Dear Ms. Chan,

I SUPPORT the Hong Kong SAR Government's ivory ban.

I SUPPORT the Hong Kong SAR Government's proposed increase in penalties for wildlife crime.

I OPPOSE The Hong Kong SAR Government's paying compensation to Hong Kong ivory traders for their ivory stocks.

According to Save The Elephants, 100,000 elephants were killed between 2010 and 2012 for their ivory.

This is horrible, we love elephants and it's so sad that such a large number of them have been killed in just 3 years. We at Kennedy School believe that elephants, along with all other animals, have the right to roam around and not be afraid that they would be killed for some random person's decoration.

Something should be done, and fast, and Hong Kong, the world's largest ivory market, should lead Asia and the world to stop buying ivory.
