

banning ivory in Hong Kong
Helen Daniels to: panel_ea

03/06/2017 13:10

Dear Sir/Madam

It saddens and troubles me deeply that elephants in Africa are being slaughtered for their tusks –for ivory that is then carved so that people can buy to place in their homes.

The African elephant is on the brink of extinction due to mass poaching and once the elephant is gone there is no going back.

Please support a ban on ivory into your country and stand in solidarity with others nations who are proudly saying NO to ivory.

The only animals or people allowed to wear ivory should be elephants

I have seen these magnificent elephants in the wild whilst supporting African wildlife .Africa relies on its wildlife to attract tourism and no one wishes to see the elephant disappear for ever.

Please say NO to taking ivory into your country.

Thanking you sincerely

Helen Daniels

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

Australia