 2004 and May 2006 respectively, followed by the establishment of the Construction Workers Registration Authority (CWRA) and the Construction Industry Council (CIC) in September 2004 and February 2007.

3. When the CIC Bill was introduced into LegCo in February 2004, the Administration made clear its legislative intent, as expressly stipulated in the Bill, for the construction co-ordinating body to take up

<sup>1</sup> CIRC was an independent committee appointed by the Chief Executive in April 2000 to examine the operation of the construction industry and to recommend measures to improve the industry practices. It was chaired by the Honourable Henry Tang Ying-yen, a Non-official Member of the Executive Council at that time and comprised other members with good standing and knowledge in the construction and related fields as well as those from other professions.

training of construction personnel, workers registration and other self-regulatory regimes. On training for construction personnel, in January 2008, CIC amalgamated with the then Construction Industry Training Authority (CITA) and established the Construction Industry Training Board (CITB), which is expressly provided for under CICO to take up the training functions and powers previously discharged by CITA. On construction workers registration, the amalgamation with CWRA was not made at the same time in 2008 as CWRA was at an early stage of implementing the registration system. Nevertheless, CIC has in line with the legislative intent, been extensively collaborating with CWRA on the registration of construction workers such as performing the role of the Registrar of Construction Workers, setting trade qualification standards for registration of construction workforce and offering specified training courses for provisionally registered construction workers to facilitate registration.

4. CWRA commenced the registration of construction workers in December 2005 and implemented the Phase One Prohibition barring unregistered workers from carrying out construction works in September 2007. By now, CWRA has matured in operation. Given the very close collaboration of CIC and CWRA and that both share the common objectives of nurturing a high-quality construction workforce and ensuring the quality of construction works, we believe that synergy could be achieved to enhance efficiency and effectiveness by amalgamating CWRA with CIC at this stage. The proposed organizational streamlining can improve the operational efficiency of CIC and the construction workers registration system in the following aspects (Details are provided at Annex B) –

- (a) single statutory body for the construction industry
- (b) consistent policy and priority setting for the industry
- (c) enhancement of administrative and operational efficiency
- (d) elimination of ambiguity in demarcation of responsibilities
- (e) more effective deployment of resources and sharing of information

5. Government is currently pressing ahead in full steam with a massive infrastructure programme to support Hong Kong's economic development and strengthen our linkage with the Mainland. We need to nurture and retain a workforce capable of, and committed to, delivering high quality construction outputs. The amalgamation can enhance worker training and registration, which is conducive to ensuring the smooth and effective delivery of the massive programme and in the long term, the healthy and sustainable development of the construction industry at large. Further, the LegCo Panel on Development is supportive of the proposal to amalgamate CIC and CWRA early by introducing the Bill into LegCo as soon as possible. We plan to effect the amalgamation at the earliest opportunity to meet the industry demand as well as the aspiration of LegCo and the industry stakeholders. This will also meet CWRA staff's expectation for early implementation of the amalgamation to clear their concern about employment prospects.

6. Instead of combining both Ordinances into one single ordinance, we propose to adopt a simplified approach under which necessary amendments will be made to both CICO and CWRO to effect the proposed amalgamation. This can minimize changes to the existing legislation and will provide clear references to stakeholders of the construction industry who are already familiar with the two ordinances. This approach can also fast track the legislative amendment process with a view to expediting the amalgamation. We also take this opportunity of amending both ordinances to streamline procedures, improve operational efficiency and provide more convenience to workers in the registration process.

Key Features of the Bill

Organizational change upon amalgamation of CIC and CWRA

7. Following the proposed amalgamation, CIC will administer CWRO in addition to CICO. Concurrently, CWRA will be dissolved with its functions stipulated in section 8 of CWRO to be conferred on CIC as the latter's additional functions pursuant to section 5 of the amended CICO. Upon the dissolution of CWRA, we propose to establish a new body, to be known as the "Construction Workers Registration Board" (CWRB<sup>2</sup>) under CIC. The new body will be expressly provided for under the amended CWRO to preserve its distinct identity. This will be similar to the arrangement adopted when CIC and the ex-CITA were amalgamated (as referred to in paragraph 3 above).

Enhancement of operational efficiency and convenience to workers

8. Previous experience reveals that the administrative procedures laid down in CICO and CWRO are too restrictive and are hampering the efficient operation of the existing mechanism. For example, under the existing CICO, CIC is not allowed to delegate its power to its members and employees in respect of entering into contracts regardless of their values. As such, even contracts of a minor and routine nature require approval of CIC at a board meeting. We therefore propose to amend CICO to allow CIC to delegate its power in this aspect to facilitate its operation.

<sup>2</sup> CWRB shall take over largely the functions and powers of CWRA except for the administration of CWRO and supervision of registration of persons; making recommendations with respect to the rate of levy; matters related to levy; appointment of Registrar; prosecution under CWRO; and making of regulations under s.63 of CWRO.

9. Under section 44 of the existing CWRO, a worker may apply for renewal of the worker's registration not earlier than three months before and not later than seven business days before the date of expiry of the registration. To facilitate workers in the registration process, an amendment is proposed to extend the three-month period to six months. Separately, section 45 of the existing CWRO provides for the registration of an experienced worker as a skilled worker (provisional) or semi-skilled worker (provisional) if, as at December 2005, the worker has six years' and two years' experience respectively in the relevant trade. Such a provisional registration will expire after three years and therefore, the worker still has to pass a test/an assessment for registration as skilled worker or semi-skilled worker for the specific trade. There is no provision for extension of the period upon expiry even when illness or injury has prevented the workers from attending the test/assessment for registration. To allow for circumstances beyond the control of the workers concerned, we propose to include a new provision to allow extension of this period.

10. Furthermore, construction workers often need to carry with them different types of construction-related cards/ certificates to meet statutory and/or administrative requirements. A new provision is proposed to be included in CWRO to enable a construction worker registration card issued under CWRO to store and display information of other construction-related cards/ certificates issued by other authorities. This measure paves the way for the registration card to serve as a valid proof of possession of the other cards when the interfacing arrangements are sorted out. This will reduce the number of cards a worker has to carry.

Application of CICO and CWRO to the Government

11. At present, CICO is binding on the Government while CWRO is not. As the Government is one of the major clients of construction projects, we propose that the amended CWRO should also apply to the Government to make it consistent with CICO. With established procedures and proper arrangements, we do not anticipate problems for the Government (including its departments and public officers) in complying with the stipulated requirements under the amended CWRO.

Other amendments

Increase of workers' representation in statutory boards

12. At present, the composition of CIC and CWRA each includes three workers unions' representatives. Upon amalgamation of CIC and CWRA, we propose to increase the number of workers unions' representatives in the statutory boards under the amended CICO and CWRO, namely CITB, Construction Workers Qualifications Board (QB)<sup>3</sup> and Construction Workers Review Board (RB)<sup>4</sup>, from two persons to three persons to align the workers unions' representation in all statutory boards under the amended CICO and CWRO (except the Objections Board which deals with contractors' objection to levy assessment and is not concerned with workers).

Transitional staff arrangements for CWRA

13. In response to the concern raised by the staff of CWRA Secretariat which was also echoed by the LegCo Panel on Development at its meeting on 23 November 2010, CIC has specifically agreed to honour their respective employment contracts until their natural expiry on terms and conditions not less favourable than their prevailing contracts. Following the arrangement adopted for the amalgamation of CIC with the then CITA as mentioned in paragraph 3 above, provisions will be included in the Bill to ensure the continuance of existing employments following amalgamation until their natural expiry.

OTHER OPTIONS

14. Legislative amendment is the only effective means to effect the amalgamation of CIC and CWRA to improve efficiency and effectiveness of the industry as both bodies are statutory bodies.

THE BILL

15. The main provisions of the Bill are as follows -

- (a) Part 1 contains provisions for the short title and commencement of the Bill.
- (b) Part 2 contains amendments to CWRO. The amendments provide for the application of CWRO to the Government,

<sup>3</sup> Upon amalgamation of CIC and CWRA, QB is to be appointed by CWRB to advise on the qualification requirements for registration.

<sup>4</sup> Upon amalgamation of CIC and CWRA, RB is to be appointed by CWRB to review and make recommendation as to the decision on registration if requested by the concerned worker.

transfer of CWRA's functions and powers under CWRO to CIC, establishment of CWRB, measures relating to the enhancement of operational efficiency, recording of information of other construction-related cards on worker registration cards, and increase in workers' representation in statutory boards. It also adds a new part 10 to CWRO to deal with the dissolution of CWRA and make transitional and saving provisions.

- (c) Part 3 contains amendments to CICO. It deals with measures enhancing the operational efficiency of CIC, an increase in workers' representation in CITB and amendments consequential upon the transfer of CWRA's functions.
- (d) Part 4 provides for consequential and related amendments to two other ordinances.

C

The existing provisions being amended are at Annex C.

LEGISLATIVE TIMETABLE

16. The legislative timetable will be –

Publication in the Gazette	24 February 2012
First Reading and commencement of Second Reading debate	29 February 2012
Resumption of Second Reading debate, Committee Stage and Third Reading	To be notified

IMPLICATIONS OF THE PROPOSAL

17. The proposal has financial, civil service and economic implications as set out at Annex D. The proposal is in conformity with the Basic Law, including the provisions concerning human rights. The proposal will improve efficiency of the workers registration system and operation of CIC. The unified organizational structure will ensure consistent policy and priorities for the construction industry and hence will benefit workers and other industry stakeholders. The proposal has no productivity, environmental or sustainability implications.

PUBLIC CONSULTATION

18. We conducted a consultation on the legislative proposal and obtained general support from the public. At the LegCo Panel on Development on 23 November 2010 and 28 June 2011, we briefed Members on the proposed legislative amendments to CWRO and CICO and the plan to introduce the Bill into LegCo as soon as possible for early implementation of the amalgamation. Members supported the proposals.

19. We have sought views from CIC and CWRA which were very supportive of the proposed amendments. Trade associations and workers unions have been consulted, which also supported the proposed amendments. Views collected have been taken into account in formulating the legislative proposal. Staff of CWRA Secretariat has also been consulted, and they supported the amalgamation and have been expecting early amalgamation of CWRA with CIC to clear the uncertainty on their employment.

PUBLICITY

20. A press release will be issued when the Bill is gazetted. A spokesman will be available to handle the media and public enquiries.

Improvement of CIC's Operational Efficiency to be brought about by the Amalgamation with CWRA

- (a) single statutory body for the construction industry – the simplified and unified organizational structure will benefit workers and stakeholders;
- (b) consistent policy and priority setting for the industry – it will result in better coherence in delivering the construction workers registration policy and other construction-related policies;
- (c) enhancement of administrative and operational efficiency – registration/training/trade testing matters will be addressed by one single system;
- (d) elimination of ambiguity in demarcation of responsibilities – CWRA is currently responsible for the setting of qualification requirements for registration under CWRO while CIC sets the qualification standards for trade tests. This demarcation of responsibilities is not conducive to ensuring clarity and certainty in workers registration; and
- (e) more effective deployment of resources and sharing of information – resources and information of the two statutory bodies can be more effectively deployed/shared after they are brought under one management structure.

(1) Subject to paragraph (2), no person shall disclose otherwise than to the Board, or to an employee of the Board in his official capacity, any information provided or obtained under regulation 14 (including information provided or obtained from documents or records) without the consent of the person who provided it or from whom it was obtained.

(2) Paragraph (1) does not apply-

  - (iii) to the disclosure of information by the Board to any person authorized or employed by it for the purpose of checking or ascertaining the value of construction operations; (L.N. 32 of 1983; 3 of 2004 s. 35; 12 of 2006 s. 84)

FINANCIAL IMPLICATIONS

Upon enactment of the Bill, CWRO will apply to Government. Government when working as contractor will need to pay, like individual contractors, a levy of 0.03% under CWRO on the value of its construction operations when exceeding $1 million. The amount of levy to be paid by Government is estimated to be about $1,500 per year and will be absorbed within the existing resources.

2. The cost for Government in providing training courses and trade test fees to enable public officers to comply with the registration requirements under the amended CWRO is estimated to be about $1.5 million with a recurrent cost of about $200,000 per year for renewal of registration. Such costs will be absorbed within existing resources.

CIVIL SERVICE IMPLICATIONS

3. Public officers appointed as authorized persons to make statutory notifications of construction operations to CIC, or personally carrying out construction work within the ambit of amended CWRO, could be held criminally liable for their contravention of the statutory provisions. However, with well established procedures and proper arrangements, we consider that there would not be any problem for them to comply with the requirements of amended CWRO.

ECONOMIC IMPLICATIONS

4. The proposal would improve the operational efficiency of the amalgamated statutory body and facilitate formulation of consistent policy and priority for registration, manpower planning and training for the construction industry. This would be conducive to the long-term development of the trade.
