To the council, I am from the u.s and I want you to know that I support the ivory ban. For those of you on the verge I want to remind you of all the elephants who die for their ivory, and all the pain that they go through when it's taken. Elephants are endangered animals and this could help them get their numbers up to what they used to be. Taking what I've said into account, I hope you support the ivory ban and will see that it goes through. Make the right choice even if it's hard.
