Dear panel contributors,

I write to request that you do not retract your decision to stop the ivory trade by bringing a ban to the sale of ivory in the coming years.

It has taken so long to get this message of the elephants destruction noticed that now there are so few more alive on our planet.
If you reverse this decision, there will be no elephants very soon.

These are not extreme comments that I make, these animals are truly in trouble.

I am from Australia and I watch what other countries do to animals. I am saddened to say that Australia also has a disturbing record of extinction of our animals. But we know about the elephants now, we cannot look back later and say we were unaware of their probable extinction.

I beg you to maintain your stance on this matter,
The world needs leaders.

I thank you for accepting my message,

Yours Sincerely

Karen McMillan
