Dear LEGCO Panel

I support the Hong Kong government's Ivory ban.

Many of the elephants are killed by the people that want their ivory because they can sell it for a high price. Killing elephants are actually something horrible to do!

I support Hong Kong government's proposed increase in penalties for wildlife crime.

Because if the penalty is low, people can just pay the money and do it again. I think you should maybe raise the fine and add jail time if they do it again.

I hope you will ban killing elephants and ivory importing...

yours sincerely,

Isaac Lee
