

Legislative Council
Panel on Administration of Justice and Legal Services

Implementation of the recommendations made by the Law Reform Commission

Background

The reporting mechanism introduced by the Legislative Council (“LegCo”) Panel on Administration of Justice and Legal Services (“Panel”) in 2012<sup>1</sup> aims to facilitate members of the Panel, as well as of other LegCo Panels, to follow up on progress of implementation of the recommendations of the Law Reform Commission (“LRC”) by the relevant bureaux and departments (“B/Ds”). This is the Secretary for Justice (“SJ”)’s ninth report to the Panel pursuant to this mechanism.

2. In accordance with the above mechanism established in 2012, we set out the latest information as provided by B/Ds on their implementation of LRC recommendations in the attached table (“Table”) so that the Panel can copy it to other Panels for their respective follow-up with the B/Ds concerned.

3. The Table lists the LRC’s reports under different categories according to their implementation status, ie:

- (a) recommendations implemented in full;

- (i) SJ to submit to the AJLS Panel for discussion an annual report flagging up the progress in respect of the LRC reports which have not yet been implemented;
- (ii) The AJLS Panel to copy the annual report to the relevant Panels to facilitate their follow-up with the B/Ds concerned; and
- (iii) The relevant Panels to include the B/Ds’ responses to the respective LRC reports in their lists of outstanding items for discussion, and to invite members of the AJLS Panel and all other Members to join the future discussion.

- (b) recommendations implemented in part;
- (c) recommendations under consideration or in the process of being implemented;
- (d) recommendations rejected by the Government; and
- (e) the Government has no plan to implement the recommendations at this juncture.

Highlights of progress made since SJ's last annual report to the Panel

4. The following paragraphs seek to highlight the more significant developments advised by the B/Ds since SJ's last annual report to the Panel:

- (a) Substitute decision-making and advance directives In relation to medical treatment (August 2006) (see item 50 in the Table)

The Food and Health Bureau published a consultation report in July 2020 and is working to introduce a bill on advance directives and related matters in the next legislative term.

- (b) Hearsay in criminal proceedings (November 2009) (see item 51 in the Table)

The Department of Justice has prepared the Evidence (Amendment) Bill 2018 to implement the recommendations in the LRC Report on Hearsay in Criminal Proceedings. Further refinements to the legislative proposals are necessary. The Department of Justice has been reviewing the proposals in consultation with the Law Society of Hong Kong and the Hong Kong Bar Association, and aims for the enactment of the Bill within this legislative session.

- (c) Report on Voyeurism and Non-consensual upskirt-photography (April 2019) (see item 57 in the Table)

The Government introduced the Crimes (Amendment) Bill 2021 to the Legislative Council in March 2021 for introducing new offences of voyeurism, non-consensual recording of intimate parts, publication of images originating from voyeurism or non-consensual recording of intimate parts and publication or threatened publication of intimate images without consent. The Bill is now under the scrutiny of the Legislative Council.

Concluding remarks

5. The publication of a LRC report marks the completion of the formal reference to the LRC. The published report will then be passed to the Government for the relevant policy bureau to consider whether, and if so, how to implement the LRC's recommendations or any of such recommendations. In accordance with the mechanism established in 2012, the LRC will continue to assist by submitting an annual report to the AJLS Panel on the latest implementation progress of LRC recommendations as collated from the B/Ds.

	Report (month and year of publication) and Responsible Bureau	Implementing legislation or other relevant information, including response from the relevant bureau or department
36	Arrest (November 1992)  Security Bureau	The Bureau has advised: “The Bureau, upon detailed examination together with its law enforcement agencies (LEAs), has thoroughly considered the recommendations in the Report at different stages over the past years. The majority of the endorsed recommendations have already been implemented to improve our law enforcement regime and provide sufficient procedural safeguards. The Bureau has further looked into the remaining recommendations, having regard to the local enforcement experience in the past years and evolution of the legislation since the Report was published. The Bureau has concluded that all necessary actions have been completed and no further legislative amendments are required.”
37	Insolvency - Part 3: Winding-up provisions of the Companies Ordinance (July 1999)  Financial Services and the Treasury Bureau	Some technical aspects were implemented by the Companies (Amendment) Ordinance (28 of 2003) enacted in July 2003 amending Cap 32. Having reviewed the key issues addressed in the Report and taking into account the sector’s latest developments, the Bureau has concluded: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>● “not to pursue the recommendation to merge corporate insolvency legislation with personal bankruptcy legislation as there is no clear benefit or market demand for such a change;</li> <li>● to continue to rely on established professional sectors to deliver private sector insolvency services, rather than establishing and upkeeping a statutory licensing system at this time, as the latter is considered to be not cost-effective;</li> <li>● on remuneration (fees) of office-holders, the market has operated smoothly in determining the fee level of private sector insolvency services, with disputes settled by the Court’s Taxing Masters, and there is no need to establish an adjudication panel arrangement to determine fees;</li> <li>● the concern that Official Receiver’s Office (ORO) should be adequately funded is noted. 		resources as and when necessary, will continue to be processed in accordance with the Administration's well-established policies and procedures." With respect to the other technical amendments recommended in the subject LRC Report, the Bureau has advised that they are addressed by the Companies (Winding-up and Miscellaneous Provisions) (Amendment) Ordinance 2016, which has come into operation on 13 February 2017 to improve and modernise Hong Kong's corporate winding-up regime.
38	The regulation of debt collection practices (July 2002) Security Bureau	The recommended review of the then limitations imposed on the collection and use of 'positive credit data' was implemented without legislation by the Privacy Commissioner for Personal Data in the Code of Practice on Consumer Credit Data 2002. The Report's other recommendations were rejected by the Administration in September 2005.
39	Description of flats on sale – Part 3: Local completed residential properties: Sales descriptions and pre-contractual matters (September 2002) Transport and Housing Bureau	The recommendations in respect of completed properties sold first-hand by the original developer were implemented by the Residential Properties (First-hand Sales) Ordinance (Cap 621) (19 of 2012) (July 2012) which regulates the sales of completed and uncompleted first-hand residential properties. The Bureau has stated that: "The regulation of the sales of second-hand local residential properties is strengthened with the assistance of the Estate Agents Authority (EAA). The EAA has required, among other things, that estate agents must provide information on the saleable area, if available from Rating and Valuation Department (RVD) or the first agreement, of second-hand residential properties to prospective purchasers with effect from 1 January 2013."
40	Guardianship and custody – Part 3: The family dispute resolution process (March 2003) Home Affairs Bureau	The Report looks at various approaches which may be adopted in resolving family disputes, and focuses particularly on the use of mediation. The Report makes recommendations to strengthen family mediation services and to enhance the

With the implementation of the Civil Justice Reform, legal aid has been extended to cover mediation in civil proceedings since 2009. Between 2 April 2009 and 31 March 2021, the Legal Aid Department has approved funding for appointment of mediators in 1,607 matrimonial cases. In May 2012, the Judiciary issued a Practice Direction on Family Mediation which sets out the duty of the parties and their legal representatives to assist the Court in encouraging the parties to use mediation as an alternative dispute resolution procedure. Furthermore, a Practice Direction on Children’s Dispute Resolution Pilot Scheme has come into effect since October 2012 and has been formalised as standard practice since April 2016. Parents wishing to seek mediation may approach the Integrated Mediation Office set up by the Judiciary for assistance. A Practice Direction on a pilot scheme for private adjudication of financial disputes in matrimonial and family proceedings came into effect on 19 January 2015 and has been extended for another three years from 2021. The scheme provides an alternative means for dispute resolution, which aims at furthering the objective of settlement facilitation. The research team commissioned by the Family Council completed a study on the provision of family mediation services in Hong Kong in late 2016. The study confirmed the positive effects of mediation in resolving divorce-related disputes and made a series of recommendations. The Family Council has shared the study findings and recommendations with relevant bureaux/departments and organisations for their reference and follow up actions as appropriate.”

The Bill was passed on 6 August 2006 as Ordinance 20 of 2006 (Cap 589). See also items 42 and 45 below.
42	Privacy - Part 2: Regulating the interception of communications (December 1996)  Constitutional and Mainland Affairs Bureau	The Interception of Communications and Surveillance Bill was passed on 6 August 2006 as Ordinance 20 of 2006 (Cap 589) to regulate the conduct of interception of communications and the use of surveillance devices by public officers; and to establish the Office of the Commissioner on Interception of Communications and Surveillance to oversee the compliance by four law enforcement agencies with the relevant requirements. The Bureau stated in the 2015 report to the AJLS Panel on LRC Reports' implementation that: "The Bureau considered the LRC Report on this topic, together with 4 others on Stalking; Privacy and media intrusion; Civil liability for invasion of privacy; and Regulation of covert surveillance. These 5 Reports touch on the sensitive and controversial policy and political issue of how to strike a balance between protection of individual privacy rights and freedom of the media. There were mixed responses and very divergent views from different sectors of the community. Given the complexity and sensitivity of the policy and political issues involved, the Bureau would consider the 5 Reports as and where appropriate and map out the way forward in consultation with relevant parties." The Bureau has advised that it has taken steps to deal with the LRC Report on Stalking. See item 45 below.
43	Conditional fees (July 2007)	The Report recommended, inter alia , the expansion of the Supplementary Legal Aid Scheme by raising the financial eligibility limits, and increasing the types of cases covered by the Scheme. The financial eligibility limits were

44	Insolvency - Part 2: Corporate rescue and insolvent trading (October 1996) Financial Services and the Treasury Bureau	The Bureau has advised that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>● Having reviewed the proposals put to the Legislative Council in 2000 and 2001 (which lapsed on both occasions), the Bureau conducted a public consultation in late 2009 on the conceptual framework and a number of specific issues relating to the corporate rescue procedure and insolvent trading provisions, and issued consultation conclusions in July 2010. Since then, the Bureau has reviewed some of the more contentious issues of the proposals and announced a package of legislative proposals for the introduction of a statutory corporate rescue procedure and insolvent trading provisions in 2014, and has been on that basis working on the legislative instructions.</li> <li>● The legislative proposals are lengthy and complex, and stakeholders have raised many different views. The Bureau will continue to engage stakeholders to refine the legislative instructions.</li> </ul>
45	Privacy – Part 3: Stalking (October 2000) Constitutional and Mainland Affairs Bureau	The Bureau has stated: “The Bureau decided to deal with the LRC Report on Stalking first and launched a public consultation on the recommendations from December 2011 to March 2012. 		constitutional rights including freedom of the media and freedom of expression, the Bureau commissioned the Centre for Comparative and Public Law of the University of Hong Kong (‘the Consultant’) to study the experience of overseas jurisdictions in implementing their anti-stalking legislation and reported the findings and the Consultant’s recommended formulation to the LegCo Panel on Constitutional Affairs (‘the CA Panel’) in December 2013. Some Members of the CA Panel continued to express strong reservations on the enactment of a piece of stalking legislation and counter-proposed that a ‘specified relations’ approach be further explored. The Bureau has since sought the views of stakeholders who had submitted written views in the 2011/12 consultation, including the Hong Kong Bar Association and the Law Society of Hong Kong. After considering the feedback obtained and input from the Department of Justice, it is clear that none of the various formulations (ie, LRC’s, the Consultant’s and the ‘specified relations’ approach) is supported by CA Panel Members, the major stakeholders or the public, as being able to achieve the objective of providing protection to all people alike against stalking while at the same time avoid inflicting interference to the freedoms of the press and expression. The above being the case, the Bureau is of the view that there are no favourable conditions to pursue the matter further and sought the views of the CA Panel accordingly on 16 June 2014. At that Panel meeting, some Members expressed support for not pursuing the LRC’s recommendations. Regarding the ‘specified relations’ approach, Members noted the in-principle difficulties with this approach and that since the LRC Report was published in 2000, individual pieces of legislation have indeed been amended or administrative measures taken to better control harassment in domestic, landlord-and-tenant, and money lender-borrower relationships, and no Member requested further pursuing such an approach.

46	Contracts for the supply of goods (February 2002) Commerce and Economic Development Bureau	The Commerce and Economic Development Bureau has advised that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>● It agrees that the implied undertakings for all types of contracts for the supply of goods should be standardized and that legislative amendments should be introduced to extend to contracts for the supply of goods the implied undertakings which currently apply in respect of contracts for the sale of goods.</li> <li>● The Bureau is committed to improving consumer protection legislation. After the enactment of legislation against pyramid schemes and unfair trade practices in 2012, the Bureau has completed a public consultation on a proposal to establish a statutory cooling-off period for beauty and fitness services consumer contracts in April 2019. Due to the drastic changes in social environment, economic situation and consumption sentiments following the social unrest in the second half of 2019 and the COVID-19 outbreak since early 2020, there is a need to revisit the scope and details of the relevant legislative proposals having regard to the prevailing circumstances, and to critically review the timing and way forward with the legislative proposals.</li> <li>● Meanwhile, the Bureau also notes that, following a 7-month public consultation exercise in 2020, the Department of Justice is planning to extend the application of the United Nations Convention on Contracts for the International Sale of Goods (“CISG”) to the HKSAR, and has consulted the LegCo Panel on Administration of Justice and Legal Services in March 2021 on the proposal.</li> <li>● In tandem, the Bureau notices that laws regarding contracts in the three jurisdictions (Australia, New Zealand and the UK) to which</li> </ul>

49	Guardianship and custody – Part 4: Child custody and access (March 2005) Labour and Welfare Bureau	A total of 72 recommendations were made on the arrangements in relation to child custody and access, including that Hong Kong should follow jurisdictions such as England and Wales and Australia in applying the parental responsibility model to family law. 	Report (month and year of publication) and Responsible Bureau	Implementing legislation or other relevant information, including response from the relevant bureau or department
		Government Bureaux/Departments, the Labour and Welfare Bureau has prepared the draft Children Proceedings (Parental Responsibility) Bill (the proposed legislation) to follow up the majority of the LRC recommendations. On 25 November 2015, the Bureau launched a four-month public consultation on the proposed legislation. The Bureau advised that “the recommendation to reduce the minimum age of marriage without parental consent from 21 to 18 (Recommendation 69) and the recommendation that a list of circumstances should be set out in the legislation to determine when it is appropriate to appoint a separate representative for a child in children proceedings (Recommendation 50) will be dealt with separately.” The public consultation ended on 25 March 2016. The Bureau reported the results of the consultation to LegCo Panel on Welfare Services (LegCo Panel) in May 2017. The results showed that the percentage of views in support of the implementation of the proposed legislation at this stage was about the same as that opposing it (i.e. 34.5% on each side), while another 20% of the views considered the proposed legislation worthy of support in principle, but requested additional resources and support measures as a prerequisite. Those in support of the proposed legislation considered that it was in line with some countries' practices and could protect the child's best interests. Those who opposed the proposed legislation considered that it could not help divorced parents in resolving conflicts, especially high-risk families with domestic violence background, but may cause more family problems and adversely affect the child's development. In particular, single-parent groups were concerned that the new requirement for obtaining the other party's consent or giving notification on major decisions would be used by the troublemaking party with malicious intent to obstruct and harass the other spouse, causing distress to the child. It may also result in long term hostility between divorced parents and more litigation. Besides,

		the Bureau also noted that two motions were unanimously passed by the LegCo Panel on 22 February 2016 and 8 May 2017 respectively, requesting the Government not to introduce the proposed legislation into the LegCo at this stage, pending the provision of more support measures for divorcing/divorced/separated families. Similar requests were also raised by deputations at the special meeting of the LegCo Panel held on 4 October 2017. Having regard to the views collected during the public consultation and the LegCo Panel's position, the Bureau proposed at the LegCo Panel meeting on 12 March 2018 not to introduce the proposed legislation into the LegCo at this stage. However, the Bureau proposed to, as a matter of priority, increase resources in 2018/2019 to strengthen measures to support divorcing/divorced/separated families, so as to promote the concept of continuing parental responsibility towards children even after divorce, and strengthen co-parenting counselling and parenting coordination service, as well as making the Pilot Project on Children Contact Service a regular service of the Social Welfare Department with service expansion. The Bureau will keep in view stakeholders' receptiveness to the legislative proposal, in particular whether the doubts of those who oppose the legislation could be relieved, and consider whether and if so, the appropriate timing to pursue the legislation.

In July 2010, the Hospital Authority (HA) issued the Guidance for HA Clinicians on Advance Directives in Adults which provides guidelines to HA frontline staff to deal with terminal care in an amicable manner under relevant circumstances. The Guidance was updated in July 2016. In January 2016, HA updated the HA

This facilitates the clinical staff to honour an advance directive refusing CPR of a non-hospitalised patient. As there appeared to be more receptiveness toward the information provided and more willingness among the patients and the community to discuss end-of-life care and the concept of advance directives, the Bureau reviewed the appropriateness of legislation in this regard and launched a public consultation on advance directives and related end-of-life care arrangements in September 2019. The Bureau published the consultation report in July 2020 and is working to introduce a bill on advance directives and related matters in the next legislative term.”

The Bill was introduced into LegCo on 4 July 2018. The Bills Committee completed its scrutiny of the Bill, and its report was considered by the House Committee on 5 June 2020. The Government gave notice to resume second reading on 8 July 2020 as well as notice of intention to move Committee Stage Amendments. Since then, the Department has temporarily withdrawn the two notices as further refinements to the legislative proposals are necessary. The Department has been reviewing the proposals in consultation with the Law Society of Hong Kong and the Hong Kong Bar Association, and aims for the enactment of the Bill within this legislative session.”

As part of that exercise, the EAA conducted research into the law and practices of residential property sales in various jurisdictions (including New South Wales in Australia, British Columbia in Canada, England and Wales in the United Kingdom, and Mainland China). The conclusion was that the recommended regulatory scheme would not be effective, as it would apply to estate agents only, not the</li> </ul>

Malpractices, insufficient information available to purchasers and projects where construction works were not completed were common at the time. Given the outcome of the EAA’s research on the effectiveness of the recommended regulatory scheme, instead of implementing the recommendations as set out in the LRC Report, the Bureau adopted an alternative approach, under which the EAA and the Consumer Council stepped up their public education efforts to raise the awareness of the public on the risks of purchasing uncompleted residential properties situated outside Hong Kong.”</li> </ul> The Bureau has further observed that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>● “The result of stepping up public education efforts has been very positive. Complaints about the sales of uncompleted residential properties situated outside Hong Kong have virtually diminished over the years. As such, the need for legislation to regulate the sales of non-local residential properties in Hong Kong does not seem imminent.</li> <li>● Furthermore, currently, licensed estate agents need to comply with the relevant guidelines issued by the EAA, including the requirements concerning due diligence and record keeping, in handling the sale of uncompleted properties situated outside Hong Kong. As licensed estate agents are regulated by the EAA, consumers who appoint licensed estate agents to purchase non-local properties enjoy better protection. The EAA has been advising the public the above information through various channels.</li> </ul>

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>● Regulating the sales of non-local residential properties conducted in Hong Kong involves complicated issues. In particular, given the advancement of information technology since the publication of the LRC Report, it is now very easy for vendors of residential properties situated outside Hong Kong to directly carry out their sales and promotional activities in Hong Kong through the internet. The question of legal jurisdiction is not an issue easy to resolve.</li> <li>● In light of the above, the Bureau is inclined not to pursue the specific recommendations of the 1997 LRC Report.</li> <li>● However, the Bureau will continue to monitor the situation. At present, the EAA and the Consumer Council provide regular feedback on complaints relating to the sale of non-local residential properties in Hong Kong to this Bureau. If in future, the Bureau sees a rise of complaints and the need to regulate the sales of non-local residential properties by legislation, it will look at the issue afresh and identify a suitable regulatory framework to suit the circumstances of the time. The Bureau remains open to any new ideas from LRC."</li> </ul>

When the then Trade and Industry Panel of the LegCo was consulted in 1999, strong objection to the recommendations was raised from trade representatives. After further review, the Security Bureau does not consider it appropriate to repeal excepted offences in the near future.</li> <li>● The excepted offences regime was introduced in 1970s to respond to concerns of serious and violent crimes, and public sentiments that offenders of those crimes should not be treated leniently. The presence of the excepted offences provides an effective deterrent to serious and violent crimes. The recommendations in the LRC report were made at a time when the law and order situation was relatively stable. The series of incidents of serious violence, unlawful activities and disturbances since June 2019 have severely damaged the law and order situation and completely reversed the crime trends to the worsening side in 2019 and 2020. The sentiments for strong deterrence in sentencing have never been stronger at the moment, so has the case for rebuilding the law abiding culture in Hong Kong.</li> <li>● The excepted offences listed in Schedule 3 of Cap 221 are amongst the most serious and violent ones in our criminal codes. The removal of all excepted offences will send a wrong message, albeit unintended, to the public that such offences are now less culpable and could be treated leniently. This is contrary to the Government's firm stance in upholding law and order."</li> </ul>

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>● The Bureau agrees with LRC's recommendation that the existing provisions on adverse possession should be retained under the current deeds registration system.</li> <li>● The LRC recommended that the law of adverse possession under the registered land system should be recast upon implementation of the Land Titles Ordinance ("LTO") (Cap 585) in future. As a matter of principle, the Bureau welcomes the suggestion to give certainty to private land ownership through appropriate means to complement the title registration regime. The Government will take this into account when it continues to work with stakeholders on an acceptable proposal for taking forward the LTO.</li> <li>● The LRC Report suggests that the land boundary problem in the New Territories should be best dealt with together and in the context with the implementation of the LTO. Currently, LandsD administers a voluntary submission arrangement for authorised land surveyors to submit land boundary information under the Code of Practice of the Land Survey Ordinance (Cap 473). The Bureau takes note of LRC's recommendation, and will keep in view the situation and the need for review.</li> <li>● There are also recommendations in the LRC Report for legislative amendments to the Limitation Ordinance (Cap 347) to clarify legal principles on adverse possession and overrule past judicial decisions. In general, the Government adopts a cautious approach on interfering with established legal principles and judicial decisions. At this stage, the Bureau does not see a pressing need to take forward the suggested legislative amendments. The Bureau will however continue to keep in view the legal developments and review such need when and where necessary.</li> </ul>
