Dear Sir,

I think the government set the law to prohibit the trading of the ivory is nonsense! In order to protect the ivory please go and protect the animals in other countries and to stop those people hunting the elephant and get the ivory.

It is not make sense on stopping the trading. If the government insist to prohibit the ivory trading, please compensate to those owners. Those ivory stock are their own asset and which are valuable. Now, the government turns the ivory into invaluable. Please let the owner have enough compensation.

Yours sincerely
Keith Chung Yui Chiu
