

立法會
Legislative Council

LC Paper No. CB(2)358/13-14(04)

Ref : CB2/PS/3/12

Joint Subcommittee to Monitor the Implementation of the West Kowloon Cultural District Project

Updated background brief prepared by the Legislative Council Secretariat for the meeting on 29 November 2013

Development of cultural software to complement
the West Kowloon Cultural District project

Purpose

This paper provides information on the development of cultural software to complement the West Kowloon Cultural District ("WKCD") project and summarizes the major views and concerns of the Joint Subcommittees formed under the Panel on Home Affairs and the Panel on Development in the Fourth and Fifth Legislative Council ("LegCo") to monitor the implementation of the WKCD project on the subject.

Background

2. By virtue of section 4(2) of the West Kowloon Cultural District Authority Ordinance (Cap. 601), the West Kowloon Cultural District Authority ("WKCDA") is required to perform its functions in ways which aim to achieve various objectives. They include, among others, cultivating and nurturing local talents in the arts (including local artists), local arts groups and arts-related personnel; encouraging wider participation by the local community in arts and culture; and promoting and providing arts education to the local community.

3. According to WKCDA, in the coming years leading up to the opening of the arts and cultural venues in WKCD, WKCDA will organize a series of programmes and activities in collaboration with educational institutes, arts organizations and community groups to link WKCD with the community and to groom talents for WKCD and the local arts sector. In promoting the development of cultural software, WKCD will focus its work on three major areas, viz. audience development, artistic and professional development, and governance and organizational development. According to the Administration, to tie in with the development of WKCD, the Government and its collaborators adopt a multi-pronged approach in promoting cultural software development in Hong Kong, which include supporting arts programme development, stepping up audience building, enhancing arts education and strengthening the grooming of talents.

Members' concerns

4. Issues relating to the development of cultural software to complement the WKCD project were discussed by the former Joint Subcommittee formed in the Fourth LegCo at its meetings on 16 April 2010, 14 January 2011 and 27 June 2012. During the current term of LegCo, the Joint Subcommittee received, at its meeting on 10 June 2013, an update from the Administration and WKCD on the work being undertaken in cultural software development. The major views and concerns expressed by members at these meetings are summarized in the ensuing paragraphs.

Respective roles of the Administration and WKCD

5. Concern had been expressed about the delineation of responsibility between the Home Affairs Bureau ("HAB") and WKCD in the development of cultural software. Members had called for closer collaboration between HAB and WKCD to ensure the re-alignment of the existing public arts and cultural facilities to complement the WKCD project.

6. As advised by the Administration and WKCD, the planning and development of performing arts ("PA") programmes and exhibition programmes in WKCD would be based essentially on the recommendations of the Performing Arts Committee and the Museum Committee of WKCD. Given HAB's role in overseeing arts and cultural policy to complement the WKCD project, the Administration was mindful of the need to ensure effective co-ordination between HAB and WKCD. In the view of the Administration and WKCD, the relationship between the existing and new arts and cultural venues was complementary rather than competitive and the new arts and cultural facilities in WKCD should help address the venue shortage problem currently encountered by the arts and cultural sector. The Administration was committed to building up a solid audience base to complement the expanded capacity of performance venues brought about by the WKCD development.

7. There was a view that instead of entrusting the task of developing cultural software entirely to WKCD, the Government should play a leading and more proactive role in the planning and promotion of cultural software development not only for the WKCD project but also for the overall long-term development of the arts and culture in Hong Kong. The Government should allocate more resources to facilitate cultural software development outside the context of the WKCD project, such as promoting the arts and culture in the community and strengthening support for small and medium-sized arts groups.

8. According to the Administration, apart from the work being undertaken by WKCD, the Government and its collaborators had been implementing various initiatives to strengthen cultural software development. In addition to increasing funding allocation to the Hong Kong Arts Development Council ("HKADC") to enhance its support for small and medium-sized arts groups, the Government had since 2011 introduced the Arts Capacity Development Funding Scheme to disburse an annual provision of around $30 million to support worthwhile initiatives from arts practitioners as well as small and medium-sized arts groups. The Leisure and Cultural Services Department ("LCSD") had also increased its funding support for young artists and small and medium-sized arts groups to stage performances in LCSD's arts and cultural programmes and activities. Besides, from 2013-2014 onwards, the District Councils would be provided with an additional $20.8 million per annum under the Community Involvement Fund to strengthen the support for promoting arts and cultural activities in 18 districts.

Arts education and audience building

9. Members generally took the view that nurturing of audience was pivotal to the success of the WKCD project and students should be given sufficient opportunities to cultivate their interest and appreciation ability in the arts and culture in an early stage. They called on the Administration to enhance collaboration among various government bureaux/departments to promote arts education in schools.

10. The Administration assured members that HAB had been in close discussion with the Education Bureau ("EDB") on the promotion of arts education in schools. Under the new senior secondary curriculum, students were provided with more opportunities to learn and sustain contacts with the arts and culture. EDB had been supporting schools to implement arts education through the provision of learning and teaching materials, teacher training programmes, financial resources and student activities. The Audience Building Office of LCSD also helped to promote knowledge and appreciation of PA at community and school levels through organizing a wide spectrum of audience building schemes and arts educational activities. HKADC had also organized the "Arts Ambassadors-in-School Scheme", which aimed to encourage primary and secondary students with a flair for the arts to become arts ambassadors and take their passion for the arts beyond campuses into the community.

11. In response to members' enquiry about whether WKCD would work in collaboration with schools and universities to promote students' interest in arts and enhance their ability to appreciate different arts performances, WKCD advised members that it had maintained liaison and discussion with EDB and universities on the organization of events to bring WKCD to the community. WKCD established a Creative Learning Unit in 2011 to, among others, promote arts education in collaboration with EDB and schools. It had also obtained Short Term Tenancies from the Lands Department to accommodate temporary structures at the WKCD site for organizing a range of arts and cultural activities to build audience.

Nurturing of local arts talents and arts-related personnel

12. Some members expressed worry that upon the launch of the first phase of the WKCD project in 2015, there was still lack of sufficient arts professionals/administrators in Hong Kong. They considered that nurturing of arts professionals required not only the efforts of HAB but also its collaboration with other government bureaux/departments such as EDB. Members also considered that apart from enhancing the nurturing of local artistic and creative talents, the Administration and WKCD should also attach importance to strengthening the training of facility management professionals to meet the manpower demand arising from the phased commissioning of the WKCD facilities in the next few years.

13. The Administration stressed that HAB had all along been maintaining close liaison with EDB in nurturing arts professionals. Local tertiary institutions had offered various programmes in arts administration, which should help nurture arts professionals to cope with the manpower demand arising from the development of WKCD. To provide further support for the grooming of local arts professionals, the Government planned to provide an additional funding of $150 million to strengthen the training of arts administrators at various level of experience for five years starting from 2013-2014. In addition, WKCD had supported and funded various capacity-building initiatives to provide more learning opportunities for practising professionals and to train new talents. It would continue its discussions with local educational institutes and arts organizations, such as the Hong Kong Academy for Performing Arts ("HKAPA") and the Arts Administrators' Association, to bring more capacity building programmes to Hong Kong in the coming years.

14. Members in general considered that the Administration and WKCD should provide more opportunities for local arts talents to take part in the WKCD project, so that they would be able to benefit from the transfer of knowledge and expertise from the foreign talents engaged in the project. WKCD responded that 90% of its serving staff members were from Hong Kong. It had always tried to recruit locally and would bring in talents from other places only when the requisite expertise could not be found in Hong Kong. In WKCD's view, bringing in overseas expertise would not only fill the gaps in the skills required for the success of the WKCD project, but also facilitate the transfer of knowledge to local talents over time, thereby helping build up local expertise.

Support for arts groups

15. Members were of the view that funding support for various arts groups should aim at promoting diversity and balanced development of the local arts scene. The Administration was urged to increase the subvention to HKADC to strengthen its support for budding artists and small and medium-sized arts groups.

16. According the Administration, while LCSD had been playing a key role in audience building and bringing culture and the arts to the public, the core mission of HKADC was to nurture budding artists and support the development of small and medium-sized arts groups through its various funding schemes and programmes. For the long-term development of arts and culture, HAB had commissioned a consultancy study in early 2010 to develop a new set of assessment criteria and funding mechanism for major performing arts groups ("MPAGs"), an entry and exit mechanism to MPAGs, and an articulation ladder for the second- and lower-tier arts groups to become MPAGs. Besides, the Administration injected $3 billion into the Arts and Sport Development Fund as seed money in 2010 and the annual investment returns were used to subsidize the long-term development of culture and the arts and sports.

17. Some members were concerned about the shortage of PA venues (i.e. blackbox theatres) in Hong Kong to meet the needs of local small and medium-sized arts groups and enquired about the commissioning date for the blackbox theatres in WKCD. Concern was also expressed that as many local arts groups and arts practitioners were no longer able to operate in industrial buildings owing to the rental increase in recent years, the Administration should step up efforts to make available more arts space for them in districts.

18. WKCD explained that the commissioning of the blackbox theatres had to tie in with the progress of the Express Rail Link ("XRL") project as the blackbox theatres were positioned at the central part of WKCD. WKCDA had constant communication and discussion with the MTR Corporation and there was no indication of any change in the completion timetable of the XRL project. WKCD was in the process of reviewing its plans for the development of the Park and the provision of a blackbox and other movable structures in the Park area, which would provide the much-needed performing space for small arts groups/organizations in Hong Kong. As regards the provision of arts space for artists, the Administration advised members that additional funding had been earmarked for HKADC to renovate and make available arts space for artists in an industrial building in Wong Chuk Hang. HKADC would undertake renovation works and operate a scheme to enable new and budding artists to lease the units for arts creation at a concessionary rate.

Mode of governance of WKCD facilities

19. In response to members' enquiry about the future mode of governance of Xiqu Centre, including whether an artistic accountability system would be implemented, WKCD advised the Joint Subcommittee that it would review and make reference to other practices and experiences, and recommend suitable modes of governance and business models for each PA facility in WKCD that actively supported its artistic vision. In view of the opening of Xiqu Centre in 2015-2016, WKCD planned to develop and confirm within 2013, in consultation with the stakeholders, the mode of governance of Xiqu Centre, which would define the artistic and administrative accountability in respect of the facility. WKCD would report to LegCo on relevant issues in due course.

Targets for cultural software development

20. There was a view that the Administration/WKCD should set specific targets for the development of cultural software (e.g. number of visits made to public museums by primary/secondary school students, number of arts talents trained by HKAPA, and number of arts critics nurtured in a certain period of time, etc.) so as to facilitate review of the progress made in the relevant areas of work. The Administration responded that while it might not be suitable to set specific and quantitative targets for cultural software development, which was a long-term undertaking and relatively abstract in nature, it had kept information concerning the arts and cultural programmes organized by the Government and its collaborators, such as the target and actual numbers of participants of individual arts and cultural events/training schemes. Besides, the key performance targets and indicators in respect of the planned programmes for the promotion and development of culture and the arts were set out in the Controlling Officer's Report incorporated in the Government's Estimates for each financial year.

Latest development

21. The Administration and WKCDA will update the Joint Subcommittee on the development of the WKCD project, including latest programmes and activities to promote software development, at the meeting on 29 November 2013.

Relevant papers

22. A list of the relevant papers with their hyperlinks at LegCo's website is in the Appendix.

Council Business Division 2
Legislative Council Secretariat
25 November 2013

Appendix

Relevant papers on Development of cultural software to complement the West Kowloon Cultural District project

Committee	Date of meeting	Paper
Former Joint Subcommittee to Monitor the Implementation of the West Kowloon Cultural District Project formed in the Fourth LegCo	16.4.2010 Item II(b)	Agenda CB(2)1283/09-10(03) Minutes
	14.1.2011 Item II(c)	Agenda CB(2)795/10-11(04) Minutes
	27.6.2012 Item I	Agenda CB(2)2369/11-12(01) Minutes
Joint Subcommittee to Monitor the Implementation of the West Kowloon Cultural District Project formed in the Fifth LegCo	10.6.2013 Item III	Agenda CB(2)1247-12-13(02) Minutes

Council Business Division 2
Legislative Council Secretariat
25 November 2013