To whom it may concern,

I am a Hong Kong citizen and am writing in strong support of the ban on the ivory trade in Hong Kong, and in opposition to any idea of compensation to ivory traders in any way shape or form. There is no justification for a self-interested group of businesses, which have been engaged in a destructive and amoral business for decades and have used every legal and illegal channel to circumvent the ivory ban for years, to be rewarded for their behavior.

Hong Kong has the opportunity to lead the Asian region in general, and China in particular, in stopping the barbaric trade in ivory.

Sincerely,
