

Submission from Dr LEE Chi-chiu

I am a practising consultant psychiatrist in Hospital Authority, Hong Kong.

I have closely working with generations of clinical psychologists in my past thirty five years of practice.

I think clinical psychologists are an important professional discipline in delivering quality services to the mentally ill patients.

I think on hand supervision, in the form of a clinical internship, under the mentorship of the people of the same professional discipline, is mandatory in the basic training of the clinical psychologists.
