Dear Secretary General,

The Fourth Report of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region of the People's Republic of China under the United Nations Convention on the Elimination of all Forms of Discrimination against Women

The Government of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region has recently issued The Fourth Report of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region of the People's Republic of China under the United Nations Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women (CEDAW), and has uploaded the full text of the Report, in Chinese and English, to the Labour and Welfare Bureau's dedicated website on CEDAW (www.lwb.gov.hk/CEDAW). The Report sets out the progress in the implementation of CEDAW in Hong Kong since the submission of the previous report to the United Nations in 2012 and responds to the concluding comments of the United Nations Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women after the hearing session on HKSAR's Third Report in 2014. The Panel on Constitutional Affairs of the Legislative Council will be consulted when the United Nations committee concerned has decided the hearing schedule for China's Ninth Report, including HKSAR's Fourth Report, sometime next year.

I should be grateful if you could disseminate the above information to Members of the Legislative Council. If you have any questions, please contact the undersigned at 2810 2246.
