Dear Members of the Honorable Council in Hong Kong,

I live in the England in the United Kingdom and have heard of your decision to ban all ivory. May I thank you from the bottom of my heart for your wise and compassionate decision. The world is looking at you and all environmentalists and all who care for the wildlife on this planet are very happy and delighted with your decision.

Please, whilst writing to you, may I also ask for you not to compensate the ivory trade dealers because this gives the wrong message to them.

Many many thanks from the United Kingdom.
